MARCONI DEVELOPS PLAN TO SEND CHEAP MESSAGES

Minimum of Electrical Current Will Be Needed When New Waves Are Used.

Another great step in the development of wireless telegraphic transmission has been realized, says Senator Marconi, who has returned to London after a two months' experimental traverse in his yacht, according to a London dispatch. A system has been evolved by the Italian inventor whereby wireless messages are transmitted with a minimum of electrical power, and at very low cost.

"We have transmitted messages up to a distance of 2,250 miles, not only with a very much smaller amount of power and energy, but faster and more cheaply than with the ordinary system of long-distance wireless," said Senator Marconi.

"When the new system is adopted it will mean that a power station for long-distance work can be erected at much less cost than at present. I have telegraphed on this system from Cape Verde island, off the African coast, to London. To send messages clearly and more rapidly over those 2,500 miles took less power than a message from London to Paris by the ordinary methods."

Senator Marconi explained that these advantages were gained by the utilization of waves that have not before been used. Given the necessary mechanical element, he said, messages could be sent seven times faster than the present rate, and that the public and the newspapers ultimately would have the benefit of much cheaper commercial charges. His opinion is that wireless is only in its infancy, and that the future has in store greater miracles than have been revealed in the past.

Commenting on recent experiments conducted by American inventors looking to privacy in wireless telephonic conversation, Senator Marconi said he was afraid such an achievement was still far off. "I do not say that wireless telegraphy ever will be an absolutely private means of transmission, but I will say that in the future it will be possible to make it much more difficult for any one to get messages not intended for them."

AMERICAN EXPLORERS TO EXCAVATE BURIED CITIES

Carnegie Institute has developed plans for a series of expeditions to excavate the ruins of ancient Maya cities in the hope of revealing the secrets of that buried civilization, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Herald.

The institute has been sending yearly expeditions for the last decade or so, but the next expedition will start next January and will be the largest and most important archeological venture ever attempted on this continent.
Some of the best known scientists of America and Europe will head the various departments of the expedition and their discoveries may literally turn present conceptions of primitive history upside down.

Permission has been granted by the government concerned for the American scientists to investigate ruins of the Maya cities in the jungles of Mexico and Guatemala. Dr. Sylvanus G.
Morseley, associate of the Institute in Middle American archeology, who has been conducting explorations and studies in middle America for nine years, is now in Yucatan to begin preliminary work of clearing the brush from the group of structures which will form the first study.

No venture in recent years has excited so much interest in scientific circles as the institute's announcement that it intends to excavate the ruined cities of what is generally accepted to have been the first human race to inhabit this continent. Just what the explorers will find no man can predict, but officials of the institution predict that the story buried in the tropical jungles of Mexico promises to become one of the most intriguing chapters in primitive history and to place King "Tut" far in the background.

The Maya civilization, an aboriginal race, flourished on this continent centuries before the coming of Christ. It reached an amazingly high state of intellectual culture for that period and then disappeared with a completeness that has baffled science.

SONNY THOMPSON'S ENTERTAINERS

Clever Colored Syncopationists Featured With "Let's Go" Coming To the Gayety Saturday For One Week's Stay.

Next week's offering at the Gayety theatre should be of sufficient appeal to its patrons in this city to warrant a visit of the majority of them to that popular playhouse. Especially will its attractiveness appeal to the ladies who are in the habit of attending the daily matinees.

"Let's Go," the offering in question, is one of the really pretentious shows of the season. It carries an equipment of fifteen magnificent scenes and one of the most expensive wardrobes of exquisite costumes on the road. There is a host of truly pretty chorus girls, who not only display their many pretty costumes to the greatest advantage but who have been selected for their dancing and singing ability as well. Particularly true is this of the former, the members having been trained in a manner of dancing that rivals the famous Tiller Girls. In fact they are a ginnery, good-looking lot who are in keeping with the superb costumes and scenic investment of the big production.

As to principals, they are all of the most satisfactory type and handle the splendid material furnished them in the book of Allen Spencer Tenny in a finished manner that leaves nothing to be desired. Heading the list are Pat White and Manny King, two very clever comedians. Pat White, together with his trick dog, Jack, leaves never a dull moment while they are on the stage, while Mr. King not only is a very amusing comedian, but a splendid violinist as well. Kitty Madison is a lively dancing soubrette with plenty of pep. Burton Carr, last season with Jack Reid's show, has a pleasing tenor voice and looks well; Nan Palon, the prima donna, who comes direct from vaudeville, is the possessor of a marvelous voice and good looks; Flo Kane is a jazz singer of real merit; Joe Berrett, the character man, can also sing as well as act, while Helen Flynn, a classical dancer who is only eighteen years old, has just finished a season with Geo. White's famous "Scandals." Then to round off the bill at the Gayety theatre the producer of "Let's Go" offers Sonny Thompson's Entertainers, one of the greatest aggregations of colored singers, dancers and musicians ever seen on the stage. Sunday's matinee starts at 3:00 o'clock.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

We are glad to welcome eight members into the Church Sunday night.
There are more to follow. One came to us from the Christian Science fold.
The pastor will speak Sunday morning on the topic, "The Christian's Birthright—Are We Selling It?"
On Sunday evening he will begin a series on the Ten Commandments, the topic next Sunday being the preamble of that foundation of all civil laws—"God Spoke All These Words."

Trouble Enough.

A delegation had called on Jones to get him to serve on the house committee of the country club. "Gentlemen, I thank you for the honor from the bottom of my heart, but there is nothing doing. I already have a wife, a son-in-law and a second-hand car, and I think that is trouble enough for one man."

Belgium's Agricultural Laborers.

One of the surprising features of travel through Belgium is the multitude of small farms and also the intensive cultivation. Before the war, out of less than 5,000,000 acres of total area about 5,000,000 acres were tilled. Much of the ground is worked with the hoe and the spade, and no less than one-sixth of the people are classified as agricultural laborers.
