In the Presbyterian church, as in all the churches in the Federated Council of Churches, the period from January to Easter is given over to evangelistic work more than any other cause. In keeping with that spirit, the St. Paul Presbyterian church will emphasize the evangelistic phase of church work in all its activities, hoping to have one of our evangelists with us early in the spring.

"CHUCKLES" TRIUMPHANT RETURN
Will Duplicate the Furore It Created Last Season—Gayety all Next Week

Dancing girls, fast and frivolous comedy and a brilliant showing of elaborate gowns are the announced features of "Chuckles of 1923" at the popular Gayety theatre, week starting Saturday matinee and the usual daily matinee is relied upon to attract lady patrons in increased numbers. This is the show that played the Oxford Music Hall, London, all one summer and many of the essential players in this cast were in evidence during the London run.

Cliff Bragdon and "Coo Coo" Morrisey are the featured mirth-provokers playing a game of give and take to the best comedy result. Bragdon is one of the handiest men in burlesque—he sings, dances, plays a cornet, plunks stringed instruments and patters along with a smart line of individual comedy that keeps his associate busy in keeping the trail.

Elaine Beasley will indulge in a catchy song, dance with a native grace and charm and lead the London Oxford Girls in lilting melodies and ensemble dances that feature the attractive musical numbers. Pat Kearney, the Sterling Saxo Four and Emmet Baker are supporting principals delegated to assist in the various comedy scenes. Henri Permane is an English music hall artist who will offer a novel study in character comedy. Elwood Gray and Norma Barry will specialize in song and dance and will also carry essential roles in the burlesque incidents.

The Four Pashas, acrobats of whirlwind action and amazing skill, will offer a vaudeville interlude that will put a sensational "punch" into the proceedings. Miss Beasley, in a solo offering of classical songs, and Emmet Baker's saxophone playing are other specialties that are heralded as unusual in this style of entertainment. Sunday's matinee starts at 3:00.
