Then for an hour a score of spectators watched the men in 12 or 15 feet of water help each other on to the edge of the ice coat, only to see the ice give way under their weight. Rescuers from the shore worked feverishly cutting the ice to reach the men with boats, but saw them drown before one-quarter the distance had been covered.

Firemen Start Fires to Test Their Efficiency

New York.—Three members of the Nyack volunteer fire department—Fred Metlisky, Edgar Wanamaker and Frank Kirk—were indicted on a charge of arson in the second degree by the Rockland county jury at Nyack recently. County authorities say that within the last month they set fire to the Towst bathhouse, the Lydcker barn and the Gurney carpenter shop in Nyack, all of which were partly burned.

Metlisky pleaded guilty and said that he and other men had become bored by sitting around the firehouse without any action and had decided to fire the places to test the efficiency of their apparatus and personnel. Wanamaker and Kirk pleaded not guilty. Metlisky was remanded for sentence.

Optometrists Unable to Discover Perfect Eyes

Emporia, Kan.—"One hundred dollars for a pair of perfect eyes," read an offer made by the Kansas Association of Optometrists, which closed its convention in Emporia recently, and when the "spec" doctors opened a clinic at their headquarters many Emporians, proud of their eyesight, applied for examination. They were informed that no one had perfect eyesight and the prize would not be given. Eyes were like leaves, explained the optometrist in charge; no two were alike and none was perfect. The doctors still have their prize money and will keep it forever unless they change the rules of the contest.

Party Costs Man $5,700; Carried Cash Three Years

Baltimore, Md.—After carrying $5,700 in his pocket for three years William Dimling did some drinking and lost the entire sum, he told Magistrate Rettallata in Eastern police court. The money represented savings of 23 years.

"I met some friends," he said, "and we went to some saloons in South Baltimore and had a few drinks. I had the wallet with my money in it in my hip pocket. The pocket was shut with a safety pin. I took it out only once. I had it when I left and got on a street car. I can't remember any one following me, but when I got home my money was gone. I've only $19 left."

Calls Lowbrows Just as Smart as the Highbrows

Chicago.—Lowbrows are just as smart as highbrows. This is straight from Prof. H. R. Mayberry, of the psychology department of the University of Chicago, who announced conclusions reached after years of study during which he examined and measured 3,000 heads.

"The real index to intelligence from head measurements is the distance from the ear to the top of the head," Professor Mayberry said. "The greater the distance from the ears to the peak of the dome, the greater the intelligence of the person. Nothing was found to support the theory that you can judge intelligence by the height or width of the forehead."

Fire Burns on Sacrificial Rock.

What transpired is unknown, but tradition contends that a fire burned that night on a high rock where the sacrificial pit was situated. A heavy smoke fell and waivered around it, according to the stories of persons who disobeyed the king's order and watched the fire from afar. An old Hawaiian, questioned regarding this incident, said that nobody was known to have been missing in Honolulu after this evening, but that any drunken sailor might have disappeared easily in the darkness and that such a man never would be missed. In 1809 a chief who was captured as an enemy of Kamehameha the Great was known to have been burned at the stake on Puncbowli.

The crater rim measures 1,990 feet across from east to west and 1,700 feet across from north to south. The slope from the rim to the bottom of the crater is estimated at approximately 15 degrees. The floor of the bowl is about 200 feet below the rim.

Three Drown in Heroic Effort to Save Others

Amardillo, Tex.—Stories of heroic efforts of three men, who drowned in a lake 50 miles southwest of here recently, to save another were told by witnesses. The men, members of a hunting party, were able to remain above the icy water for an hour.

J. W. Mayburt, fifty-three, of Claude, Tex., walked out about five hundred yards on the ice-covered lake, then suddenly broke through. Glen Randall, twenty-six, Amardillo, went to his assistance, but the ice gave way under him. E. W. Hamaker, Santa Fe railroad switchman, also hurried out. He, too, broke through the ice.

HELEN HARRIS

She's a "Blues" singer. Maybe she's the reason next week's big musical show at the popular Gayety is called "Talk of the Town". It wouldn't surprise us a particle.

LINCOLN NEWS AND COMMENT

John L. Wright died at the State Hospital last Thursday at 11:45 a. m., after an illness of about two years. His death was a shock to his family and friends, however, it was expected.

The passing away of John L. Wright removes from our midst one of the best known pioneers of our group; one who had been employed in places where he came in contact with business men of all walks of life, and had gained a reputation from them, whose word was authority, therefore gained in prominence.

Wright had served as porter at the First National Bank for twenty-two years, up to the time he lost his health and was taken to the State hospital, where he lingered over a year, finally succumbing to the malady.

The deceased leaves to mourn his departure a mother, wife, brother, of Lincoln, and a son of Vicksburg, Miss.

The funeral was held in the A. M. E. Church last Saturday at 2:30 p. m. of which he had been an ardent worker until the last. Rev. M. C. Knight, pastor of the church preached a touching message, being assisted in the services by several fellow pastors. Resolutions of condolences from the church were read by the clerks. Resolution from the Grand Body, Sir Knights, was read by Dr. Nora Gray, D. G. Mentor from Omaha. Solo by Mrs. I. Zetta Malone. The Sir Knights had charge of the obsequies. The deceased was a member of the Masonic order in all its branches and of the K. of P., but these did not take a part in the services. The floral offering was fine, a large number of friends attended to pay last respects to the departed.

All Lincoln was shocked when the news was flashed over the city that Mr. Henry M. Williams had suddenly passed away while going through an operation at a local hospital on Friday morning. Mr. Williams had been ailing with afflictions of the stomach, and with hopes of bettering himself had decided to try a relief.

We feel in the death of Mr. Williams we have lost another pioneer citizen, who is well known among business men and especially those whom he has come in contact with in his trade as a photographer.

Mr. Williams came to Lincoln about thirty years ago, and has seen Lincoln grow from a small town to a large city, and at his death was 71 years old. Those who survive him are his wife, ladies are Mrs. Marguerite Williams, daughter of Mrs. P. S. Stovall of Omaha, who has been at the studio for six years, and Mrs. Sarah Walker. Both these young women started in this shop with practically no knowledge of the work, but by their zeal and effort have acquired this highly technical profession. To Mrs. Williams, it is pleasing to note, comes the distinction of being very expert in color photography—the art that enables a photograph to be finished in its natural coloring, greatly enhancing its beauty and charm.

We also wish to give credit to Miss Adams who is employed at the Townsend Studio who is capable of doing retouching and finishing.

ATHLETIC STADIUM IN EXTINCT CRATER

Island of Oahu Once Place of Human Sacrifice.

Honolulu.—Puncbowli, the large extinct crater of one of the volcanoes that formed the island of Oahu and which once was used as a hill of sacrifice by the Hawaiian people, will become one of the largest athletic stadiums in the world if the plans of Maj. William Hoopal, athletic officer of the Hawaiian national guard, are consummated.

The stadium would be almost in the center of the city and would have a seating capacity of 95,000 persons, as large as the present population of the city. Prison laborers have started clearing kawe and other brush from the sides of the crater and inside the bowl. Improvements also have been started to the one road leading to the top of the crater and efforts will be made to obtain municipal co-operation for the construction of another road.

Puncbowli Now Rifle Range.

Puncbowli, which towers 500 feet above sea level, forms a perfect amphitheater, and, in the opinion of Major Hoopal, could be transformed into a modern stadium at a small cost. It is now owned by the government and is used as a rifle range for the national guard of Hawaii. Its peak is the scene of the annual Easter sunrise service, which is held before a giant cross.

The last human sacrifice believed to have taken place on Puncbowli is shrouded in mystery, but tradition says that King Kamehameha IV, a heavy drinker, struck his only child during a drinking bout. The child received injuries which caused his death. Kamehameha planned an expiation of his crime. A decree was issued ordering all inhabitants of Honolulu to remain inside their houses that night.
