PRESSING PROBLEM BEFORE AMERICAN NEGRO IS BALLOT

found an effective method not only to punish the mob, the segregationist and the disfranchiser through economic boycott, but also a chance to gain for ourselves new political power in order to vote our people into freedom. But this means nothing unless it is used with far-reaching intelligence. We must learn to vote; we must study democracy and government; we must not be ashamed, any of us, to confess our ignorance of the machinery of the American government and of the methods of its political life. Let us learn what voting means and for whom to vote and how to vote ourselves into free, modern, industrial democracy.

THE WHATNOT COLUMN

(By Robert P. Edwards for The Associated Negro Press.)

Who Was Al-Bekri?

Al-Bekri, an eleventh century writer, whose description of Western Sudan was of such importance as to gain him the title of "Historian of Negro Land", was an Arabian of Ethiopian extraction. It was Al-Bekri who gave to the world the most comprehensive description of Ghana, a town situated on the banks of the Niger, which was a meeting place for commercial caravans from all parts of the world. Ghana was also a seat of learning and its schools were the most noted of the ancient era.

When Was the First Colored Y. M. C. A. Organized?

The first Y. M. C. A. for colored men was organized in Washington, D. C., in 1873; but like others of its kind was not of long duration, and it was not until 1876 that the work for colored men and boys was seriously considered. Dr. Stewart Robinson, a Presbyterian minister of Louisville, Ky., presented the claims for colored men's work so eloquently that Sir George Williams, founder of Y. M. C. A. work, contributed $100 to the appeal for funds. Later Dr. Henry Brown of Oberlin was appointed secretary of the international committee to organize associations for colored men.

What Compromise Grew Out of the Slavery Question Raised When California Was Admitted to Statehood?

In opposition to the demands of the pro-slavery radicals, the anti-slavery radicals insisted upon (1) that the Wilmot Proviso apply to all present and future territories; (2) abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia; (3) the prohibition of all interstate traffic in slaves. Henry Clay induced the two factions to compromise, and five measures were adopted (1) establishing territorial governments of Utah and New Mexico with no reference to slavery, (2) admitting California as a free state, and (3) compensating Texas for her New Mexico claim. The compromise was opposed by President Taylor, but upon his death, Millard Fillmore, the succeeding president, gave his signature to them all.

SPEAKER OPPOSES SEGREGATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

allowed to teach white children. This is the critical question in segregation: Whether the colored teacher shall have the right to teach all children of any given school district, like any other American teacher.

"On this question, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, without bitterness or hostility, yet believing in the American ideal, takes its stand for the colored teacher's right to teach in any public school regardless of the color of the pupils and that he be judged by the same standards of fitness as are demanded of white teachers."

Advertising Talk

A hen is not supposed to have
Much common sense or tact,
Yet every time she lays an egg
She cackles forth the fact.

A rooster hasn't got a lot
Of intellect to show,
But none the less most roosters have Enough good sense to crow.

The mule, the most despised of beasts,
Has a persistent way
Of letting folks know he's around
By his insistent bray.

The busy little bees they buzz,
Bulls bellow and cows moo,
The watch dogs bark, the ganders quack,
The doves and pigeons coo.

The peacock spreads his tail and squawks,
Pigs squeal and robins sing
And even serpents know enough
To hiss before they sting.

But man, the greatest masterpiece
That nature could devise,
Will often stop and hesitate
Before he'll advertise.

Merchants who are wise
And want our people's trade
Use THE MONITOR to advertise
And thus their fortune's made.
