ST. PAUL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Twenty-sixth and Seward Streets—Russel Taylor, Minister.

For the first time in the four years of his labor in this field the pastor was absent from his pulpit for an entire Sunday. He was glad of the rest as well as for the opportunity of visiting his aged parents at Lincoln, Neb., one of whom, his father, he found quite feeble. The pastor is formulating plans for strenuous work along all lines beginning September 1st. In this the text of Jesus, "He that is not with Me is against Me and he that gathereth not with Me scattereth abroad", will be applied. St. Paul's is going forward. Are you going to push forward or pull back? During the remaining Sundays in August the sermons will be prepared and delivered with this end in view. Sermon Sunday morning, "Redeeming the Time"; evening, "The Irresistible Value of Voluntary Sacrifice".

TID BITS

(By Leonard Massenburg for The Associated Negro Press) In Virginia about 1725 the masters with some exceptions favored instruction for slaves, and the missionaries embraced the opportunity to instruct them. But the introduction of the cotton-gin in 1793 and the rise of the slave power to supremacy from 1820 to 1860 condemned the bondman to ignorance and provoked general jealousy of Christian influence.

In 1520 a Spanish slaver visited South Carolina; in 1526 another Spaniard brought Negro slaves into Virginia; and forty years later Florida received the bane of two races. In 1619 a Dutch slave-trader imported a cargo of Negroes into the Old Dominion state, selling them at Jamestown. Next year the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth, and an irrepressible conflict of ideas began. It was not until about 1670 that Negro slavery gained firm footing in this country.

Though black freedmen and white advocates of abolition were never unknown in the south; though Negro slaves and Saxon defenders of slavery existed in the north, the south was chained to slavery, the north allied with freedom. From 1620 to 1865 the principles of two opposing civilizations wrestled for the possession of a virgin continent.

Emancipation occurred in remaining British colonies, in Portuguese and in Spanish America after slavery had existed there for centuries, but the United States required only eighty-four years of independence to rid itself of the inheritance of iniquity bequeathed by Europe.

In Florida a planter once supported a Moravian missionary detailed for labor among his slaves.

The gallantry of Sergeant William Carney in the Civil War lives in the song, dedicated to his memory, "The Old Flag Never Touched the Ground."

The lawn social given by the choir at Mt. Zion Baptist Church last Friday night was a fine success.

Early Sunday morning prayer and praise services were enjoyed by members of Mt. Zion Baptist Church. Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. had interesting lessons. The pastor preached at 11 o'clock. Services at all churches were conducted as usual by their pastors, and all enjoyed wonderful blessings.

Dedication of Mt. Zion-Baptist Church Rev. H. W. Botts and his congregation dedicated the auditorium of their church to the services of the Lord last Sunday afternoon by giving an appropriate program and at which all pastors and their congregations were invited to take part.

The choir which had charge of affairs rendered excellent music. Opening—"All Hail the Power", lead by the choir.

Invocation—Deacon Zack Johnson. 1) Address by Deacon E. E. Bennett of First Baptist Church, a true friend to our group and church. 2) Paper by Mrs. R. Adair. 3) Paper by Mrs. Ula Scott. 4) Paper by Mrs. Mayme Griffin. 5) Paper by Mr. G. B. Evans. 6) Solo by Mr. J. W. Bedell. 7) Invocation by Rev. C. R. Ross of the Newman Methodist Church. 8) Dedication sermon by Rev. M. C. Knight of Quinn Chapel A. M. E. Church.

Closing remarks by the pastor, Rev. H. W. Botts, who in a neat manner expressed his heartfelt thanks to the Almighty for his shower of blessings on our success, and to the pastors, their congregations and friends, and to the official board, and the church, for their arduous work, saying they have wrought well and may continue to strive and do their best.

The program which comprised sweet songs by the choir, subjects discussed in the addresses, in papers, and the sermon were filled with unlimited interest and will serve to give thought to every person who attended. The collection taken for the occasion was $40.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of St. Philip the Deacon held an interesting meeting last Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. H. R. Roberts. The meeting was scheduled for Miller Park, but Jupiter Pluvius interfered with the plan.

Advertising Talk A hen is not supposed to have Much common sense or tact, Yet every time she lays an egg She cracks forth the fact. A rooster hasn't got a lot Of intellect to show, But none the less most roosters have Enough good sense to crow. The mule, the most despised of beasts, Has a persistent way Of letting folks know he's around By his insistent bray. The busy little bees they buzz, Bulls bellow and cows moo, The watch dogs bark, the ganders quack, The doves and pigeons coo. The peacock spreads his tail and squawks, Pigs squeal and robins sing And even serpents know enough To hiss before they sting. But man, the greatest masterpiece That nature could devise, Will often stop and hesitate Before he'll advertise. Merchants who are wise And want our people's trade Use THE MONITOR to advertise And thus their fortune's made.

IT PAID HIM TO ADVERTISE

One of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success was Robinson Crusoe. He knew what he wanted—and he put up an advertisement for one. He flung a shirt on a pole, at the top of his island, that, in the language of the sea, was plain to every sea-faring man.

The circulation was small—there was no other medium but Crusoe kept at it, despite the fact that he got no inquiries for a long time. He changed his copy—as one garment after another was frayed out—and in the end got what he wanted.

Suppose Crusoe had taken down that signal after a time and declared—"Advertising doesn't pay," where would he and his story be now?

Put up your signal and keep it there. Crusoe advertised under very discouraging circumstances. You've got a sure thing—it is only necessary to have the patience, persistence, and pluck of Robinson Crusoe—and the good ship "Better Business" will soon tie up 'longside your pier.—Baltimore Afro-American.
