DR. PROCTOR LECTURES AT HILLSIDE CHURCH

Monday night, the Rev. H. H. Proctor delivered an instructive lecture on "The Black Man's Burden," at the Hillside Presbyterian church, the Rev. Charles H. Trusty, pastor, before an appreciative organization. He named as the three chief burdens, Ignorance, Poverty, and Crime. Despite the fact that we have reduced our illiteracy in an astounding degree, the fact remains 1,500,000 of our race cannot read or write. Despite the fact that our wealth runs up to three billions, there is still too much poverty. We spend too much. We must learn to save, pool our money and get into the business world. He denied that the Negro is a criminal race and pointed out that the race has never produced a great criminal, but that there is a good deal of petty crime, and the Negro criminal is a burden to the law-abiding and self-respecting. Dr. J. Wesley Jones introduced the speaker. The Rev. Russel Taylor and Mr. W. L. Myers contributed appreciated musical numbers to the program.
