Had Odd Accomplishment

Earl Russell has this anecdote in his book, "My Life and Reminiscences":
"My grandmother, Lady John Russell, was a great favorite with Queen Victoria throughout her life. Not alone, of course, because she had the peculiar and unusual capacity of wagging her ears like a dog. But this accomplishment intrigued the queen and she suddenly called on Lady John to show it off to an ambassador. My grandmother was so taken back that she lost for a long time the power to move either ear, and only ultimately regained her power to move one, which she occasionally did for my edification."

Presumptuous

A newly rich man once invited Beau Brummell, the famous top, to dinner, and asked him to name his own party. He accepted, and chose to the number of eleven, including himself.
"That," said his host, "will make just an even number."
"An even number?" queried the beau. "How is that?"
"Your friends, ten; yourself and myself—twelve in all."
"Good gad!" said Brummell, affecting surprise. "You surely don't mean you are going to be one of the party!"

Hottest Spot on Earth

The latest official records show that the hottest spot on earth is at Azizla in northern Africa. It is on a plain almost equivalent to a desert. The thermometer at Azizla has gone to 136.4 degrees in the shade. The average temperature during the whole year is more than 70. Previously the hottest known spot was at Greenland ranch on the edge of Death valley, Calif. The highest temperature recorded there was 134 degrees.

Radio Reception

The Loomis Radio school says: Generally speaking, signals will come in loudest from those stations which are located in the directions toward which one's lead-in points, instead of in the direction pointed to by the free end of the antenna.

Conscientious Borrower

One morning Mrs. R— answered a knock at her kitchen door. There stood Helen, three years old. Helen lived in the other half of the duplex.
"I want to borrow a match for mother; she said that she would bring it back when the grocer boy comes," announced the child.

In a few minutes Mrs. R— was summoned to the door again. There stood Helen, holding a burned match between her thumb and finger.
"Here is your match. Many thanks. Mother did not use it all. She was busy, so I thought I might as well bring it back to you."—Indianapolis News.

Persians Fond of Tea

Tea drinking is a universal social habit in Persia. One of the social institutions of great attraction is the tea-house, some of which are furnished quite elaborately, while others are rude in their surroundings. Business men often make appointments here, and it is very common for loafers to seek out these tea-houses. The common pipes, cigarettes and the kaleen, or water pipe, are much used. In the water pipe the smoke passes through the water and is drawn into the lungs. Lemon juice and other flavors are sometimes mixed with the water.

Ancient Stone Unveiled

The "Brus Stone," which dates from 1304, and was lost for 150 years, was recently installed permanently in the staircase of the town hall at Annan, Scotland. At the ceremonies the unveiling was by Sir Robert Bruce. The stone was originally part of the ancient "Castle of Brus" at Annan. After its disappearance for a century and a half it was found ten years ago in a North Devon garden.
