

VESPER SERVICES AT NORTH SIDE BRANCH

A large number attended the delightful vesper service and social hour at the North Side Branch Sunday afternoon. An excellent program was rendered under the direction of Mrs. Hiram Greenfield. An admirable address was given by Miss Delite Hallette, educational secretary of the Central Branch on "Enlarging Loyalties," which embraces understanding and fellowship in the spirit of Christ with all people of every race and nation. It was an inspiring and helpful address. Musical numbers were given by Mrs. C. B. Burton, Miss Mitchell, Mr. H. L. Preston and Mr. Joseph Thomas.

Jennings; Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Pratt.

THE DIFFERENCE

The difference between savings and insurance is simply this: If you put $25.00 in the bank at the first of the month, and die one month later, your widow, the next day, would receive exactly $25.07. If you put 60 cents in life insurance at the first of the month, and die one month later, your widow would receive $1,000.00.

SOUTH CAROLINIANS DISSATISFIED WITH FAILURE TO GET LYNCHERS

New York—A report by letter to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People from South Carolina, says that many white people throughout the state are intensely dissatisfied with the failure of the present governor, Richards, to take action against the still-unpunished murderers of three members of the Lowman family at Aiken.

The letter further reports that the Aiken lynching has had an unfavorable economic effect on the community and many people not in any way directly implicated in the lynching are beginning to feel the effects of it.

CHICAGO FACING RESIDENTIAL SEGREGATION

Chicago, Ill.—(ANP)—Negro realtors and other leading citizens are up in arms here at the attempt of the Hyde Park association, composed of white residents in that district, to prevent Negroes from occupying or purchasing property in the district south of 35th street, and east of Cottage Grove avenue, which is at the present time "lily-white."

The colored citizens were further incensed when it was announced that the Chicago Realty Board has placed its official sanction upon a contract which is designed to keep Negroes out of the Hyde park district. The terms of this contract develop a complicated system of "districts" headed by general chairmen and has provisions to the end that no Negro shall invade the Hyde park district except in the capacity of a domestic servant.

North Carolina claims the first Negro State College devoted exclusively to college education in the southern states. There is not the usual appendage of "Prep," "Industrial" or "Manual Training" departments. It began its 1927-28 session September 20th with an overflow attendance.

CARD OF THANKS

COLUMBUS BUSINESS MEN ORGANIZE

Columbus, Ohio — Negro business men formed an association here last week for intensive and extensive commercial expansion.

A steering committee of local civic leaders issued the call, to which a hundred business and professional men and women responded, attesting by voice and cash their enthusiastic approval of the idea.

The following carefully conceived program was adopted at the opening dinner.

1. To increase the patronage of our business institutions.
2. To maintain their efficiency and secure their permanency.
3. To develop and foster new and varied enterprises.
4. To open new avenues of employment and improve the general economic condition of our citizens.

The keynote was sounded by Rev. E. W. Moore, widely known speaker and publicist, and former pastor in Columbus, and his masterful address aroused his hearers to a very high pitch of enthusiasm.

Plans were proposed for an extensive campaign under the full time direction of a trained executive secretary, reaching churches, lodges and other organizations, creating greater opportunities and selling Columbus to the nation.

The Columbus Business association has every assurance of becoming a lasting and beneficial factor in the advancement of our group.

BROTHERHOOD'S ATTORNEY DISCUSSES I. C. C. CASE AT PORTERS' MASS MEETING

New York—An audience of Pullman porters and maids that filled St. Luke's hall, recently cheered to the echo the remarks of Hon. Henry T. Hunt, former member of the United States railroad board, ex-mayor of Cincinnati and attorney for the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters. The meeting was called by the union to permit the attorney to discuss with the men the case of the brotherhood now pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission, wherein the porters pray the commission for an investigation of the "tipping evil" as it affects the porters and the traveling public with a view to abolishing it as the method by which porters and maids are rewarded for their labors.

Attorney Hunt, after dealing with the legal phase of the question, then traced the history of the relations of the company with the Negro immediately after the Civil War when the Negro race in the United States began life as so-called freemen. "Snarling under the bitterness of defeat, the white people of the South and others assumed that Negroes ought to work longer hours, and for less pay than white men. This idea has spread to such an extent that it is accepted and even defended by those who pose as their friends. The management of the Pullman company seem to be of that school." Continuing, Mr. Hunt said, "The locomotive engineers and the other white railroad workers enjoy higher incomes and better working conditions, mainly because they have power, power to strike and tie up the transportation system and the nation, unless those who own that system are willing to listen to the demands of the workers and recognize their right to share in the profits that come to the owners as a result of the workers' efforts." This, said Mr. Hunt, is the lesson to be learned by the Pullman porters. "You must get together, stand together, and if necessary, strike together, for your rights." The audience greeted Mr. Hunt's reference to "strike" with sustained and thunderous applause.

A. Philip Randolph, general organizer of the brotherhood, followed Attorney Hunt with an address remarkable for its blending of oratory, militancy, vigor and clarity. "It was a fighting speech," was the remark heard everywhere in the vast audience as it struggled to shake the organizer's hand at the conclusion of the meeting. Randolph also won prolonged applause when he announced that the policy of the brotherhood toward the new wage conference under the so-called employe representation plan of the Pullman company would be one of vigorous and relentless opposition. "I hereby serve notice on every member of the brotherhood to refuse absolutely to vote for the company-chosen delegates to this so-called conference. The company must not again be permitted to inveigle you into signing another 'yellow dog' contract."

Others who addressed the porters were Roy Lancaster, secretary-treasurer, and S. E. Grain, field representative of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters. Frank R. Cross-waith presided.

According to the latest available statistics there are 71 Negro women doctors practicing medicine in the United States.
