What Causes the Hair to Turn Gray? By R. C. Price

There is an old adage to the effect that the glory of the young man is in his strength, and the beauty of the old man shines in his gray hair.

When the cause of gray hair is recognized and the reason for the loss of pigment is understood, the preventive will suggest itself.

Anxiety, fear, melancholy thoughts and chronic headaches or pain from neuralgia—any condition that produces a drain on the nervous energy, helps the hair toward grayness.

Fevers and wasting diseases—such as tuberculosis, anemia and malnutrition—are frequent causes for gray hair.

The tendency towards gray hair seems one of the easiest things to inherit. If your mother or father became gray early in life, it is more than likely you will do likewise.

Hardly a person but can recall one or more instances of friends or relatives to whom grief or sorrow has come—who became gray in an incredibly short time.

Dr. Lebar of Paris reports a case of a soldier aged 33, who having been blown into the air by a mine explosion, next day had locks of white hair on the left side of his head.

was complete from end to end, the long and short hairs being affected alike. There are any number of cases in medical literature proving that terror, for some unknown reason, wrings out the pigment of the hair, leaving grayness.

NEGRO BOOK CONCERN TO ENLARGE ITS SCOPE

Warren Book Company Effects Arrangements to Perform Wide Reaching Service

The Warren Book company of Staten Island, New York, has recently made public plans of long standing as a result of which it will greatly widen its scope and will take the entire country as its field rather than doing a purely local business.

The idea of expansion was gotten from the suggestions of a number of friends who thought that a book company headed by a Negro and selling to the colored people of the country, books of colored authors, would perform a great service to the colored race.

A genuine feeling of race pride is sweeping the country among our group, and the Negro is no longer ashamed of being a Negro, for he had nothing to do with it. On the other hand he can well feel proud of what others of the race have accomplished and is trying to make his own name for something.

A good way to show greater pride in the race is to read literature of the race, so that the fame of the authors will spread and in turn help develop the right kind of race consciousness in other members of the group.

CHICAGO URBAN LEAGUE PLANS DRIVE FOR $25,000

Chicago, Ill.—The Chicago Urban league is planning a drive to raise a $25,000 three-year sustaining fund, it was announced Monday. The money will go to put over an expansion program. Poor health conditions, urgent need for improvement
