JESSIE ANDREWS ZACKERY RECITAL A MARKED SUCCESS

Jessie Andrews Zackery of New York, coloratura soprano, received an ovation and delighted the overflow audience that packed the Zion Baptist church Monday night. Many were turned away when standing room was at a premium. Many were forced to hear her from the steps on the outside and were pleased to catch the strains of her remarkable voice as it penetrated the air as if by radio. As early as 6:30 p. m. the throngs began to pour into the auditorium which by 8 o'clock was crowded with an appreciative audience.

Jessie Andrews Zackery, a pupil of Oscar Saenger, has won for herself in America a place in the front rank without regard to race as a most gifted singer. Her voice is of an extraordinary quality and range. She sings with exquisite musical intelligence and is intensely charming. Mme. Zackery has a pleasing personality and possesses unusual poise, grace and dignity. Her winsome smile thrilled the audience and she held the vast audience of approximately two thousand spellbound with the rendition of her program of romantics, classics and Negro spirituals.

Mme. Zackery opened her program with a group "Nina" by Pergolesi, "Nymphs and Shepherds" by Purcell, and "Care Selve" by Handel. Her rendition throughout was flawless. She proved a super master of musical art in her interpretation of "Caro Nome" by Verdi. The grand opera group, "Du bist die Ruh," Schubert; "Zueignung at the Ball," Tchaikovsky; "A Dream," Grieg, showed fineness of expression and highest merit of voice. "Depuis le jour Charpentier," brought the rich tones of her high coloratura voice that took the audience by storm.

Her next group opened with that pleasing number "Blackbirds' Song" by Cyril Scott and three other songs in this group carried her hearers to realms unknown in voice. Mme. Zackery's last group, four Negro spirituals, "Were You There," arranged by Burleigh; "Hold On," Hall Johnson; "City Called Heaven," Hall Johnson; and "Everytime I Feel the Spirit," Lawrence Brown, did so electrify the vast audience that she was compelled to give three curtain calls with her accomplished accompanist, Andras Lindsay of New York, who is an artist with piano and pipe organ.

Miss Lindsay played Etude in C Minor with marvelous technique. So overwhelming was the audience in its approval and deep enjoyment and appreciation of one of the grandest programs rendered in Omaha for many years that many requests have been made to the management to present the young artist in a return engagement at the auditorium.

Mme. Zackery made this her introductory western tour. She hopes to return to Europe this fall for another year's study and on her return to the states will make a general tour. She is a real artist possessing simplicity that enhances her to all who see or meet her. The public of Omaha, Council Bluffs and vicinity demonstrated a sense of co-operation that is greatly appreciated by the management who sponsored Mme. Zackery for the benefit of St. John A. M. E. and Zion Baptist churches.

The regular monthly vesper service of the North Side Branch, Y. W. C. A., will be held March 25th, at the branch, sponsored by the religious and general education committee. We have a rich spiritual treat for all who attend. The program is to be as follows:

Devotions, Mrs. J. D. Lewis; Vocal solo, "Carmena" (by request), Mrs. Estella Robertson; Address, Mrs. Maud Garner; Group of sacred songs, Mr. Thomas Dooley.
