Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The doors of the North Side Y. W. C. A. stand ajar for all. We extend an invitation to all clubs and organizations to use our building during the hot summer months, where everything is convenient, where it is cool all day, and where it is homelike. After entertaining once at the branch you will always entertain there.

The girls' clubs are still in session this summer with the object of getting as much accomplished as possible before fall. Send your girl and let her join.

We regret very much the sudden illness of Mrs. Craig Morris, our Girl Reserve chairman, and pray that she will rally and come back to us, the same cheerful leader.

Where Alligator Lies in Wait for Its Prey

The rivers and estuaries of northern Australia spread out over the country in great mudflats intersected by shallow creeks, while everywhere as a waterside growth one finds the eternal mangrove.

Along the banks of these creeks and across the mud-flats lie the blackfellow's pads or paths, worn and kept bare by the constant passing of feet; and in some reedy bed or muddy pool beside these paths the cunning "alligator" will lie waiting for its prey.

It will remain thus, quite motionless, for days, but let some unwary creature happen along—a woman, a dog, a kangaroo—and instantly it is on the alert. With exquisite judgment the foul brute will await the exact second for action; then a great armored tail lashes up out of the mud, with one tremendous sweep, knocking the hapless victim into the water.

Quicker than a terrier worrying a rat the terrible jaws follow up the blow, and before the luckless prey quite realizes what has happened the great teeth crush through flesh and bone and all is over.

Many white men have been caught that way, and no experienced bushman will walk alongside or camp close to a creek or waterhole, no matter how enticing the place may seem. At night the hungry brutes are apt to leave the water, and it would be a terrible awakening to feel the grip of those savage jaws as they closed on one's body and dragged one off to a hideous death.—Exchange.

Widow of Italy's War Hero Given Million Lire

Naples.—The widow of Marshal Diaz, who led the Italian troops to victory in the World war, is to have a million lire from the country in addition to a special pension and whatever other pensions he enjoyed at the time of his death last winter.

His will, written on his deathbed, was pathetic in its simplicity. "I have nothing to leave my wife and children but the house in Naples, which the citizens gave me; my swords, my war decorations, and a few shares in an industrial concern."

The shares proved to be of little value and the war hero's widow and three children found themselves in straits when the magnificent state funeral was over and the household bills began to come in.

His widow's pension will now be equal to $5,000 a year, but the million lire, about $50,000, will be given her at once.

Diaz, who was created Duca della Vittoria, left two pretty young daughters and one son, who is now working in a bank in Rome.

Planetary Lore

Including the earth, there are eight major planets revolving around the sun. They are—Mercury, Venus, the earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune. Mercury and Venus revolve around the sun within the orbit of the earth; namely, they are closer to the sun than the earth is. In addition to these, there are several hundred minor planets which cannot be seen by the naked eye. The moon is not called a planet. It is a satellite. Some of the other planets also have satellites.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Come in and look us over. We are always glad to see you, whether you have business or not.

Even the tokens smile at you!

Our street car tokens, resembling a smiling face, indicate our attitude toward our patrons.

We are making an honest effort to give excellent service to the public and to give that service with a smile.

We sell transportation. And we are thankful for every ride we sell, just as any other business institution is thankful every time it makes a sale.

In our efforts to give good service and to give it with a smile, we are merely complying with what we believe should be the first rule of every business which comes in contact with the public.

Complimentary letters, telephone messages and personal comments made to our officials and conductors indicate that our patrons appreciate our efforts.

We are performing a service which everyone knows is necessary to the life and progress of a city. It is, however, a privilege for us to perform this service. We want the people to know that we are grateful for the privilege. We want the character of our service to be such that our patrons will continue to give us the right to do business with them.
