A QUIBBLE THAT WON'T PASS.
Judge Graves has not been accused of riding on passes as district judge. Moreover he has stated that he has not done so.—World-Herald.

This is decidedly tame as compared with the effluent eulogy pronounced by the World-Herald a week or so ago proclaiming the democratic candidate for congress in the Third District to be a "judge whose principles lead him to refuse the railroad pass."

It now develops that while conscientious scruples have prevented the great judge from traveling around his district on passes to hold court at the different county seats, they have not prevented him from asking for and accepting passes for his family while holding official position. In a letter published in the Newman Grove Reporter Judge Graves, himself, confesses to one case where he asked for passes over the Minneapolis & Omaha road in the fall of 1901 for his wife and her mother from Pender to Minneapolis and return.

Under the new citizenship law, which went into effect September 27th, it will be more difficult for foreigners to become citizens of this commonwealth. Under the old law a declaration of intention to become a citizen could be followed by the full citizenship papers in two years, and the applicant did not have to know or be able to read the English language in order to get such papers.

There is a new deal in affairs in Nebraska and the people are fighting for lower railroad rates. So many things are happening of real interest to every citizen that a daily newspaper is now a necessity. The biggest bargain that has come to our notice is 'The Daily State Journal' without Sunday from now until January 1, 1907, for only 50 cents.

There is now evident that Judge Graves should have taken second thought before making the sweeping assertion that he never accepted a pass of any kind from the railroad companies. The convention that nominated him made his pass record a personal plank, and now, it is knocked out from under him. The two main planks of his platform are gone. He himself, knocked out his pass plank and Bryan knocked out the government ownership of railroad plank.

After a sensational fight of three months against the authority of Governor Mickey, J. A. Alden, superintendent of the Norfolk insane hospital, retired on Monday from the management of that institution. He was accused of allowing unspeakable cruelties. He gave up the fight and Dr. Geo. A. Young, assistant at the Lincoln hospital, has been appointed to succeed him.
