Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a w years of married life often make in appearance and disposition of many nen. The freshness, the charm, the rilliance vanish like the bloom from a wach which is rudely handled. The atron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming malden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and otherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the check of its freshness and the form of its

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womany organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and that once witness to the fact in remewed comelines. Nearly million women have found health and ss in the use of Dr. Pierce's Faite Prescription. It makes weak wom en strong and sick women well. Ingredi-ents on label-contains no alcohol or harmful habit - forming drugs. Made wholly of those native, American, mediceyes,

wholly of those native, American, medic-inal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the sev-eral schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar aliments. Tor mursing mothers, or for those broken-down in health by too frequent bearing of children, also for the expectant mothers, to prepare the system for the coming of baby and making its advent easy and almost painless, there is no medicine quite so good as "Favorite Prescription." It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine nicely adapted to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treat-ment of woman's peculiar aliments. Tr. Pierce may be consulted by letter free of charge. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

stimony of tens of thousands during the Year by year the agricultural returns creased in volume and in value, and still

Some of the Advantages nomenal increase in railway mileage-and branches—has put almost every the country within easy reach of chools, markets, cheap fuel and every is called-Meddlechip."

The NINETY MILLION BUSHEL WHEAT CROP of this year means $60,000,000 to the farmers of Western Canada, apart from the secults of other grains and cattle. For advice and information address the Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or the authorized Canadian Government Agent, W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or E. T. Holmes, 315 Jackson to St. St. Paul, Minn, and J. M. MacLachlan, Bor ref, Watertown, So. Dakota. Authorized Government Memory and Scotts.

my where you our this of Obeyed Instructions.

Man of the House-Verana, I told you to call me at 7 sharp this morning. Domestic-I called ye as shairp as I could, sorr, but I couldn't wake ye.

Garfield Tea, which is guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drugs Act, is the best remedy for constipation, sick-head-ache and indigestion. It purifies the blood and cleanses the system.

MAKING ARTIFICIAL ICE CREAM.

ued, looking inquiringly at the seren CHAPTER XXI.-(Continued.) "One night," pursued Gaston, in a low, sky, "where are the thunderbolts of heav encentrated voice, grasping Meddlechip's en that they fall not on such?" Mr. Wopples told Kitty he would take wrist firmly, and looking at him with fiery "Braulard prepared a poison, a nar- her home to the family, and as they were rotic which was quick in its action, fatal just starting out on tour again, she could In its results. He goes to the house of come with them. Adele Blondet at half past twelve o'clock "But will Mrs. Wopples receive me?

asked Kitty, timidly. -the hour now," he said, rapidly swinging round and pointing to the clock on "My dear," said the actor, gravely, "m; mantelpiece, which had just struck wife is a good woman, and a mother herself, so she can feel for a poor child like the half hour ; "he found them at supper," releasing Meddlechip's wrist and crossing you. In future I will be your father; to the sofa; "he sat opposite Kestrike, Mrs. Wopples, your mother, and you will as he does now," leaning forward and have ten brothers and sisters-all star art glaring at Meddlechip, who shrank back ists." "How kind you are," sobbed Kitty in his chair. "Adele, at the head of the table, laughs and smiles; she looks at her clinging trustfully to him as they wen old lover and sees murder in his face; along.

she is ill and retires to another room "I only do unto others as I would b Kestrike follows her to see what is the done by," said Mr. Wopples, solemuly. matter. Braulard is left alone; he pro "That sentiment," continued the actor duces a bottle and pours its contents into taking off his hat, "was uttered by Ona cup of coffee, waiting for Adele. Keswho will always remain the sublimest type trike returns, saying Adele is ill; she wants a drink. He takes her the poisonof perfect manhood the world has eve ed cup of coffee ; she drinks it and falls" Kitty did not answer, and they walked -with a long breath-"asleep. Kestrike quickly along; and surely this one good returns to the room, asks Braulard to deed more than compensated for the rest leave the house. Braulard refuses. Kes- of the actor's failings. trike is afraid, and would leave himself ; Vandeloup next morning went to th

he rises from the table ; so does Braulard" City of Melbourne bank, and cashed Med--here Gaston rose and crossed to Meddledlechip's check for five hundred pounds. chip, who was also on his feet-"he goes then, calling a hansom, he drove along to Kestrike, seizes his wrist, thus-drags to the Hibernian bank, where he had an him to the next room, and there lies Adele account, and paid it in to his credit, re-Blondet-dead-killed by the poison of serving ten pounds for his immediate use. one lover given her by the other-and the Then he re-entered his hansom, and went murderers look at one another-thus." along to the office of a stock broker called Meddlechip wrenched his hand from Polglage,

Polgiaze was a short, stout man, scrupulously dressed, with iron gray hair standing straight up, and a habit of dropping out his words one at a time, so that the listener had to construct quite a little history between in order to arrive at their meaning, and the connection they had with one another. "Morning !" said Polglaze, letting th salutation fly out of his mouth rapidly, and then closing it again in case any other word might be waiting ready to pop out unbeknown to him.

uttered a stifled cry. "He then goes to China," went on Gas "I want you to buy me some Magpi Reef shares," said Vandeloup. "Many?" dropped out of Polglaze' ton, bending nearer to the shrinking figure, "and returns after twelve months mouth, and then it shut again with a

where he meets Octave Braulard-yes, the snap. two murderers meet in Melbourne! How came Braulard here? Was it chance? No. Was it design? No. Was it Fate? "Depends on the price," replied Vande loup, with a shrug; "I see in the papers they are four shillings." Mr. Polglaze took up his share book

He walked along Collins street, met with Archie and his plain speaking. Fi nally he left Vandeloup to go down to Madame Midas at St. Kilda, and bearing a message from the Frenchman that he would call there the next day.

indolently.

He hissed the words in Meddlechip's and rapidly turned over the leaves-found ear, and the wretched man shrank away what he wanted and nodded. from him again. "Oh !" said Vandeloup, making a rapid

"Braulard," pursued Vandeloup, in a calmer tone, "also left the house of Adele Blondet. She is found dead; one of her mental calculation, "then buy me two thousand five hundred. That will be about five hundred pounds' worth. Your lovers cannot be found ; the other, Braucommission, I presume, will be three lard, is accused of the crime; he defier pence?" the police to prove it; she has been pol-"Sixpence," interrupted the stock

Vandeloup's iron grip and falls back ghastly white in his chair, with a strangled cry, while the Frenchman stood over

"Kestrike," pursued Vandeloup, rapidly. "is little known in Paris-his name is an assumed one-he leaves France before the police can discover how he has poisoned Adele Blondet, crosses to Eng-

The man in the chair threw up his hands, as if to keep the other off, and

Yes.'

land and returns to Australia, where he ilm with eyes gleaming with hatred.

soned. Bah! there is no trace. Braulard will go free. Stop ! who is this man call- broker. dent sur, 1 am not a woman, and can keep Metrel.

Vandeloup walked out, and Politian looked after him with a puzzled look, then summed up his opinion in one word, sharp, incisive, and to the point. "Clever," said Polgiaze, and put the check in his safe.

"Bebe is out of my way," thought Van deloup with a smile; "I have a small for tune in my pocket, and," he continued, thoughtfully, "Madame Midas is in Melbourne. I think now," said M. Vande-loup, with another smile, "that I have conquered the blind goddess."

CHAPTER XXIII.

Madame Midas had experienced pov rty and the coldness of friends, so was completely disillusionized as to the disinterested motives of the people who now came flocking around her. She was very wealthy and determined to stop in Melsourne for a year, and then go home to Europe, so to this end she took a house at St. Kilda.

Vandeloup called on Madame Midns the day after she arrived, and Mrs. Villiers was delighted to see him. Having an object in view, of course Gaston made himself as charming as possible, and assisted Madame to arrange her house, told her about the people who called on her, and made cynical remarks about them, all of which amused Madame Midas mightily. She grew weary of the inane gabble and narrow understandings of people, and it was quite a relief for her to turn to Vanleloup, with a keep tongue and clever brains. Vandeloup had prospered in his little enture in the mining market, for the Magpie Reef shares ran up rapidly. A telegram was published from the manager stating a rich reef had been struck. Specimens of the vary richest kind were dis played in Melbourne, and the confiding public suddenly woke to the fact that a olden tide was flowing past their doors. They rushed the share market, and in two weeks the Magpie Reef-shares ran from four shillings to as many pounds. Vandeloup intended to sell at one pound, but when he saw the rapid rise and heard every one talking about this reef, he held his shares till they touched four pounds, then, quite satisfied with his profit, he sold out at once and pocketed nearly ten thousand pounds, so that he was provided for the rest of his life. Kitty meanwhile had become a great favorite with the Wopples family, and they made a wonderful pet of her. Of course, being in Rome, she did as the Romans did, and went on the stage as Miss Kathleen Wopples, being endowed with the family name for dramatic reasons. The family were now on tour among the small towns of Victoria, and seemed to be well known, as each member got a reception when he or she appeared on the stage.

(To be continued.)

LOTS OF WORK FOR THE LIVER.

Manufacturer, Scavenger, Filter, Life Preserver and Closed Door. The business of the liver is to manufacture antidotes for poisons, says Sanderson's Magazine. It is a rendering establishment to which the little corpses that accumulate in the body are carried to be destroyed, just as in the cities dead animals are gathered up by a scavenger and converted into useful things.

All the corpuscles of the body die every six weeks. Every second of our lives something like 18,000,000 of these red cells have to be disposed of and the

"He's perfectly wild over his new auto." "Huh! You should see him under it."-Milwaukee Sentinel.

minin

The young man spoke bitterly: "Do you take me for a fool?" "Oh. George," | she said, "this is so sudden."-Memphis Journal.

Mrs. Nurich.proudly-That clock on the stairs is more than two bundred of Britain which still lands disturbed years old. Mrs. Blueblood Cutting-Ah, of whom did you buy it?

First Millionaire-You were laid ap in your house all last week, weren't you? Second Millionaire-Yes. "Bickness or investigation committee?"-Life.

Brown-Do you think the Panama Climate induces laziness? Town-Does it? Why I took some bees down there once and they got so lazy they wouldn't sting.

Hodge-What's old Scribbles doing? He looks poverty-stricken. Podge-He is writing a series of articles on "How to Get Rich Without Capital."-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mrs. Trust Magnate (newly rich)want one of them octopus-shaped rooms for the library. Cynical Architect-So appropriate, dear madam .-Baltimore American.

Burr-Do you think the end of the world will ever come? Dock-1 thought it had this morning; my wife got her new hat home and there wasn't a thing wrong with it.

The Agent-If you have this machine, sir, you won't take anybody's dust. The Magnate-Then I don't want it. I'm out for everybody's dust.-Cleveland Leader.

Algernon-I-aw-have resolved to -aw-do something useful in the world, doncher know. Miss DeStyle-Indeed! Algernon-Yaws. I am-aw -learning to tie me own ties.-Chicago Dally News.

"What class of people do you think has been most benefited by the libraries you have founded?" "I'm not sure," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "But I kind of suspect it's the architects."-Washington Star.

Teacher-If coal is $5 per ton, how many tons could you get for $20. Disturbing Element-Three tons. Teacher -That's wrong. Disturbing Element -I know it is, but they will do it just the same .- Harvard Lampoon.

"I am a worthless thing!" exclaimed the rejected and dejected young man, despairingly. "Oh, no," replied the fair girl cheerfully. "Not worthless. Your skeleton alone would sell for twenty dollars."-Somerville Journel.

State in Harrison's Cabinet, tells the "That was an awful break Bimerly

REALTY BOOM IN OLD EGYPT.

Cairo Land Market Brisk Enough for Any Occidental Town. Egypt has a first-class real estate boom in full swing. It could not have been livelier in the days when Rameses the Great was builling the statuary market that posterity might never lack for. reproductions of his unlovely countenance. The riches which the conquering armies of the legendary Sesostris brought home from Asia could not have lubricated business in the Nile valley better than British irrigation works and the "pax Britannica"-that peace for ages. Look at Cairo, a city which was old for $180,000. In the fall of 1906 the owner refused $250,000 for the same property. That is a rise of 100 per cent in a single year, which is quite enough for the most enthusiastic boom town of the newest country where anyone will give a quarter of a million dollars for a house and lot. Land in the business district of Cairo which sold for about $4 a square foot a year ago is worth $15 now. Other property more desirable has risen form $8 a square foot to $25, which means $3,500 a foot fer frontage 140 feet deep. And the sphinx looks across the desert at this scene of speculation such as Seattle might boast of times of real estate excitement. The pyramids are in plain sight from Cairo house tops. It's all something like getting a fullfledged American boom in action on the banks of the Styx. One would be as likely to think of starring Buddha in vaudeville.

Egyptian friskiness is not confined of the Nile. Everywhere the shops factory and furnished it to the of the goldsmiths are crowded general drug trade. with customers who want ornaments made out of the coin they have received for their cotton and other crops. The whole country is riding a flood tide of prosperity. In the light of such conditions in the land of the Pharoahs it is not surprising that great things are predicted for Bagdad or that Peking shows signs of following Tokyo out of the sleepy modern civilization .-- Cleveland Leader. m INSISTED ON THE "WHACK."

past into the much-alive present of James Russell Lowell once related an incident of his residence as minister to Madrid, to illustrate the matter of diplomatic dress and gratuities. The Hon. John W. Foster, who was Secretary of made last night after he had proposed story as Mr. Lowell told it to him, in to the rich Miss Anteek and been ac- his recently published "The Practice of cepted." "What was it?" "Just after Diplomacy." On the occasion of a royshe had accepted him he asked if she al fete day Mr. Lowell repaired to the

The Evolution of Household Remedies.

> The modern patent medicine business is the natural outgrowth of the old-time household remedies.

In the early history of this country, EVERY FAMILY HAD ITS HOME-MADE MODICINES. Herb teas, bitters, laxative and tonics, were to be found in almost every house, compounded by the housewife, sometimes assisted by the apothecary or the family doctor. Such remedies as picra, which was aloes and quassia, dissolved in apple brandy. Some-times a hop tonic, made of whiskey, before London was founded. A year hops and bitter barks. A score or ago last October the house used as the more of popular, home-made remedies American agency was sold for $125,000. were thus compounded, the formulae The seller made $30,000 profit. The for which were passed along from next month the house was sold again house to house, sometimes written, sometimes verbally communicated. The patent medicine business is a natural outgrowth from this wholesome, old-time custom. In the beginning, some enterprising doctor, impressed by the usefulness of one of these home-made remedies, would take it up, improve it in many ways, manufacture it on a large scale, advertise it mainly through almanacs for the home, and thus it would become used over a large area. LAT-TERLY THE HOUSEHOLD REMEDY BUSINESS TOOK A MORE EXACT AND SCIENTIFIC FORM.

Peruna was originally one of these old-time remedies. It was used by the Mennonites, of Pennsylvania, before it was offered to the public for sale. Dr. Hartman, THE ORIGINAL COMPOUNDER OF PERUNA, is of Mennonite origin. First, he prescribed it for his neighbors and his to Cairo by any means. It extends up patients. The sale of it increased, and down and across the delta and at last he established a manu-

Peruna is useful in a great many climatic ailments, such as coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis and catarrhal diseases generally. THOUSANDS OF FAMILIES HAVE LEARNED THE USE OF PERUNA and its value in the treatment of these ailments. They have learned to trust and believe in Dr. Hartman's judgment, and to rely on his remedy.

Peruna.

greedily!

The Fox and the Grapes. Every schoolboy knows that the fable of the fox and the sour grapes is inaccurate from a natural history point of view, says a London newspaper. and, as usual, every schoolboy is wrong. An eminent Oxford professor on hearing the point discussed the oth er day actually brought some grapes and then went to the zoo, where he Life-Saving Service.

In perhaps no other country is the life-saving service as proficient as in the United States.

tried them on a fox, who ate then Cotionseed Oil Used Instead of the Ordinary Ingredients.

"When Prof. Stillman of Stevens institute gave a dinner to two friends, at which most of the vlands were made artificially by chemical means," writes Lawrence Perry in the Technica! World magazine, "he had small idea of the furore his efforts would produce. But he has received hundreds of letters asking how different dishes were proed-so many that he has not had time to answer many of them.

"The chemical processes which he employed were some of them simple and some quite complicated. To make vanilla ice cream by artificial means, for instance, the alchemist took some triple refined cottonseed oil and placed it in a centrifugal machine which revolved at a velocity of 3,000 revolutions a minute. A beautiful emulsion was thereby produced, which was then frozically, of course. The flavor was obtained by the addition of vanillin, glucin and nitrobenzol. They say that ice cream composed as above is sold in many Southern States where cottonseed oil is more plentiful and uently cheaper than milk or cream. It is far from harmful, tastes good and does not melt as quickly as the genuine ice."

Worse than an Insult.

"Did he offer you the insult of a bribe?" asked the new Alderman.

tch him offering anybody a bribe !" exclaimed the Alderman from the 'Steenth ward. "The dirty tightwad wanted me to do it for nothing !"

APPENDICITIS.

Not at All Necessary to Operate Many Cases.

poblies and Appendicitis scare ome people before they are hit.

Appendicitis is often caused by too much starch in the bowels. Starch is hard to digest and clogs up the digestive machinery-also tends to form cakes in the cecum. (That's the blind pouch at entrance to the appendix.)

A N. H. girl had appendicitis, but lived on milk for a while-then Grape-Nuts and got well without an opera-

She says: "Five years ago while at school I suffered terribly with constlpation and indigestion." (Too much starch white bread, potatoes, etc., which she did not digest.)

"Soon after 1 left school I had an attack of appendicitis and for thirteen weeks lived on milk and water. When I recovered enough to eat solid food there was nothing that would agree with me, until a friend recomm Grape-Nuts.

When I began to eat Grape-Nuts 1 weighed 98 lbs., but I soon grew to 115 Ibs. The distress after cating left me entirely and now I am like a new per-

(A little Grape-Nuts dissolved in hot ter or milk would have been much ter for this case than milk alone, for durchy part of the wheat and bar-Bey is changed into a form of digestpar in making Grape-Nuts.) fiven by Postum Co., Battle lich Read the little book, "The N'and to Wellville," in pkga "There's

"Oh, I thought it was threepe ed Prevol who appears? wered Vandeloup, quietly ; student of Braulard's, and knows the polthat does not make any difference to me on. Braulard is lost ! Prevel examines Your commission at that rate will be the body, proves that poison has been giv twelve pounds ten shillings?" -by whom? Braulard, and none other. Polglaze nodded, and sat looking at He is sentenced to death; but he is so Vandeloup like a stony mercantile sphinx. handsome that Paris urges pardon. No; "If you will, then, buy me these shares," said Vandeloup, rising and taking it is not according to the law. Still, spare his life? Yes. His life is spared. up his gloves and hat, "when am I to The galleys at Toulon? No. New Cale come along and see you?" Yes. He is sent there. But is "Four," said Polglaze. Braulard a coward? No. Does he rest as a convict? No. He makes friends with "Very well," said Vandeloup, quietly, another convict; they steal a boat, and fly "I'll give you a check for that amount the island; they drift, and drift, for days hen. There's nothing more to be said. and days; the sun rises, the sun sets-still believe?" and he walked over to the door they drift; their food is giving out, the "Say," from Polglaze. water in the barrel is low ! are they to die "Yes," replied Gaston, winging his stick to and fro. of thirst and famine? No. The sky is red-like blood-the sun is sinking; land "New?" inquired the stock broker. in the distance-they are saved !" fall-"You mean to this sort of thing?" said ing on his knees ; "they are saved." Vandeloup, looking at him, and receiving Meddlechip, who had recovered himself. a nod in token of acquiescence, added wiped his face with his handkerhcief, and 'entirely neered with his white lips at the theat "Risky," dropped from the Polglage rical way Gaston was beaving in nouth.

"I never knew a gold mine that wasn't," "You know a secret," said Meddlechip retorted Vandeloup, dryly. nervously, "which is dangerous to me; you want to sell it; well, I will be the "Bad," in an assertive tone, from Polbuyer-name your price." glaze. "Five hundred pounds," said Vande "This particular mine, I suppose you mean?" said Gaston, with a yawn, "very loup, quietly. "Is that all?" asked the other, with a likely it is. However, I am willing to start of surprise; "I was prepared for five take the risk. Good day! See you at thousand. lour," and with a careless nod M. Vandeloup lounged out of the office.

"I am not exorbitant in my demands," answered Vandeloup, smoothly; "and I have a scheme on hand by which I may few friends, and kept a lookout for Kitty. make a lot of money-five hundred pounds is sufficient to do what I want. If the scheme succeeds I will be rich enough to do without any more money from you."

CHAPTER XXII.

When Kitty left Mrs. Pulchop's residence she had no very definite idea as to rigid broadcloth. what she was going to do with herself. Her sole thought was to get as far away from her former life as possible-to disrin away?" appear in the crowd and never to be heard of again. Peor little soul, she never for loup, smoothly, ready with a lie at once. a moment dreamed that it was a case of "No, I'm sorry to say I've never set eyes out of the frying pan into the fire, and on her.' that the world at large might prove more "The mistress is just crazy about her, cruel to her than Vandeloup.

observed McIntosh, querulously ; She went into town and wandered about listlessly, not knowing where to go, till the poor wee thing ... " nearly 12 o'clock, and the streets were gradually emptying themselves of their devoutly hoped she wouldn't. crowds. She knew these was a cab start ing opposite the Town Hall which went to Richmond, and determined to go home. At the top of the block, a party of young men in evening dress came round the corner singing. These were none other than Barty and his friends, ripe for any mischief. Bellthorp and Barty were walking arm in arm.

"Hallo !" cried Bellthorp ; "girl-pret y-eb !"

Archie having departed, Vandeloup go Kifty tried to get away from this crew through the rest of the day as best he but they all closed round her, and she could. He met Mr. Wopples in the street wrung her hands in despair. who told him how he had found Kitty, "Gentlemen !" said a rich, rolling voice, quite unaware that the young man before which proceeded from a portly man who him was the husband who had deserted had just appeared on the scene, "I am as tonished." her. Vandeloup was delighted to think that Kitty had not mentioned his name and quite approved of Mr. Wopples' in "Oh !" cried Kitty, "it's Mr. Wopples." same," said the airy Theodore, The tention to take the girl on tour. Having aying his hand on his heart, "and you, thus arranged for Kitty's future, Gaston my dear-why, bless me," looking closely went along to his broker, and found th at her, "it is the pretty girl I met in astute Polgiage had got him his shares dear, dear. I will be your "Going up," said Polglaze, as he handfriend," said the actor, emphatically, taked the scrip te Vandeloup and got a check ing her arm and walking slowly down the | in exchange.

"Oh, indeed !" said Vandeloup, with a smile. "I suppose my two friends have begun their little game already," he thought, as he slipped the scrip into his Kitty told him how she had left Bal arat, but suppressed the name of her husand, as she did not want any blame to fall on him. But all the rest she teld breast pocket. freely, and how on that night she had "Information ?" asked Polglage, as left the man who had wedded and then deloup was goin practically deserted her. "Oh ! you'd like to know where I got it," said M. Vandeloup, amiably. "Very "Oh, vile human nature," said Wopples, a sonorous tone. "Where," he contincorry I can't tell you; but you see, my liver does part of the work of grinding "however, them up and working them over into something useful.

The red corpuseles have potash in them, which is used for making bile. The bile is a kind of lye for making soap in the small intestines. The soap. like all good home-made soaps, is disinfectant; it is a splendid antiseptic and germicide.

The coloring matter is carefully saved out of these red cells, and sent back into the body to be used for dyeing the hair, tinting the skin and painting the dark chambers of the eye where the photographing is done.

If the liver does not do this work as efficiently as it ought, these little corpses accumulate in the body. In other words, the body becomes a sepulcher and we carry about with us dead things that should have been discharged from the body through the bowels. the kidneys, the skin and the lungs, and should have returned to dust again. The liver is a closed door which keeps polsons out of the rest of the body. The kidneys, skin and lungs are open doors to let the polsons escape from the body. When there comes such a flood upon the liver it cannot keep the door shut it is forced open a little way and lets the polsons through into the blood.

He, however, did not see her, but there Then the blood is not purified, the was a surprise in store for him, for turnimpurities go through and the body being round into Swanston street he came comes filled with them. The brain beacross Archie McIntosh. Yes, there h comes confused, dull, stupid and the was, with his grim, severe Scotch face, man feels billouss the poisons get inta with the white frill round it, and Gastor the muscles and he feels weary and smiled as he saw the old man, dressed worn out; they get into the nerves and he has sciatica or lumbago; the nerve "Ah, laddie," said McIntosh, irritan! centers get irritable and inefficient and "Have ye seen anything o' the girl that there is nervous exhaustion and per-"Oh, Miss Marchurst !" said Vandehaps melancholia.

All the food taken into the stomach is filtered by the liver before it is absorbed. That is why one can, with apparent impunity, take such things as "and ten and coffee, whisky, beer, tobacco, she's looking all through the town to find etc. All these impurities are passed "I hope she will," said Vandeloup, who through the liver before they get into the general circulation. If they should Vandeloup took McIntosh to the club go straight to the brain the drinker and introduced him all round as the manwould die shortly after taking his glass ager of the famous Pactolus. All the of whisky. young men were wonderfully taken up

When the liver is plump and healthy, full of glycogen made from the blood. it has a wonderful faculty of destroying poisons; but a starved liver cannot do this. A dose of medicine taken on an empty stomach is much more powerful in its effects than a similar dose taken when the stomach furnishes the liver with material which it makes

The Hobo-Please, mister, will youse gimme er few pennios fer me use for a starving wife and in the third

Up and Down.

"I see that King Edward took friendly tip on Pacific rallway stocks and made some money."

"That's all right. But I hope the time won't come when Ed will have to hypothecate the crown in order to save his margins."-Cleveland Plain Bealer.

ave trading stamps."-Co Progress.

Surly Strong-Gin me a nickel. missus? Missus-I should think a big. strong man like you would be ashamed to ask for money. Surly Strong-I am, missus, but I ain't got der nerve to take it without askin.'-Philadelphia Record.

"Dubley bought a horse the other day -----." "Yes, and he was horribly stuck, wasn't he?" "Oh! you've seen the horse then?" "No, but he told me he was going to buy one from 'a friend who is in the business.' "-Philadelphia Press.

Bibliophile (aghast)-I beg your pardon, madam, but that book your little girl is playing with is an old and exceedingly rare first edition. Caller-Oh, that's all right, Mr. Vibbert. It will amuse her just as much as if it were nice and new .-- Chicago Tribune.

"Did your bull terrier get a blue ribbon at the show?" "Yes." ---1 should think you would hang it up in a prominent place." "No. You see, this was a hair ribbon he snatched from a little girl, and we had to pay her father not to make any trouble." -Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Anything peculiar about these people that have just moved into the house next door to you, Mrs. Crossway?" "No; there's nothing unusual about them. They've borrowed a stepladder and a tack-hammer, and turned their children loose in our back yard."-Chicago Tribune.

Some Odd Wills.

One of the oddest documents of the will kind known was that of Queen

Austrigilda, consort of King Goutram of Burgundy. The dying princess enjoined upon her husband to slay and bury in the same grave with her the physicians who had attended her. Another will was that of a husband who forbade his wife's marrying on pain of his returning to haunt her. This is quite different from that of a woman who instructed her executors to seek out "some nice, good, pretty girl" who would make an affectionate second wife to her spouse. It is a fact interesting in this connection that the first Napoleon actually bequeathed 10,000 francs to a fellow named Cantillon,

Her Head Was Hot.

Lady Dorothy Nevill in her remi niscences tells this story of the two Misses Walpole, her cousins: "On one occasion, when both of the two were well over' ninety, Miss Fanny, the younger, who had that day been rather ill, only joined her sister in the sitting room just before dinner. On her arfrom $65 to $70. The extremes are rival downstairs the latter (Miss Charvery great. Thus, the women clerks receive on an average from 450 rubles to lotte by name) remarked : 'Fanny, I am going to be ill, too. I feel so hot about the head. It must be apoplexy.' 'Nothing of the sort!' exclaimed Miss Fanny, making a dash at her sister's head. 'Your cap's on fire, and I'm going to put it out.' And so the brave old thing did."

Those who are invited to sing at a party, alway report having a good time instead of sending in his check.

palace, attired in plain evenir The sytem was first established in as was the custom of American minis 1871, and there are at present 277 ters at such ceremonies. The carriage life-saving stations supported by the of the minister from one of the repub government, 192 of which are on the lics of Central America preceded his. Atlantic coast, 68 on the Great Lakes, Owing to the poverty of its treasury, that republic had accepted the services as its representive of a retired Spanish merchant, who performed gratultously the light duties of his post because of its social privileges. On such occasions the royal stairway, famous throughout Europe for its architectural beauty, the pride of the Spaniards, was lined on each side at every step with the royal guards in gala uniform, and at each of several landings there was stationed a glant halberdier holding a huge medleval battle-ax.

As Mr. Lowell ascendde the stairway, the Central American minister, gorgeously appareled in a brilliantly goldembroidered uniform, with jeweled sword, was saluted by the magnificent halberdier with a heavy whack of the battle-ax on the marble pavement, which resounded through the arches. As Mr. Lowell passed the landings he received no attention, as he bore no insignia indicating his office. As from one landing to another he heard the echoes of the salutes to his colleague preceding him, his patriotic blood began to boil, and at the last landing he addressed the halberdier in good Span-

"Do you know who I am?" The soldier replied that he did not. "Well," said Mr. Lowell, "I am the minister plenipotentiary of the United States of America, the greatest nation on the earth, and if you don't whack the next time I pass you, I will for get you at Christmas."

Late Definitions.

ish:

"Be careful, here comes a grafter," said one as they saw him enter the cafe and glance around over the crowd as if in search of somebody he knew. "He's not a grafter," said another. "He's a piker."

"What's the difference?" asked the first. "A grafter is a man who borrows money," was the answer, "and never pays it back, but a piker is a rung lower on the ladder. He has given up all hope of getting more money, but he'll wait around till you buy him a drink, or he'll take your box of cigar-mpty half of them into his pocket." Women on Russian Railways.

The number of women employed on the Russian railways is increasing. According to the latest official returns there are now working on the 25 Rus sian state railways no fewer than 32,-000 women as gatekeepers, clerks, telegraphists, etc. The average wage varies from 130 to 135 rubles yearly of 400 rubles, or about $230, while the women attendants at stations are paid only 40 rubles, or about $19.50 a year, in addition to free lodging and a few extras.

We all have different ideas. A bill collector's idea of a perfect gentleman is one who waits for the bill collector, 16 on the Pacific coast, and one at the falls of the Ohio River near Louisville. There were only 305 disasters along the coasts during the year ending June 30, 1905, and out of 4,089 persons involved only twenty-seven were lost. Course (1)

Where He Excelled. Church-What degree did your son get at college? Gotham-S. S.

"Never heard of such a degree." "Oh, yes you have. Short stop."-Yonkers Statesman.

DON'T GRUMBLE AT TRIFLES.

Twenty-five Bushels Wheat and Forty-five Bushels Oats Per Acre Are in Western Canada.

Saltcoats, Sask., Dec. 8, 1906. To the Editor-Dear Sir:

I willingly give you the result of my four and a half years' experience in the District of Saltcoats.

Previous to coming here I farmed in Baldwin, St. Croix County, Wis., and as I have heard a great deal about the Canadian Northwest, I decided to take a trip there and see the country for myself. I was so impressed with the richness of the soil that I bought half a section of land about five miles from the town of Saltcoats. I moved on to the land the following June, and that year I broke 90 acres, which I cropped in 1904, and had 39 bushels wheat ettes when you are not looking and per acre. In 1905, with an acreage of 160 acres, I had 24 bushels wheat and 35 bushels of oats per acre. In 1906, with 175 acres under crop, I had 25 bushels wheat and 45 bushels of oats per acre.

From the above mentioned yields you can readily understand that I am very well pleased with the Canadian West. Of course, I have had to work hard, but I don't mind that when I get such a good return for my labor.

To any one thinking about coming to this country I can truthfully say that if they are prepared to work and not grumble at trifles, they are bound to get on. Some things I would like different, but take the country all round. I don't know where to go to get a bet-

Yours truly,

(Signed) O. B. OLSON. Write to any Canadian government agent for literature and full particuwho had been tried for attempting the assassination of the Duke of Wellinguse of to fight poisons.

Nothin' Doin'. starvin' wife?

Old Bachelor-Not me. In the first place I haven't got any penales; in the second place I have no earthly place I don't want a wife anyway.