American Peace Proposal.

The American delegation at The Hague conference, headed by Gen. Horace Porter, has presented the proposition that the bombardment of unfortified and undefended towns or buildings be forbidden, but that such places are liable to damages incidental to the destruction of military or naval establishments, and are liable to bombardment when they refuse reasonable requisitions for provisions and supplies. It is also proposed that the bombardment of unfortified towns for the non-payment of ransom be forbidden. The Germans propose that hospital ships cannot be captured, not being considered as warships, and that private hospital ships may enjoy the same privilege as those authorized by governments, providing that they assist the wounded without distinction of nationality. The British propose an international court of appeals in regard to prizes captured at sea. France proposes that the powers may a moint an international commission of inquiry in case of disputes of an international character, the investigation to be conducted secretly, and the reports to be made public only if both sides agree; the decision, however, not to be mandatory.
