Pursuant to the call of the National Committee issued December 7, 1907, the Republican Electors of the State of Nebraska are hereby called to meet in convention in the City of Omaha on Thursday, March 12, 1908, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of selecting four delegates at large and four alternates to the Republican National Convention to be held in the City of Chicago, June 16, 1908, for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice President of the United States.

Items of Interest from our Exchanges

Pender Republic: Craig Spencer was shaving hands with old friends Monday.

Lyon's Mirror: Miss Nana Neiswander of Dakota City visited the McDowell's here this week.

Newcastle Times: Mrs. Al Russell returned Friday evening from a visit at Jackson. Mr. and Mrs. Barney O'Connell, of Vista, attended the funeral Tuesday.

Sergeant Bluff Items in Sloan Iowa, Star: Dr. Gibson Bates is slowly improving from his recent illness. Mr. and Mrs. Will Bates expect to leave soon for their home in Cimarron, Kansas.

Wakefield Republican: Henry F. Kohlmeier, of Dakota City, has been made local agent for the Edwards & Bradford Lumber Co. at Wakefield in place of Sievert Hanson who has resigned. Mr. Hanson has made many friends during his residence here by his gentlemanly and businesslike ways and his many friends will miss him.

Ponder Times: George Leib, Jr., ran a fast heat last week. He became absolute owner of his 80 acres of choice farm land just east of Pender, and desiring to celebrate the event went to Sioux City. There he met D. M. Allen, the implement man, and purchased a $2700 separator and engine—at least that's what he agreed to pay for it. He gave a mortgage on his farm and on the threshing outfit. He returned to Pender and gave a contract to Wimmer & Co. to sell the land. This was placed on record just after the mortgage. Then he sold the place outright to J. B. Walden and John Severson. The latter has since deeded the place to James Q. Keefe of Jackson. The threshing outfit is on a flat car on the side track at Pender, but George don't want to accept it. The railroad company will get good rental for the car.

Emerson Enterprise: Fred S. Berry will leave this evening for St. Louis on law business. Mrs. A. R. Davis left Monday for Cedar Falls, Ia. in response to a telegram stating that her mother was dying. Mr. and Mrs. M. McIntaffer arrived home from their Indiana visit Friday. Mrs. Florence Throssell, sister of Mrs. McIntaffer returned with them and is visiting in Emerson. Fred Koch has sold his farm 6 miles northeast of Emerson to Carl Yager. Price $65 per acre. Mr. Koch has bought a ten acre fruit farm near Omaha for $6200 and expects to raise fruit and chickens and take life easy. Fred Blume has moved back to his farm. He served four years as county treasurer of Dakota county, all the law allows and made a fine record. His old friends and neighbors all welcome him back. He now holds the office of county commissioner which is almost as important as county treasurer.

Sioux City Journal, 19th: Alleging abuse and non-support Mrs. N. B. O'Brien was granted a divorce from E. A. O'Brien yesterday in the district court, and also was awarded the custody of their two minor children. This is the case wherein an answer was filed by the defendant's attorney in which he pictured the sight of a wife at the wash tub as one for the gods and one which no artist could paint. Mrs. O'Brien alleges she had been compelled to take in washing in order to support herself and children. She testified that following the first six months of married life he abused her most of the time. Mrs. O'Brien said her husband was a helpless rhenmatoid now, and for the past year he had been in a hospital. A neighbor testified O'Brien spent all the money his wife earned by washing and ironing. It is stipulated in the decree that O'Brien is to have the privilege of seeing his children from time to time.

Walthill Times: Dr. Roan's mother was down from Homer to visit him over Sunday. E. J. and Dr. Nina Smith drove down from Homer last Friday evening. The doctor was called to attend her brother, Dr. W. R. Beam. Last Friday evening Dr. W. R. Beam was a victim of an accident that came near being very serious. The doctor was driving home after a call on a patient and, near the Smith place about a mile and a half from town, lost control of his team and was thrown from his buggy. In falling he struck his head on the frozen ground and was stunned and laid for some time by the road in this condition. Two men, passing by, secured the team and brought it to town and reported that the doctor had been killed. Dr. Hart and a party of men from town hurried out to the place of the accident and found the injured man, not dead but still unconscious, and brought him to town. The doctor did not fully recover consciousness until Saturday morning, but was not in any way seriously injured. He had been deprived of rest for several nights before the accident and it is thought his having remained unconscious so long was due more to physical exhaustion than to the severity of the accident.

Ponder Journal: At the regular meeting of the Eastern Star on Tuesday evening, January 28, Mrs. Evans of Dakota City will give some special instructions. Fritz Stading was born on the 15th day of January 1840 in Pommeren, Germany. He was married in 1865 to Johanna Lund. In the next year his country called him from his young wife to war where he risked his life for his Fatherland. After the war in 1868 he came to this country and settled first in Chicago where he lived till 1877. Then he moved to Nebraska. He lived 26 years in Dakota county, where he had many friends and relatives. The last four years his home was west of Ponder in the neighborhood of his son Charley Stading. He died on the first day of January 1908 at the age of 67 years, 11 months and 14 days. His widow and nine full grown children are his survivors. He was a good citizen of his adopted country, a good husband and father, a faithful member of the German Lutheran church. His sufferings in his last hour were awful but in all pains he never lost his hope in Jesus. May God comfort the widow who lost so sudden her best friend and husband. The funeral service was held on last Saturday afternoon in the Lutheran church where Rev. M. Koolen preached the sermon. The remains rest in the Ponder cemetery.

Mrs. Catharine McDonald passed away Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock after a lingering illness. Age 65 years. Mrs. McDonald was born in County Mayo, Ireland, coming to America when quite young she settled in the south, was educated in a Convent at Natchez, Miss. In 1857 she came with her brothers to Dakota county, was married in 1858 to D. F. McDonald at what is now called Old St. John's, moved to Bancroft, Iowa, remaining there two years, returned to Dakota county and settled on the farm south of Jackson where they lived for thirty years, until Mr. McDonald's death, when she and her children moved to town, where she has resided until her death. She is survived by three children, Alexander, of Armour, S. D., Dillon and Sarah, of this place, who were at her bedside continuously, doing all they could do to stay the hand of death, but of no avail, and she died after receiving all the sacraments of our holy church. The funeral was held from the Catholic church here Thursday at 10 o'clock. Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. McCarthy, assisted by Rev. Fr. Byrne, of Ponca, and Fr. English, of Hubbard. The remains were laid beside those of her husband in St. John's cemetery.

Just a few words in memory of one of Dakota County's noble pioneers, Gerald Dillon, who died January 17th, after an illness of less than a week, from pneumonia, and was buried from St. Patrick's church, Jackson, January 21st, with all the pomp and ceremony of his beloved church.

Gerald Dillon came to Dakota county in 1857, and since that date, his name and personality have been indelibly woven in the history of the county and town where he lived. For some time, he conducted a hotel in old St. John's, and later, established the town site of Franklyn, where Jackson now stands, and was its first postmaster. Later on, he was the leader in changing the name to Jackson.

No man in our county ever remembered more friends than he, for all who knew him, were his friends and well wishers. Nor could any man be taken that will be more missed, for having retired from all active pursuits, he spent his time visiting and could always be seen among his friends, on the streets and in the stores of Jackson, with a pleasant smile and cheerful word for all he met. Of an honest, innocent nature, he was one of the best educated men in Nebraska, having taught school here a number of years. A great reader, with very retentive memory, he was especially well read in ancient history and literature. In short, Gerald Dillon, was everybody's friend, beloved by all, ever ready for a joke or sport, with fitting retort close to his lips. No subscription paper for the public good, for the church or for Charity, but bore his name for generous sums, and in many private ways, he was a public benefactor, "letting his right hand know not what the left hand gave."

His funeral was largely attended, the schools and most of the stores being closed. Father McCarthy was assisted at the Mass, by Father's English, Byrne and McCarthy of Vista. Father Byrne delivered the funeral sermon, which was eloquent and touching, and paid a well deserved tribute to the many noble qualities of mind and heart of this truly good man. If a pure, honest, virtuous life, filled with good deeds, fits one for Heaven, Gerald Dillon must surely be happy with the God he always fervently worshipped and obeyed, and the church, the convent, the town and many of the people that have been benefited by his bounty, will forever keep fresh and fragrant, the memory of one of God's noblemen—Gerald Dillon.

Premature Obituaries. One of the traditions of the office of the New York Herald has to do with an editor who was a great upholder of the infallibility of his paper. It simply couldn't make a mistake.

A flustered citizen once burst into his office and bustled up to the editorial desk. "See here!" he demanded. "This obituary notice. It's all wrong!" "What's wrong about it?" asked the editor in calm confidence.

"Why, it's about me. I'm not dead!" "If the Herald says you're dead," sternly replied the editor, "you're dead. But," he added magnanimously, "if you don't like being dead we'll print your birth notice."

His attitude was rather different from that of another editor, who, on being shown by the man most interested that the death of the complainant was falsely reported, apologized profusely and offered to make it all right.

"We'll print a correction at once," he said.

"Well," said the man who wasn't dead, "perhaps it would be better to let it stand. I'll show it to my friends when they want to borrow money." — Woman's Home Companion for February.
