

This woman says that sick women should not fail to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she did.

Mrs. A. Gregory, of 2355 Lawrence St., Denver, Col., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was practically an invalid for six years, on account of female troubles. I underwent an operation by the doctor's advice, but in a few months I was worse than before. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it restored me to perfect health, such as I have not enjoyed in many years. Any woman suffering as I did with backache, bearing-down pains and periodic pains, should not fail to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulcers, flux, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

What is an Orator. The true orator is the man who can make people laugh, cry and feel what he says. In truth, the genuine orator is the man who has humor enough in his soul to bring the smile to the face, pathos enough in his heart to bring the tear to the eye and dignity enough in his bearing to persuade or move men. He is an exponent of the spoken word. He is a pilgrim moving toward the home of the ideal. He is the embodiment of earnestness, enthusiasm and eloquence.

MISCHIEF FLIES SO. This insect is the Veritable Angel of Pestilence. One by one the plagues of Egypt are being abolished by science. The frogs were abolished long ago by the drain tile. The fleas are checked by insect powder, and the darkness that could be felt has melted away before the arc light. The sixth plague still remains in full glory. The fly is always with us. The great Dr. Radcliffe used to declare that the three worst nuisances of life were smoke, flies and irrelevant questions. Humanity has hitherto accepted these with a patient shrug of the shoulders as among the inevitable.

At last the worm has turned. It is proceeding slowly to put on smoke consumers, and has declared a war of extermination against the fly. The motives which whet hitherto easily blunted purpose are supplied by science. They are, first, that flies carry disease; second, that their very presence is a sign of dirt.

That the fly is frequently the angel of pestilence has long been suspected, says Collier's in an important article, but its most vivid and impressive demonstration was furnished by the disgraceful death rate from typhoid, one of the most scandalous of the many murders of official stupidity, in our camps in the South during the Spanish-American war. It was clearly proved by the eminent commission of experts, who investigated the situation postmortem, that the principal means of the spread of this dreaded disease was the flight of flies from the excreta of the earliest cases to the food exposed in the camp kitchens, carrying the typhoid germs on their legs and proboscis.

Only a Pretext. Ardup had made half a dozen attempts to borrow money of his friends, but one and all had pleaded the prevailing financial stringency. "That's all pretext," he said with bitterness, as he gave it up. "It's nothing but a case of financial stringency—see?"

SCIENTIFIC STUDY OF BRAINS. Man's Intellectual Superiority Explained by Dr. Edward Spitzer. A work that scientists in all parts of the civilized world have been awaiting with eagerness has just been issued under the imprint of the American Philosophical Society of Philadelphia. It is a study of brains, by Dr. Edward Anthony Spitzer, professor of general anatomy in Jefferson Medical College, formerly demonstrator of anatomy in Columbia University, and an authority of world-wide recognition upon scientific study of the brain.

Omitting the scientific terminology, some of the most important of Dr. Spitzer's statements may be thus expressed: The white matter of the callosum, or band connecting the hemispheres of the cerebrum, in great measure determines the quality of human intellect. The cerebrum is that portion of the brain which lies in front of the skull, and is generally accepted as the seat of the mind. Herefore the quantity of the gray matter of the brain was supposed to determine the fineness and usefulness of the brain.

The fibers of the callosum are the telephone wires connecting and associating the brain centers. Disease or injury in these is attended by profound weak-mindedness or downright idiocy. Contrast of the brain of Dr. Joseph Leidy with that of Prof. E. D. Cope shows that it is possible not only to differentiate between the learned and the ignorant, but that abstract reasoning produces one kind of a brain, while observation and concrete philosophy produces another form.

Such abnormalities as left-handedness, partial deafness and defects of vision leave their indelible imprints upon the brain.

The brains of various kinds of thinkers show specialized developments; thus musicians' brains are richly convoluted in the auditory association area.

The average weight of the brain of an adult male is 1,400 grammes. The average weight of a woman's brain is 1,200 grammes. The brain of Cuvier, the naturalist, weighed 1,830 grammes, that of Turgenyev, the novelist, 2,012 grammes, and that of Daniel Webster, 1,807 grammes.

Smallness of the occipital arc (the curvature at the back of the head) signifies superiority of brain development. This measurement in centimeters, the metric divisors of a 90-degree arc are as follows:

Average man ..... 20.8
Average woman ..... 21.7
Orange-outang ..... 23.2
Chimpanzee ..... 24.2

Wills is Barking. Edward Lynton Dickens, the youngest son of the novelist, emigrated to Australia and died in Sydney at the age of 51. He represented a constituency in the parliament of New South Wales for six years. Once when he was addressing the house in Sydney he was again and again snubbedly interrupted by a member named Willis. "Mr. Speaker, my father coined a famous phrase, 'Barkis is willit!'" Under present circumstances I am strongly tempted to reverse it and say, "Willis is barking!" The house laughed and the interruptions ceased.

Winter Forage. The question of winter forage and pasturage is one of the greatest importance in the Southern States, and Carlisle R. Hall, of the Bureau of Plant Industry, was sent by the Department of Agriculture early in the past year to make an investigation in several of the Gulf States. In his report Mr. Hall says, among other things: "The production of Southern hay has been a question long under discussion. The amount produced and the yield per acre have both increased steadily and encouragingly during the last few years. On every hand it is admitted that it is both possible and necessary to raise all that is needed for home consumption. Alfalfa, Bermuda grass, Johnson grass, crab grass and cowpeas furnish an abundance of hay of the very best quality. This hay can be produced much more cheaply than an equal quality can be shipped in from Northern and Western States. With better transportation facilities and an increasing demand, the production will become more and more profitable. At the same time, with hay raised on the home plantations, and hence cheaply and readily available, larger quantities are being used in feeding the plantation stock."

Crops of 1907. Despite the fact that the cereal crop yield of the United States for 1907 is below that of the previous year, the money return on the 1907 crops promises to equal, if not exceed, that of 1906. This statement is contained in a bulletin issued by Bradstreet's:

"Owing to the very cold and backward spring season, only hay, sugar and rice crops promise greater yields than those of last year. The bulletin says in part:

"While the aggregate cereal yield, six crops being included, is 15 per cent smaller than a year ago, a counterbalance to the falling off in crop production is found in the generally higher level of prices of the leading cereals, guaranteeing that the producer at least will derive some compensation alike from the smaller yields, the amount of the old or 1906 crops left over, and the improved export inquiry, particularly for our wheat and flour, caused by less satisfactory harvests abroad. The price of wheat last week was 22 per cent higher than a year ago, while corn was 18 per cent higher. From this it may be gathered that the present money returns on these crops is better than at the outset of the cereal year, and the prospects are that taken as a whole, this year's cereal crops will yield fully as much, if not more, than they did a year ago.

"Following is an estimate of the yields of the leading crops for 1907, showing the per cent gain or loss from 1906:

A Simple Way to Make Cheese. The making of cheese is a very simple process, and almost any one can turn out a good article with little practice. I will give a method by which any one can make cheese successfully. Take evening's milk and strain it into some clean vessel and let it stand in a cool place until morning. Evening's milk should be warmed to about 90 degrees before adding morning's milk. A good way to warm it is to set a pail of boiling water into the milk. Prepare the rennet by soaking in one gallon of warm water for twenty-four hours before using. Add as much salt as it will dissolve, strain, let it settle and it is ready for use.

Sulphur to Preserve Meat. Writing to the London Morning Post, a correspondent says: "I observe reference to an invention by a Frenchman as to preserving meat by sulphur fumes. It may be of interest to some respecting this matter that I have in my possession now a piece of beef treated in that way by me in Halifax, N. S., in the year 1879. It has been freely exposed to the air since that time, and so far as I can see has remained unharmed. As I had on several occasions felt the want of something of the sort on shooting expeditions, to provide for the possibility (not unusual) of being too far from camp after tracking wounded game or other cause, I looked about for a convenient form of a small emergency ration of meat. I cut some strips of beef about 6 inches by 2 inches, hung them in a glass jar, attached a small tumbler containing a little sulphur by a wire to the cord, lighted the sulphur and closed the jar with the cork. The sulphur burned until all the oxygen in the jar was consumed and then went out. As I anticipated, this preserved the meat, and when taken out and dried it remained quite sound."

The Feeding of Dogs. "No dog kept indoors and, indeed, very few outside, should be fed on meat; nor should he be fed from the table at meal times, as he will soon become a nuisance, especially when there are visitors. If he is always fed at the conclusion of a certain meal—dinner, for instance—he will wait patiently until the prescribed time. It is a good plan to feed after one's mid-day meal, giving plenty of green vegetables, bread and potatoes, with a very few scraps of finely cut meat, the whole well mixed and some gravy poured over it. If two meals are given, one
