A North-western conductor who had charge of trains running to and from land registration points, tells the Freeman Tribune that every train has been polled and every poll has given Taft a majority. The one no one in on that morning gave Taft a majority of 98.

The republican party has reduced the state debt of more than two millions created by democratic extravagance and mismanagement to less than half a million and will wipe it all out within the year if continued in power. Will not that record gain the vote of the tax-payer for the republican party? It certainly ought to.

The farmer who farmed from '93 to '96 will never forget the prices he received for farm products in those disastrous democratic years. He can also think of the prices his products bring in these prosperous republican years. The difference is that one party closed up his markets the other opened them, has kept them open and expanded them. Will the farmer believe that this was all luck and chance and take another chance on disaster by agitating the democratic ticket for democratic prices?

The republican party enacted the direct primary law forever abolishing political bossism and railway domination of state government in Nebraska. For this alone the party deserves the support of every "square deal" citizen in the state at the approaching election. Will you do your share to protect the rule of the people and preserve to all the benefits of the progress already made and the advance toward the necessary laws that yet remain to be enacted to secure the "square deal" in all our affairs of state? You can do it by voting the republican state ticket November 5.

It has been the custom of The Herald, as well as of the other county papers in close proximity to Sioux City, to urge the people of our home town to do their trading with the home merchant, as it is no question but what it helps build up the town and makes more business for the merchant, the butcher, the hardware man, the baker, and all alike who have business interests in the town. The same argument might be applied to national business affairs as well as to local affairs. For it the people of this country want to adopt the free trade system and compete with foreign countries they must expect the laborer to work for the same wages the foreign laborer gets in order to keep our home manufacturers, in business, otherwise they must quit. What would apply in national affairs ought to work the same locally; and if it is a good thing for this community to trade with the home merchant instead of going to Sioux City to buy, why is it not applicable in national business affairs? What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

The republican party, through its representatives in the last session of the legislature and by the approval of Governor Sheldon, gave to the people of the state the "terminal tax" law for the more equitable assessment of rail road property in the cities and villages of the state. It was claimed that these corporations were not paying their just share of the burdens of town government under the former system and this measure was passed as a proper remedy. That the results are all that was claimed is shown by the completion of the assessment rolls as the terminal tax for the entire state. The increase of railway valuations for municipal taxation in the cities and villages of Nebraska amounts to the sum of $18,627,925 for the year 1908. This amount is increased almost over last year's valuations. To reduce this to actual tax payments we find that, taking for instance, forty mills as an average tax levy in city or village, the railways will pay into the treasuries of Nebraska towns this year a sum aggregating one hundred and fifty thousand dollars more than the taxes paid for the same purposes last year.

Efficient State Officer. The good record made by Secretary of State Junkin when he was a member of the legislature has been enhanced by subsequent service in the office of secretary of state. His work on some of the most important bills created by law, including the assessment and equalization board, has made it easy for his friends to recommend him for reelection.

As a supplement to house roll No. 110, known as the "Junkin Act," which was introduced by the present secretary of state and passed at the 26th session of the legislature and under which the grain and lumber trusts were prosecuted and put out of business, Mr. Junkin and his assistants prepared house file No. 358 which was introduced by the senate judiciary committee of the 30th session and became a law. This has proved to be one of the best revenue measures for the collection of fees on the statute books. Under this provision the income of the office of the secretary of state has been increased from $22,463.10 for the biennium ending November 30, 1906, to $41,990.30 to date and will reach approximately $50,000.00 for the two years ending November 1908. This law provides that all corporations, associations and consolidations, domestic and foreign, shall file their articles in this department under a schedule of fees based on the authorized capital stock, and increased from ten cents per $1,000.00, under the old law to an average of 50 cents per $1,000.00 under the new act.

Under the old law foreign corporations were permitted to come into the state in competition with domestic or home corporations, without paying a license tax of any kind. Now they are required to comply with this law and pay the same fee as a domestic company.

In addition to the above the department of state prepared a motor vehicle bill which was passed at the last session of the legislature, and requires all owners of motor vehicles within the state to register the same with this department annually instead of only once as provided by the old law. The registration fee under this act has grown from 1.00 on January 1st, 1907, to 3.70 at the present date, and a very license issued means one dollar to the general fund of the treasury it shows an increase of $3,700.00 per year over the provisions of the old law. If the registrations continue to increase as they have in the past year the state will soon receive a very substantial income from this source.

These are some of the acts of the law maker and the present secretary of state in receiving his share of the credit for the introduction of these measures.—State Journal of Sept 22nd.

Senator Latta's Claims and His Record. In the literature and personal letter with which Senator Latta is flooding the district, he is asking that he be sent to congress.

First—On the ground that he is a farmer. Do not be deceived. Mr. Voter. Senator Latta is one of the richest bankers and money lenders in the district, the president of the First National bank of Tekamah, capitalized at $100,000. In the senate Mr. Latta voted steadily against the farmer members of that body.

Second—On the ground of his party platform pledges. But party platform pledges do not bind Senator Latta, as is evidenced by his vote against the direct primary law, the child labor law, the pure food law, and other reform measures to which the platform on which he was elected to the senate pledged him.

Third—On the ground of his record in the senate. The circular accompanying his personal letter to the voter says: "That he served faithfully and honestly and splendidly his official record shows: THIS RECORD SHOWS ABOVE ALL THINGS, THAT LATT A NEVER FAILED TO VOTE RIGHT."

How About a Steel Range

as substantially and well made as a Round Oak Stove? With what you know about the Round Oak you would naturally think it a pretty good range, wouldn't you?

Well, it is; it is built the Round Oak way and it is named the Round Oak Chief Steel Range. If you wanted a range it wouldn't make much difference what sort you bought if they were all alike, but they are not. There is as much difference in them as there are in the people, who use them. If you want a Range that will give you perfect satisfaction, save you fuel every day you use it and is honestly made from best materials by experienced and careful labor; a range that will last you a lifetime and at the same time can be bought for a reasonable price, you want the Chief.

Nothing in the country is equal to it for solid, substantial quality. True economy means to buy the best. You are invited to call in and see it.

The Round Oak Stoves are so well and favorably known in this vicinity that nothing further need to be said about them.
