

Dakota County Herald

Subscription Price, $1.00 Per Year. A weekly newspaper published at Dakota City, Nebraska.

Cattle Tested Free The Herald is in receipt of the following letter from Dr A. T. Peters, head of the department of Animal Pathology at the state university at Lincoln.

Knowing that you are interested in the tuberculosis campaign, we wish to state that we are now in a position to test herds of cattle free of charge.

Items of Interest from our Exchanges

Newcastle items in Ponca Leader: Mrs O'Neill of Vista came up Saturday noon and spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs Roddewig.

Whiting items in Sloan, Iowa, Star: Mr and Mrs Wilson McBeth returned Monday from a visit with relatives at Dakota, City, Neb.

Sioux City Journal, 24: S H Moore, of Dakota county, Neb, has purchased three lots in Cheney's Second addition.

Hartington News: Todd Christopherson of Crofton was a visitor in town yesterday. Will and Minnie Ireland returned to Emerson Tuesday after an extended visit with relatives and friends in this vicinity.

Lions Sun: The strife for the Bryan mule is not very furious. There are some who want to load the burden upon the town of Jackson, where it is said Taft received but two votes while Bryan came out with 101.

Lions Mirror: Canfield Phillips' sister is here from Blair. Mrs Dr Nina Smith and nephew, Malcom Smith, of Homer, were here Saturday on their way to Pender.

Pender Republic: Miss Mabel Niebuhr was over from Winnebago the first of the week on a visit with friends.

Deatur Herald: C H Kibbourn has disposed of his store in Craig and will devote his entire time and attention to his hotel interests in that city.

Ponca Journal: C F G Bostelman and wife returned Monday from Hubbard where they went to attend the funeral of Wm Mandy.

Emerson Enterprise: Geo H and F F Haase, Dr Evans, W G Merten and W B Rogers attended a Schrine meeting in Sioux City Wednesday evening.

Dulcie Leedom visited at Dakota City Saturday. Duck coats are just the thing for nasty weather.

Jan Nelson's new house is about completed. The carpenters are now putting on the finishing touches.

The following letters remain unclaimed at the Hubbard postoffice: R O Laugen, P O O'Brien, Denton Briggs, Miss Cora King, Mrs Bertha Benton.

There will be Lutheran church services Sunday, November 29th. Everyone cordially invited.

Eneat Goertz and wife were down Tuesday to Dakota City and spent the day at Pa and Ma Rockwell's.

Wagon boxes, shoveling boards and hardware at cost, at D C Hefferman's. The social event of the season in this locality was the marriage on Thursday of this week of Miss Sylvia Francisco, and August Anderson.

The men whose appetite for the amber fluid makes them frequent visitors to the police court met with heavy fines at the hands of Judge Page in the police court yesterday.

The happy event took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs Bert Francisco, and was witnessed by about fifty friends of the families interested.

Card of Thanks I wish to express my gratitude to the kind friends and neighbors who have shown me so much sympathy and rendered me so much assistance during the loss of my wife and the serious illness of my daughter.

JACKSON. Eli Paquin and sister Alma, of Sioux City, were over Sunday guests of Minnie Keefe.

T S Wellington, of Waterbury was calling on friends here Monday. Mrs Frank Davey returned home Saturday from a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs F S Berry, at Emerson, Nebr.

Mrs John McEwen and baby, of Sioux City, spent several days last week at the home of her brother, Thos Sullivan.

Joseph Gill, William Kennelly, and Margaret Murray, attended the dance in Waterbury last Friday evening.

rather dazed look on his face, and he received a fine of $100 or thirty days in the county jail. Shay, who is one of the best known police court characters in Sioux City, who has been serving a term in the county jail, and who no sooner gets out than he is in again, last night was taken to the inebriate hospital at Knoxville by Sheriff E G Dilley.

Sioux City Tribune, 23rd: Control of the new grain, spirits, alcohol and whisky distillery, of South Sioux City, has been secured by H W Voss, the Cincinnati whisky broker, and D A Emmitt, the distiller and yeast maker, brother of George E Emmitt, of the Merchants' distillery, the big Terra Haute, Ind, distillery. The plant is new and up-to-date, and in the best western corn belt and cattle country.

They will start operating by December 10 at the present capacity, which will be doubled January 1, and then doubled again. Colonel Emmitt will remove here and attend to the manufacture, while H W Voss will market the entire product every where, through his whisky brokerage business, which he will continue at Cincinnati, Ohio.

They will manufacture spirits, alcohol and whisky, and be independent of the "system." They will sell wholesale trade, only. Alfred Hallam, the Sioux City capitalist and cattle man, is interested in the cattle feeding end of it.

Charles J Ray, brother of William Ray, of the Clifton Springs, distillery, Cincinnati, is office manager. Tribinary trade is very anxious to get competition started, and the Crystal Lake distillery, the name of the new corporation, with $150,000 capital, has already received contracts for all and more goods than it can produce for this season, up to next fall.

This new industry, operated by one of the best distillers in the business, and the product in a wholesale broker's hands who has trade everywhere in the United States, is bound to become one of the largest manufacturing industries, and means much for Sioux City and Nebraska.

CORRESPONDENCE

HUBBARD. Winter caps at Carl Anderson's. Mrs Sam Thorn and daughters were Sioux City shoppers Thursday of last week.

The plastering is nearly completed in the new dwelling of Nels Anderson. It will be a very fine structure when finished.

The Methodists here organized their society last week. Five members were taken in Sunday.

Overshoes and all kinds of foot wear, at Carl Anderson's. Raymond Smith and Joseph Christensen were on the sick list last week.

Mrs J N Miller was taken to the hospital in Sioux City Monday for treatment. She is in a very critical condition.

Our teachers will all spend their Thanksgiving in their respective homes. Herman Renze was a passenger to Sioux City Wednesday.

Bert Francisco was at Dakota City and Sioux City Wednesday. Mae Maguire has resigned as teacher in the Francisco district. Her place has not yet been filled in the school.

Renze & Green this week sold a $700 corn shelling outfit to the Hartnett brothers. A baby daughter was born to Sam Knox and wife Saturday.

We have a couple of fur coats that we are going to close out cheap. Carl Anderson. Mrs P Sharp brought home a little girl from the Orphans' Home a few days ago. This makes the fifth child that Mr and Mrs Sharp have adopted. Two of the children are already married.

Will Dodge drove to the county seat last Thursday. Carl Anderson has everything you need in the way of warm clothing. See his stock before winter sets in.

Grandma Duggan has been quite sick of late. Her daughter, who resides near South Sioux City, came down to see her Saturday evening, returning home Monday.

Frank Combs was here on business Monday. Ella Heeny was a Sioux City passenger last Friday.

Sweaters of all descriptions, for grown folks and children, at Carl Anderson's. The Haas Anderson home is going up slow but sure.

Among those who went from here to Sioux City Saturday morning were Mr Knox and two daughters, Mrs H Thompson, Mary O'Connor, Mrs Christensen and son Joseph, and Mrs T Deroin.

Dulcie Leedom visited at Dakota City Saturday. Duck coats are just the thing for nasty weather.

Carl Anderson has them in all styles and prices. Jas Nelson's new house is about completed. The carpenters are now putting on the finishing touches.

The following letters remain unclaimed at the Hubbard postoffice: R O Laugen, P O O'Brien, Denton Briggs, Miss Cora King, Mrs Bertha Benton.

There will be Lutheran church services Sunday, November 29th. Everyone cordially invited.

Eneat Goertz and wife were down Tuesday to Dakota City and spent the day at Pa and Ma Rockwell's.

Wanted: A man who spends his time in counting hypocrites makes a mistake by not putting himself at the head of the list.

As well try to reason with a prairie on fire as with a young man in love.

When men begin drinking they are likely to stop thinking. You can't discourage an earnest man by making his work hard.

Don't despise the day of small things. Every frog was once a tadpole.

When we reach the end of life we shall find that nothing good has been lost.

We are certain to be bound in the devil's ropes if we do not break his threads.

A refrigerator is a good thing in the right place, but the right place is not in a church.

Many a man of brilliant gifts brings little to pass because he spreads himself too much.

In the meadow where the artist catches a glimpse of heaven the farmer sees nothing but hay.

The lion that comes out and roars against the true hero is simply announcing its own funeral.

The man who builds his house on the sand shows the need of lunatic asylums with every brick he lays.

Crooked paths are not made by those who are determined to go straight on in spite of all difficulties.

The man who believes in a land flowing with milk and honey will sooner or later be on this way there.

Hunters and naturalists alike remark on the similarity of the lion and the domestic cat when they are preparing for the final rush on their prey.

E. C. Selous, during a hunting trip in Africa, came near riding over a lion, an experience which he describes in "African Nature Notes and Reminiscences," and which also leads him to comment upon the great beast's likeness to other members of the cat tribe.

I once galloped almost on to a lion lying flat on the ground in grass only about a foot in height before I saw it. When I at last made it out, I was directly in front of, and probably less than twenty yards away from it.

As I pulled my horse in, the lion had his head pressed down on its outstretched paws, and its eyes were fixed on me. Had I ridden by, it would certainly never have moved until I had got out of sight.

As I raised my rifle and looked down the barrel to align the sights upon its head, I saw the black tuft of hair at the end of its tail flicked tightly from side to side, and the fore paws, that had been stretched out straight beyond its nose, drawn slowly under its breast, without its head or body being perceptibly raised.

I knew the lion was on the very point of charging, but my horse kept breathing hard, and I could not get my sight steadily fixed below its eyes. Then, just as I saw the crouching beast's hind quarters moving gently from side to side, I fired, and luckily my bullet struck it just between the eyes, and, crashing into its brain, killed it instantly, so that it never moved, but still lay crouching on the ground, struck dead at the very last moment before starting on its charge.

Since that time I have on several occasions watched a cat when stalking a bird go through every movement made by that lion—the same involuntary twitching of just the end of the tail, the same drawing in of the fore paws beneath the chest, and then the wavy movement of the loins just before the final rush.

Telephone Manners. Do telephones lead to politeness or otherwise? When they first came into use the answer to this question would have been emphatically in the negative, but now that they are almost universally prevalent, an era of good manners and "thank you's" seems to be in full swing.

In some communities it is not even possible to quarrel over the telephone, although the two women who took part in the following conversation came near it:

"Hello! Is this Mrs. Weston?" "Yes."

"This is your next-door neighbor, Mrs. Lawrence. I thought you might be interested to know that at the present moment your son Thomas is sitting on one of the sheets which is bleaching on my lawn, and is building a large pile of mud on it."

"Oh, thank you, Mrs. Lawrence!" exclaimed the mother. "And may I return the favor by informing you that your setter Rab has just rooted up my two new rose-bushes, and that he seems to be chewing the buds?"

"Oh, indeed! Thank you! Good-by!" "Not at all. Thank you! Good-by."

A Leading Question. "Before we proceed any further," said the American heiress to the tupe-culous duke, "I want to ask you a leading question."

"A duke," quoth the duke, although he looked a little anxious. "One is enough," said the noble girl. "I want to ask you how you got your title, because if it is tainted I unalterably and decisively decline to receive it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Hairbreadth. Stella—I suppose you have had many hairbreadth escapes? Kullcher—Yes; a woman's cologne was all that kept me from seeing a play once—Harper's Bazar.

A farmer naturally wants the earth in his business, for without it he couldn't do a thing.

RAM'S HORN BLASTS.

Warning Notes Calling the Wicked to Repentance.

The man who spends his time in counting hypocrites makes a mistake by not putting himself at the head of the list.

As well try to reason with a prairie on fire as with a young man in love.

When men begin drinking they are likely to stop thinking. You can't discourage an earnest man by making his work hard.

Don't despise the day of small things. Every frog was once a tadpole.

When we reach the end of life we shall find that nothing good has been lost.

We are certain to be bound in the devil's ropes if we do not break his threads.

A refrigerator is a good thing in the right place, but the right place is not in a church.

Many a man of brilliant gifts brings little to pass because he spreads himself too much.

In the meadow where the artist catches a glimpse of heaven the farmer sees nothing but hay.

The lion that comes out and roars against the true hero is simply announcing its own funeral.

The man who builds his house on the sand shows the need of lunatic asylums with every brick he lays.

Crooked paths are not made by those who are determined to go straight on in spite of all difficulties.

The man who believes in a land flowing with milk and honey will sooner or later be on this way there.

Hunters and naturalists alike remark on the similarity of the lion and the domestic cat when they are preparing for the final rush on their prey.

E. C. Selous, during a hunting trip in Africa, came near riding over a lion, an experience which he describes in "African Nature Notes and Reminiscences," and which also leads him to comment upon the great beast's likeness to other members of the cat tribe.

I once galloped almost on to a lion lying flat on the ground in grass only about a foot in height before I saw it. When I at last made it out, I was directly in front of, and probably less than twenty yards away from it.

As I pulled my horse in, the lion had his head pressed down on its outstretched paws, and its eyes were fixed on me. Had I ridden by, it would certainly never have moved until I had got out of sight.

As I raised my rifle and looked down the barrel to align the sights upon its head, I saw the black tuft of hair at the end of its tail flicked tightly from side to side, and the fore paws, that had been stretched out straight beyond its nose, drawn slowly under its breast, without its head or body being perceptibly raised.

I knew the lion was on the very point of charging, but my horse kept breathing hard, and I could not get my sight steadily fixed below its eyes. Then, just as I saw the crouching beast's hind quarters moving gently from side to side, I fired, and luckily my bullet struck it just between the eyes, and, crashing into its brain, killed it instantly, so that it never moved, but still lay crouching on the ground, struck dead at the very last moment before starting on its charge.

Since that time I have on several occasions watched a cat when stalking a bird go through every movement made by that lion—the same involuntary twitching of just the end of the tail, the same drawing in of the fore paws beneath the chest, and then the wavy movement of the loins just before the final rush.

Telephone Manners. Do telephones lead to politeness or otherwise? When they first came into use the answer to this question would have been emphatically in the negative, but now that they are almost universally prevalent, an era of good manners and "thank you's" seems to be in full swing.

In some communities it is not even possible to quarrel over the telephone, although the two women who took part in the following conversation came near it:

"Hello! Is this Mrs. Weston?" "Yes."

"This is your next-door neighbor, Mrs. Lawrence. I thought you might be interested to know that at the present moment your son Thomas is sitting on one of the sheets which is bleaching on my lawn, and is building a large pile of mud on it."

"Oh, thank you, Mrs. Lawrence!" exclaimed the mother. "And may I return the favor by informing you that your setter Rab has just rooted up my two new rose-bushes, and that he seems to be chewing the buds?"

"Oh, indeed! Thank you! Good-by!" "Not at all. Thank you! Good-by."

A Leading Question. "Before we proceed any further," said the American heiress to the tupe-culous duke, "I want to ask you a leading question."

"A duke," quoth the duke, although he looked a little anxious. "One is enough," said the noble girl. "I want to ask you how you got your title, because if it is tainted I unalterably and decisively decline to receive it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FRITZ, WHEN YOU BROUGHT THAT ROUND OAK STOVE INTO THE WOODS YOU SPOILED MY WINTER NAP.

Fred Schriever & Co. Dakota City, Nebr.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

EDITED BY THE SENIOR CLASS The tenth and eleventh grades took state examinations Friday and Saturday.

The eleventh grade have finished Dickens' Christmas Carol and are now studying Shakespeare's Julius Caesar.

No recesses were given this week to the pupils of the high school room, on account of the bad weather.

Last Friday afternoon the pupils of the high school room enjoyed a "spelling down."

The program which was to be given last Friday will be given this Friday.

Lettie Heikes returned Monday, after a two weeks' absence, caused by sickness.

A B Rich, superintendent of the DeSmet, S D, schools, visited several of the teachers over Sunday.

Several of the pupils were excused Wednesday afternoon. They went to Sioux City to hear "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway."

The fall of "the beautiful" will keep the boys from playing football for some time.

A number of pamphlets were borrowed from the intermediate room, to be used as references for the ninth grade literature class.

Each day the high school room is devoting fifteen minutes after noon to spelling. It is proving very beneficial to all.

Neoma Anderson re-entered school Wednesday, after a week's absence on account of sickness.

Eva Graham visited at the Blume home near Emerson Sunday.

The grammar school pupils are rejoicing that they are to have Thursday off for feasting; but, said one, "What if we are sick on Friday?"

Owing to the fact that there is to be school on Friday the regular program in the grammar room will be given that day instead of Wednesday, as it was at first planned.

Special on Photos for Xmas

We are giving some of the best inducements that ever were offered on photos. Largest variety of sizes and styles in the city. We can save you from $2.00 to $6.00 on a dozen. Don't fail to see us first. DE LUXE STUDIO

405, 4th St, Sioux City. Next to 5 and 10c store. Studio open all day Sundays

Great Live Stock Exposition At Chicago

This is something in which all agricultural communities should be interested. The present Exposition to be held from November 28th to December 10th will far excel all others in attractions and for this occasion the Northwestern Live will make rate from Dakota City to Chicago and return $16.00. Tickets will be sold November 29th and 30th, December 1st, 2nd, 7th and 8th with return limit until December 12th, 1908. For tickets and information, call on George H Pranger, Agent, Dakota City, Nebr.

See us for Xmas Photos

Fine line of new styles, in cabinet sizes, at special low prices—$2, $3, $4 per dozen. You save dollars when you go to the Kozzy Studio 304 Douglas St, Sioux City. Open Sundays.

First publication Nov 18-5w Sheriff's Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of sale issued by Harry H. Adair, clerk of the district court in and for Dakota county, Nebraska, and directed to me, J. P. Rockwell, sheriff of said county, commanding me to sell the premises hereinafter described to satisfy a certain judgment of the said district court in said county, and in favor of the said county, and against F. A. French, M. F. French and H. T. Gillman for the sum of thirty-seven dollars and four cents ($37.04), and its costs taxed at twenty-one dollars and seventy-five cents ($21.75), I have levied upon the following described property, to-wit: Lots eleven (11) and twelve (12), in block thirty-one (31), in Stanton, all being located in said Dakota county and state of Nebraska.

How About a Steel Range as substantially and well made as a Round Oak Stove? With what you know about the Round Oak you would naturally think it a pretty good range, wouldn't you? Well, it is; it is built the Round Oak way and it is named the Round Oak Chief Steel Range.

Specials on Horse Blankets and Lap Robes Strong, Square Wool Blankets $1.40 Large, Strong, Square Blankets 1.75 Brown Duck-Lined Storm Blankets 1.70 Heavy Plaid Duck-Lined Blankets 2.00 Heavy, Plain Plush Lap Robes 2.75 Heavy, Fancy Plush Lap Robes 4.50 Very Fine Black Fur Robes, Large 8.75 Very Fine Black Fur Robes, Extra Large 10.50

Crib Your Corn In the New Steel Crib. Most lasting and economical of all cribs. Will not rust, rot or burn; many times stronger than slat cribbing and just as cheap.

Edwards & Bradford Lbr. Co. Hubard Nebraska GEO. TIMLIN, Manager.

Beats the World to Wear better and give better Satisfaction than any brand of hose on the market for the same price—or your money refunded. "WUNDERHOSE" for sale by Carl Anderson Hubard Nebraska

Abstracts of Title Successor to Dakota County Abstract Co. A $10,000 Surety Bond Bonded Abstracter J. J. EIMERS

SHIP YOUR HIDES, FURS, WOOL, ETC. DIRECT TO US AND SAVE SMALL DEALER'S PROFITS. D. BERGMAN & CO., ST. PAUL, MINN. TOP MARKET PRICES, IMMEDIATE CASH RETURNS. WRITE FOR PRICE LIST AND SHIPPING TAGS.