What Influences Men. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. president of the Equal Suffrage Union, does not in any way suit the description usually fitted by chivalrous men to woman suffragists. Far from being a plain-visaged, badly-gowned, rather pugilistic person, Mrs. Catt is altogether charming, a delightfully womanly woman and quite interested as to the style and beauty of her dresses and hats. Nothing in the world so incenses Mrs. Catt as for a person or a newspaper to mix her personality

Tone of the most brilliant writers on woman suffrage," she remarked not long ago, "Ellis Meredith, of Denver, has this to say about a certain phase of enfranchised women, and I wish all men who discuss the subject would treat it as a tract. 'It is,' says this caustic chronicler, 'a singular fact that men seem unable to consider the abstract question of voting quite apart from its personal bearings. For instance, a well-known Denver writer laments that since the disastrous year of 1893 he has seen upon the streets of Denver the sad faces of unloved woman. Both before and since that time the sad faces of unloved and unlovable men have not been absent from our thoroughfares, but who ever thought of such a thing as disfranchising a man in order that he might be rendered attractive? Socrates would never have received even honorable mention in a beauty show. Yet this sort of thing is accepted seriously, and men are influenced, not by arguments, but by the personality of the one who represents them when it is a matter of woman's enfranchisement.' Yet I question if a judge ever thinks whether the pleader before him is good to look on or the opposite, or whether his collar is clean, and his face showing the effects of morning Foap. NEW IDEAS IN CLOTHES.

The garment on the left-hand figure shows the fashionable combination of materials. The coat is of seniskin, so soft and pliable that it clings to the form like broadcloth or satin. The broad revers are of a chiffon broadcloth, in a matching shade to that used for the skirt, which is pavement-gray. The buttons, which are of old sliver and perfectly flat, have a rim of jet. The hat is of gray felt, faced with seal and trimmed with a band of the same fur and uncurled estrich feathers.

The gown on the figure at the right shows the vogue for satin used as a trimming. The material employed for the costume is a pigeon-gray Princess broadcloth. The skirt is tight and narrow and the coat fits so as to emphasize the short waistline. In the back it comes to within two inches of the foor and sloped gracefully up in the front. The broad revers and deep cuffs are of black satin, being without canvas as a stiffening, which allowed them to fall in soft folds. The hat is of black satin, trimmed with soft gray silk and black quills.

Ornament for Hair,

The hair ornaments of this season are unlike those that girls have worn before. This metal fillet, with gauze wings, is probably the most popular accessory to the colffure. The wings are of gold gauze, ornamented with crystals. They are mounted in front of a thin gold fillet which fits neatly over the top of the head.

Southern Alberta Is a Mighty Good

Country. No stronger or better evidence can be given of the merits of a country than that which comes from the testimony of the settler who has determination to succeed. This is why we reproduce the following letter, which speaks for itself. These people were induced to go to Western Canada through the solicitation of a Canadian Government agent, who secured for them low rallway rates.

Carmangay, Alta., Canada, Dec. 15, '08. Mr. C. J. Broughton, Canadian Government Agency, 135 Adams street. Chicago:

We had audacity enough to tackle the proposition of buying four sections of land in Southern Alberta, thirty miles east of Clairsholm, and heading up on the Little Bow, and our two bays each got a homestead adjoining. We fenced three sections and the two home steads and built a house, barn, corrals and granary and have since enlarged some of these buildings. We have broken 200 acres of land, which has been sowed to oats and wheat. During the severe winter of two years ago the winter wheat killed out somewhat and our crop yielded only ten bushe's to the acre, but the spring wheat went 24 bushels to the acre. In this conntry we must be prepared for storms and cold, at times, 20 to 30 below zero. yet on the whole the winters are mild; and while there are exceptional crops. it is fair to say that the average farmer can depend on having a yield in average years of from 20 to 25 bushels to the acre for spring wheat; and winter wheat in our immediate neighborhood yields from 25 to 30 bushels to the acre on the average.

We have now quite a bunch of horses, over 50 in all, about 350 sheep, after having sold 140 for mutton this fall. We have 20 head of pure bred registered Shropshire, which are worth $20 each. The average price received for mutton sheep was $5.00 and a little over. Pork brings 5 and 6 cents a pound. We have about 30 head of cattle c1 our ranch now, and last winter they picked their entire living from our pasture, running to the straw stacks for shelter at night.

The increase of land value has been extraordinary. Our land four years ago cost us a little less than $6.00 an acre. We have sold one section for $15,00, but we would not sell any more for less than $25.00 per acre, as we expect the railroad within four miles of our ranch within the next 18 months. Southern Alberta of Western Canada is a mighty good country for any nen or woman who loves outdoor life and who wants to get good returns for their labor and investment.

We have been pleased with our treatment from the Canadian government and can heartily commend Southern Alberta as a splendid country in which to locate.

Yours very truly, (Signed)
