Duensing Farm House Burns

The farm house of Fred Duensing, a mile northeast of town, was destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning. The place was occupied by Fred Krumwiede and family. The fire was discovered about 3 o'clock in the morning by Mrs Krumwiede, who was awakened by the smell of smoke. She aroused her husband and when they rushed out of doors the summer kitchen and coal house adjoining it were nearly consumed and the main part of the house was just beginning to burn. They worked with almost superhuman effort to save the house but with no one to help them the fire soon was beyond their control and they turned their efforts toward saving what they could of their household goods from the greedy flames. They rescued a few things but most of their goods went up in smoke as the house burned. The house was insured in the Farmers Mutual Insurance company of Lincoln, for $1300, which partly covers Mr Duensing's loss. Mr Duensing will rebuild the house immediately.

Mr Krumwiede carried about $300 nsurance in the same company on his household goods, which will in a measure repay him for his loss.

J W Trumble, state adjuster for the company, arrived here Thursday and is today adjusting the loss.

When the Dow Clothing Co. decided to retire from business and sell out-they had great difficulty to find bidders, because they would not partition the stock-and the stock was so large very few could raise the amount of money required to handle it.

Davidson Bros. Co. had the money -they could handle it when the price suited them, and they bought the entire property at the low price of abont 50 cents on the dollar.

Monday morning, May oth, Dow and and Davidson Bros. Co. stocks were combined and the doors thrown open in our New Men's room (finest in the state)-to a Clothing Sale-the immensity of which was never attempted before within our memory.

It has proven the Greatest Sale in our history-greatest in number and volume of sales, greatest in extent of price reductions, desirableness of merchandise and far greatest in public appreciation.

AND THE END IS NOT YET-for this is a mighty stock-enough to run two great stores through two whole seasons, but we must wipe the slate clean this season-these's no way out of it except to Sell! Sell! Sell at any price.
