

Your Liver is Clogged up
That's Why You're Tired—Out of Sorts—Have No Appetite.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS will put you right in a few days. They do their duty. Cures Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, and Sick Headache.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE
GENUINE must bear signature:

Warranted

HIS WISH.

Mrs. Henpeck—Ah Henry, when I'm gone you'll never get another wife like me.
Mr. Henpeck (sotto voce)—I hope not.

A BURNING ERUPTION FROM HEAD TO FEET

"Four years ago I suffered severely with a terrible eczema, being a mass of sores from head to feet and for six weeks confined to my bed. During that time I suffered continual torture from itching and burning. After being given up by my doctor I was advised to try Cuticura Remedies. After the first bath with Cuticura Soap and application of Cuticura Ointment I enjoyed the first good sleep during my entire illness. I also used Cuticura Resolvent and the treatment was continued for about three weeks. At the end of that time I was able to be about the house, entirely cured, and have felt no ill effects since. I would advise any person suffering from any form of skin trouble to try the Cuticura Remedies, as I know what they did for me. Mrs. Edward Nanning, 1112 Salina St., Watertown, N. Y., Apr. 11, 1909."

Well, Wasn't He Right?

The minister was addressing the Sunday school. "Children, I want to talk to you for a few moments about one of the most wonderful, one of the most important organs in the whole world," he said. "What is that that throbs away, beats away, never stopping, never ceasing, whether you wake or sleep, night or day, week in and week out, month in and month out, year in and year out, without any volition on your part, hidden away in the depths, as it were, unseen by you, throbbing, throbbing rhythmically all your life long?" During this pause for oratorical effect a small voice was heard: "I know. It's the gas meter."

Looked Like a Pattern.

"My dear," asks the thoughtful husband, "did you notice a large sheet of paper with a lot of diagrams on it about my desk?"
"You mean that big piece with dots and curves and diagonals and things all over it?"
"Yes. It was my map of the path of Halley's comet. I wanted to—"
"My goodness! I thought it was that pattern I asked you to get, and the dressmaker is cutting out my new shirtwaist by it!"—Chicago Evening Post.

He Had Been Observing.

"Why don't you call your invention the 'Bachelor's Button'?" I asked my friend, who was about to put on the market a button that a man could attach without needle or thread.
"I fear that the appellation would imply too much restrictiveness," he answered. "You see," he went on, giving me one of his knowing smiles, "I expect to do just as much business with the married men as with the bachelors."

Tactful.

A woman with a pronounced squint went to a fashionable photographer. He looked at her and she looked at him and both were embarrassed.
He spoke first.
"Won't you permit me," he said, "to take your portrait in profile? There is a certain shyness about one of your eyes which is as difficult in art as it is fascinating in nature." Beacon.

Delightful Desserts
and many other pleasing dishes can be made with

Post Toasties
A crisp, wholesome food—always ready to serve.
With fruits or berries it is delicious.
"The Memory Lingers"
A little book—"Good Things Made with Toasties"—in packages, tells how.
Sold by Grocers—pkgs. 10c and 15c.
POSTUM CEREAL CO., LTD.
Battle Creek, Mich.

New News of Yesterday
by E. J. Edwards

How Phillips Wrote Oration

Phi Beta Kappa Address at Harvard in 1881 Composed While He Lay Stretched Upon a Sofa Couch.

Accompanied by my friend of other days, the late John Boyle O'Reilly, the poet, I was walking through Essex street, Boston, one afternoon in the summer of 1882 when my attention was attracted to a face in the window of a typical bow-windowed Boston home. It was a face like that of a graven image, perfectly motionless, and there was an expression of severe dignity, and yet of perfect repose upon it.

I turned to Mr. O'Reilly. "That looks like Wendell Phillips," I said. "It looks like Wendell Phillips because it is Wendell Phillips," Mr. O'Reilly replied. "That is his Boston home. Here he has lived for many years, residing in the inevitable march of business, which is soon to swallow up the few remaining homes upon this and neighboring streets."

"Mr. Phillips," Mr. O'Reilly went on, "is very fond of sitting in that window. Sometimes he occupies his chair there for hours, seeming scarcely to move, and I have been told that frequently when in that perfect repose he writes mentally portions of an oration or address."

"But even more interesting to me was the manner in which Mr. Phillips wrote his now famous Phi Beta Kappa oration, 'The Scholar in a Republic,' delivered last year at the centennial anniversary of the Phi Beta Kappa society at Harvard. You may recall that the address was one that stung. He spoke for civil and religious liberty, and he made a bitter accusation against men of scholarship who took so little part in public affairs, and who when they did, usually sided with the aristocratic and the rich."

Friendship Helped Save Union

How Archbishop John Hughes Unwittingly Performed Great Service for the Nation by His Loyalty to Weed.

This is the hitherto unpublished story of the archbishop of the Roman Catholic church, because he would not permit a close personal friend to be put in the way of being humiliated, unwittingly performed a great service for the Union at a most critical period of the Civil war. This church dignitary was John Hughes, from 1850 to 1864, the year of his death, the head of his church in New York city.

Shortly after the outbreak of the war President Lincoln, as history states, determined to send abroad, to Great Britain and France, a special embassy to work for the cause of the Union and against the foreign commissioners of the Confederacy. One of the men he appointed on this commission was the late Charles P. McVane, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Ohio, and another was Archbishop John Hughes, an ardent friend both of the Union and of Lincoln, and also a very energetic and earnest worker and a most eloquent speaker.

These two dignitaries, when they met in Washington shortly after they had been formally notified of their selection by the president, were under the impression that the third member of the commission was to be Thurlow Weed. But the archbishop had been in the capital only a day or so when he began to suspect that it was not the purpose of the secretary of state, William H. Seward, to clothe Mr. Weed with full plenipotentiary powers, notwithstanding the informal report that had been printed that the three special ambassadors would be the two ecclesiastics and Mr. Weed.

Now, Archbishop Hughes and Mr. Weed were close personal friends and the more the archbishop thought about the matter the more excited he became. At last he determined to board the secretary of state in his office and have it out with him as regarded his friend's position upon the commission. The archbishop lost no time in coming to the point, once he had gained Mr. Seward's presence.
"Secretary Seward," he said, "I understand that the commissions of Bishop McVane and myself as special ambassadors of President Lincoln to Great Britain and France are about to be made out. But I have also

Hay Confessed to Authorship

He Admitted to a Curious Friend That He Read the Proofs of "The Bread Winners" and Ended Mystery.

It was in 1883 that there appeared anonymously the novel called "The Bread Winners." At once a deep interest was taken in the problem of establishing the identity of the author, and while from time to time through the years many persons of authority attributed the novel to John Hay, the literary world generally did not know for a surety until after his death that he it was who wrote that once popular story.

Friendship Helped Save Union

How Archbishop John Hughes Unwittingly Performed Great Service for the Nation by His Loyalty to Weed.

This is the hitherto unpublished story of the archbishop of the Roman Catholic church, because he would not permit a close personal friend to be put in the way of being humiliated, unwittingly performed a great service for the Union at a most critical period of the Civil war. This church dignitary was John Hughes, from 1850 to 1864, the year of his death, the head of his church in New York city.

Friendship Helped Save Union

How Archbishop John Hughes Unwittingly Performed Great Service for the Nation by His Loyalty to Weed.

This is the hitherto unpublished story of the archbishop of the Roman Catholic church, because he would not permit a close personal friend to be put in the way of being humiliated, unwittingly performed a great service for the Union at a most critical period of the Civil war. This church dignitary was John Hughes, from 1850 to 1864, the year of his death, the head of his church in New York city.

Shortly after the outbreak of the war President Lincoln, as history states, determined to send abroad, to Great Britain and France, a special embassy to work for the cause of the Union and against the foreign commissioners of the Confederacy. One of the men he appointed on this commission was the late Charles P. McVane, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Ohio, and another was Archbishop John Hughes, an ardent friend both of the Union and of Lincoln, and also a very energetic and earnest worker and a most eloquent speaker.

These two dignitaries, when they met in Washington shortly after they had been formally notified of their selection by the president, were under the impression that the third member of the commission was to be Thurlow Weed. But the archbishop had been in the capital only a day or so when he began to suspect that it was not the purpose of the secretary of state, William H. Seward, to clothe Mr. Weed with full plenipotentiary powers, notwithstanding the informal report that had been printed that the three special ambassadors would be the two ecclesiastics and Mr. Weed.

Now, Archbishop Hughes and Mr. Weed were close personal friends and the more the archbishop thought about the matter the more excited he became. At last he determined to board the secretary of state in his office and have it out with him as regarded his friend's position upon the commission. The archbishop lost no time in coming to the point, once he had gained Mr. Seward's presence.
"Secretary Seward," he said, "I understand that the commissions of Bishop McVane and myself as special ambassadors of President Lincoln to Great Britain and France are about to be made out. But I have also

DOING THE THING RIGHT.

Mr. Parvenue—Going to church this morning?
Mrs. Parvenue—No, I've got a headache.
Mr. Parvenue—Then call the butler and send him. The family should be represented.

Controlled Newspapers.

The Athens Globe says that no advertiser has ever tried to control its editorial policy, the remark being occasioned by the charge often made nowadays, that the big advertisers direct the editorial policy of newspapers. The experience of the Globe is the experience of most newspapers. The merchant who does a great deal of advertising is more interested in the circulation department of a newspaper than in the editorial department. If a daily paper goes to the homes of the people, and is read by them, he is satisfied, and it may chase after any theory or fad, for all he cares. He has troubles of his own, and he isn't trying to shoulder those of the editorial brethren.

There are newspapers controlled by people outside of the editorial rooms, and a good many of them, more's the pity; but the people exercising that control are not the business men who pay their money for advertising space. The newspapers which are established for political purposes are often controlled by chronic office-seekers, whose first concern is their own interests. There are newspapers controlled by great corporations, and the voice of such newspapers is always raised in protest against any genuine reform.

The average western newspaper usually is controlled by its owner, and he is supposed to be in duty bound to make all sorts of sacrifices at all sorts of times; there are people who consider it his duty to insult his advertisers, just to show that he is free and independent. If he shows a decent respect for his patrons, who pay him their money, and make it possible for him to carry on the business, he is "subsidized" or "controlled." The newspaper owner is a business man, like the dry goods man or the grocer. The merchants are expected to have consideration for their customers, and they are not supposed to be subsidized by the man who spends five dollars with them, but the publisher is expected to demonstrate his courage by showing that he is ungrateful for the patronage of his friends. It is a funny combination when you think it over.—Emporia Gazette.

Statistics Go Lame.

"Pearl" me that's something wrong with statistics," remarked the oldest inhabitant as he dropped into his usual place on the loafers' bench.
"What's wrong with 'em?" queried the village grocer.
"Well, erordin' ter 'em," continued the o. l., "we order 'em had a death in town ev'ry six weeks fer th' past few years."
"Is that so?" said the grocer.
"Yas," answered the other, "an' by ginger, we ain't had 'em!"

TAKE A FOOT-BATH TO-NIGHT

After dissolving one or two Allen's Foot-Tabes (Antiseptic) tablets for the foot-bath in the water. It will take out all soreness, smarting and tenderness, remove foot odors and freshen the feet. Allen's Foot-Tabes instantly relieve weariness and sweating of limbs, feet and not nervousness of the feet at night. Then for comfort throughout the day shake Allen's Foot-Tabes into your shoes. Sold everywhere 25c. Avoid substitutes. Samples of Allen's Foot-Tabes mailed FREE or our regular size sent by mail for 25c. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Lelyston, N. Y.

Coming Down to Earth.

"Happiness," declared the philosopher, "is in the pursuit of something, not in the catching of it."
"Happo you ever," interrupted the plain citizen, "chased the last car on a rainy night?"

Important to Mothers

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. H. H. H. In Use For Over 30 Years. The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Real Reform.

Knicker—What is your idea of municipal government?
Tocker—First provide an auto and then create an office to fill it.

For Red, Itching Eyelids, Crusts, Styes

Falling Eyelashes and All Eyes That Need Care Try Murine Eye Remedy. Assure the Tubes—Try Murine Eye Remedy. Assure the Tubes—Try Murine Eye Remedy. Assure the Tubes—Try Murine Eye Remedy. Chicago.

Kind words are often wasted where a swift kick would have been more effective.

Stomach Blood and Liver Troubles

Much sickness starts with weak stomach, and consequent poor, impoverished blood. Nervous and pale-people lack good, rich, red blood. Their stomachs need purifying, after all, a man can be no stronger than his stomach. A remedy that makes the stomach strong and the liver healthy and temperate. It does all a woman needs and more than she expects. Made with 1, 2, and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner sizes can be had with or without Cabinet.
Every dealer everywhere; if not at yours, write for Descriptive Circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated)

ROOSEVELT RETURNS AND IS GIVEN AN OVATION SELDOM EQUALED

The Mighty Traveler Goes Buoyantly Through a Long and Trying Reception-Parade, Showing Lively Interest in Everything American

The White Company Receives Unique Compliment for the Sturdy Reliability of Its Steam Car From Mr. Roosevelt and Family

Theodore Roosevelt and Party in White Steamer.

After fifteen months' absence, exactly as scheduled, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt disembarked from the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, Saturday morning, June 18, at 11 a. m. To the keen disappointment of a large group of newspaper correspondents, Mr. Roosevelt absolutely refused, as heretofore, to be interviewed or to talk on political subjects, but his rapid fire of questions showed the same virile interest in public affairs as before.

If the welcome tendered by the vast throng may be considered a criterion upon which to base a "return from Elba," surely there was no discordant note in the immense reception-parade, nor in the wildly clamorous crowd which cheered at every glimpse and hung on his very word. The incidents of the day in New York were many, but perhaps none better illustrated the nervous energy and vitality of the man, the near-mania to be up-and-doing, which he has brought back to us, than the discarding of horses and carriages for the swifter and more reliable automobiles. The moment the Roosevelt family and dread having to prepare an elaborate dinner because they are not sufficiently strong to stand over an intensely hot coal range. This is especially true in summer. Every woman takes pride in the table she sets, but often it is done at tremendous cost to her own vitality through the weakening effect of cooking on a coal range in a hot kitchen.

Many Women who are Splendid Cooks

It is no longer necessary to wear yourself out preparing a fine dinner. Even in the heat of summer you can cook a large dinner without being worn out.

New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-stove

Gives no outside heat, no smell, no smoke. It will cook the biggest dinner without heating the kitchen or the cook. It is immediately lighted and immediately extinguished. It can be changed from a slow to a quick fire by turning a handle. There's no drudgery connected with it, no coal to carry, no wood to chop. You don't have to wait fifteen or twenty minutes till its fire gets going. Apply a light and it's ready. By simply turning the wick up or down you get a slow or intense heat on the bottom of the pot, pan, kettle or oven, and nowhere else. It has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot, drop shelves for coffee, teapot or saucepan, and even a rack for towels. It saves time, worry, health and temper. It does all a woman needs and more than she expects. Made with 1, 2, and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner sizes can be had with or without Cabinet.

Every dealer everywhere; if not at yours, write for Descriptive Circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated) that follows taking a dose of castor oil, salts or calomel, is about the worst you can endure—Ugh—it gives one the creeps. You don't have to have it—CASCARETS move the bowels—tone up the liver—without these bad feelings. Try them.

STOCKERS & FEEDERS Up-Set Sick Feeling

DAISY FLY KILLER

planned especially to destroy a bill of flies. It is the best in the world. Millions boxes a month.

W. N. U., SIOUX CITY, NO. 29-1910.

Readers of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

M. Spiesberger & Son Co. Wholesale Millinery
The Best in the West OMAHA, NEB.

PATENTS Watson H. Coleman, Washington, D. C. Sole U. S. Patent Office.

DEFIANCE STARCH best to work with and starches clothes most.