HE'D GET THE APPLE.

Eddie—Say, mom, give Jessie an apple.
Mamma—Then you'll want one, too, Eddie—No. Just give it to Jessie. We are going to play Adam and Eve, and she is going to tempt me.

Aims and the Man.
"Sure Father Flaherty was a good man," Mr. Murphy said of the deceased parish priest. "He hated sin but he loved the sinner, and he was all compassion and patience and wisdom. There never was another like 'im 'er holdin' up hope to th' poor battered man that had any desire 'r good."
"Faith," said he to Con Meehan, th' toime th' bh'y was down an' out, "faith, this soide av paradise 'tist all beginnin' again, over an' over, an' th' toimes over!"
"An' that keen," continued Mr. Murphy, "was never worth while to keep back part av th' price av th' land! Wild a twinkle in his eye he'd see clean through any Ananias that iver walked."
"An' gin'rous!" Mr. Murphy's voice dropped to a lower key and his eyes were wet as he added, "His hand was always in his pocket, an' when they prepared him 'r burial they found his right arm longer than his left w'ld stretch 't out to th' poor."—Youth's Companion.

Didn't Care for Expenses.
They were seated at the breakfast table.
"John, dear," said the young wife, "this is my birthday."
"I'm glad you mentioned it, darling," rejoined her husband. "I'll buy you a present the first thing when I get downtown."
"Well," she said, "I hope you won't get any cheap 98-cent affair."
"Of course I won't," he replied. "Why, I would be ashamed to present you with anything that cost less than a dollar."

Back to the Tall Timber.
Alfred—Are you going to pass your vacation at the seashore?
Gilbert—No, thank you. It's the woods for mine this year.
Alfred—Don't like the shore, eh?
Gilbert—Oh, I like it well enough, but it's too risky. I passed my vacation there last year and had several narrow escapes.
Alfred—From drowning?
Gilbert—No; summer girls. Seven of them proposed to me.

HARD TO PLEASE
Regarding the Morning Cup.
"Oh how hard it was to part with coffee, but the continued trouble with constipation and belching was such that I finally brought myself to leave it off."
"Then the question was, what should we use for the morning drink? Tea was worse for us than coffee; chocolate and cocoa were soon tired of; milk was not liked very well, and hot water we could not endure."
"About two years ago we struck upon Postum and have never been without it since."
"We have seven children. Our baby now eighteen months old would not take milk, so we tried Postum and found she liked it and it agreed with her perfectly. She is today, and has here, one of the healthiest babies in the State."
"I use about two-thirds Postum and one-third milk and a teaspoon of sugar, and put it into her bottle. If you could have seen her eyes sparkle and hear her say "good" today when I gave it to her, you would believe me that she likes it."
"If I was matron of an infants' home, every child would be raised on Postum. Many of my friends say, 'You are looking so well!' I reply, 'I am well; I drink Postum. I have no more trouble with constipation, and know that I owe my good health to God and Postum.'"

"I am writing this letter because I want to tell you how much good Postum has done us, but if you know how I shrink from publicity, you would not publish this letter, at least not over my name."
Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."
Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Sheep are excellent farm cleaners.
The bruise on an apple is injurious.
Lice and mites come with warm weather.
Tie the grape vines to the trellis wires before the vines begin to run.
No well bred farmer ever contents himself with scrub stock or poor crops.
It is a sad mistake for a man to make a good crop of grass into poor hay.
Pure fresh air, day and night, is one of the prime essentials for keeping fowls in good health.
Most separators do their best work with the milk at a temperature of from 85 degrees to 95 degrees Fahrenheit.
When the cream has been held at churning temperature for a period of two or three hours, it is ready to be churned.
A good way to keep manure for the garden is to fill a large box, turning it over with a fork about once a week and keeping it moist.
The government is sending out experts to various parts of the country to teach fruit growers the best methods of spraying their trees.
When shrubs are first planted they should be headed back one-half or more, but after they become established they should be allowed to branch at will.
One of the prominent symptoms of shoulder lameness in horses is a difficulty of lifting and extending the limb, which is particularly noticeable when the patient is urged to trot.
The flea beetle is a small, metallic blue insect which is destructive to the fruit both as the larva and the adult. Spraying with arsenate of lead or paris green is generally effective.
Some of the amber honeys are made from the aster, goldenrod, boneseed, queen of the meadow, heartsease, wild sunflower, Spanish needle, succinea, magnolia and marigold.
The earliest sown lettuce should be of some of the loose growing varieties. For summer use plant cabbage lettuce, or heading varieties, as the leaves during the warm season will be whiter and more crisp.
Soy beans shed their leaves before the grain begins to ripen; therefore when they are desired the plants must be cut when half or more of the pods are fully grown, but before the beans begin to harden.
It is a well known fact among farmers and fruit growers that blackberries improve the physical nature of the soil through their root action. When they are removed from the apple orchard the soil is left in ideal condition for the outer feeding roots of the apple trees.
While it is conceded that permanent maintenance of soil fertility without live stock is possible, it is not practicable as a statewide policy, because it is not the highest type of agriculture and because few farmers can be induced to comply with all the conditions necessary to make it effective.
Plant canna one to two feet apart, depending altogether if they be dwarf or the tall-growing sort. They like very rich soil and plenty of water during the growing season. A mulch of straw manure will help to conserve the water that is given them. Cut off all the seed pods as they form.
Root plants may be transplanted, but it is not advisable unless it were in the case of extra early beets started in the hotbed or turnip-rooted radishes lifted out at thinning time. The roots are usually ill shaped, yet their table quality is not injured. Long varieties always become distorted and are not marketable.
Although rape can be used as a soil-crop, and is so used in many places, it is doubtful if it will supplant other plants for this purpose. Its chief use is for pasture, especially for hogs and sheep. Geese and other fowl will do well upon such pastures, and those who are raising poultry as a chief industry will find a field of rape a useful adjunct. It cannot be recommended for curing as a dry fodder or for silage. It is so succulent that it cures with difficulty, and it cannot be compared to corn for silage.
Fowls to lay eggs that will hatch out the best chicks must have as nearly natural conditions as possible—plenty of outdoor exercise, except in wet and bad weather, plenty of fresh air and light in the hen-house, cleanliness, sunshine and a variety of vegetables, animal and mineral food, such as wild birds secure in the open fields and forest. Free range is best unless the housing and yarding conditions meet all the natural requirements. The house for breeders should be tight and dry in the floor, roof and three side walls, but fully open in front for the admission of an abundance of fresh air and sunshine.

Ripen cream properly before churning.
There is a scarcity of good dairy cows.
The cherry tree should be headed low.
Feed all of the hens all they will eat of wheat and other nourishing feeds.
A very important part of dairying is to make it profitable all the year around.
Preventive and destructive measures are both necessary in combating hog lice.
In order to keep fowls healthy we must breed for health just as we would for any other desired quality.
When the young poults begin to get their long wing flight feathers, they require extra care and attention.
For feeding lambs to be used for breeding purposes preference should be given to bran, oats and linseed meal.
A well-ventilated and light and dry cellar is the best place for the incubator in operation, as it is less subject to change of temperature than any other part of the house.
For two or three years after planting the ground among ornamental shrubs should be spaded and the surface cultivated to keep down weeds and grass and to conserve moisture.
Some states prohibit the importation of dairy and breeding cattle until they are tuberculin tested, but permit as yet unrestricted sale of stock within its boundaries.
Rape is especially valuable for breeding ewes in midsummer, when the pastures begin to fail, as the succulent feed keeps up the supply of milk for the lambs.
Never overfeed or feed pepper or other conditioners to the hens you expect to furnish eggs for hatching. If you do, infertile eggs and weak chicks will be the result.
The Wisconsin experiment station finds lime is deficient in much of the grain rations fed to dairy cows and hogs. Hogs fed on phosphates and bone mash, made consistent and profitable gains.
The table value of both lettuce and radishes depends largely upon a quick growth under moderately cool conditions. For this reason the soil should be very fine of texture and fertile to stimulate the most rapid growth.
A grape vine to bear well must be cultivated and carefully pruned each year, cutting back to two, three, or not more than four canes, and carefully pinching off surplus young shoots during the summer.
There is something in sulting the corn to the soil. Trying to suit the soil to the corn is a tough proposition, as many a man who has tried corn adapted to bottom soil on thinner upland has found to his sorrow.
The poultry products of the United States are just on a par with wheat and hay. The combined value of the three last year was around two billion dollars, an average of over 671 millions each.
A mixture of salt, two parts, and ashes, one part, should be put in the salting box at least once each week. The ashes should be rich in charcoal. The cows require a great deal of charcoal and cannot do their best without it.
Where manure is accumulated in stables and lots, and is properly saved, it goes on the land more evenly, as a rule, which is an important consideration where a man is endeavoring to keep up the land's fertility and get as much out of it as possible at the same time.
The floor and walls of the dairy barn where the cows are milked must be free from dust and dirt; the cows must be brushed and their udders sponged off with a damp cloth previous to milking and the milkers themselves must have clean hands and clothes.
Always market your butter regularly at current market prices. Give your customers pure, sweet, fresh butter and your reputation as a good butter maker will soon be established. When your butter is held until it is old and stale it is not wanted and your reputation suffers as well as your pocket.
A foal may be raised on cow's milk if the latter is sweetened with sugar or molasses at the rate of two teaspoonsful per pint and three table-spoonfuls of lime water are added at first. Give a cupful every hour at first and gradually increase amount and decrease meals to six and then to four feeds a day.
At the present time open-front poultry houses are very popular and are giving very satisfactory results. Such buildings have part or the whole of the south front covered only by fine mesh wire netting and open at all times to the weather. Fowls housed in these open-front buildings are very rarely subject to disease and prove remarkably productive. They are much less affected by weather changes than birds confined in the old-fashioned, tightly-closed buildings.
Some persons advocate cutting the young potted plants loose from the mother plant as soon as they take root, while others allow them to remain attached until cold weather. Let them remain attached a month, when they are cut loose and become independent plants. The young plants must be kept well watered during the hot dry season of midsummer, as one drying out of the tender rootlets is fatal. After they are established in the pots they can be mulched with straw or meadow hay.

HOME TOWN HELPS

MAIL ORDER TRUST METHODS

Advertised Goods Usually Barely With in Letter of Attractive Catalogue and Circulars.

Monopoly thrives and prospers on substitution and fraud. The large mail order houses sell their goods from vivid pictures and glowing descriptions. They pay, and can well afford to pay, more to those who make their catalogues, their pictures and descriptions than to the working men and laborers who manufacture the goods they sell. The cardinal principle of their business is to determine a price and description which will be most attractive to the purchaser. They then figure to produce an article which barely fits within the letter of their circular, and at as low a cost as possible, so as to bring to themselves the greatest margin of profit. You who thus purchase these goods sacrifice your honor and patriotism at the shrine of money. You have robbed your wife and children of part of their society and education for the sake of a few pennies.
You are, after all, an American, says the Newcomerstown (O.) News; you believe in American institutions; you decried anarchy and strive in the main to uphold American ideas. Why not seek to to promote local home trade? Why not unite with your fellow men to defeat the seemingly irresistible progress of this monopoly? Your neighbors are doing so; you, at least, will not be behind them. Perhaps it may be said of Smith, or Brown, or Jones down the road that they are miserly and close and will not join in anything for the public good, but you will not allow the same to be said of you. You desire to be always in the fore in any movement which will better your town or neighborhood. When you realize what this movement means you will certainly be one of the first to give it your support.

ORDERING AN AX BY MAIL
How the Hardware Merchant Illustrated the Disadvantages of Trading Away From Home.
"A rather amusing story is told of a man who went into a hardware store in a neighboring town and wished to purchase an ax," says an exchange. "Being shown the article and informed that the price was $1.10, he said, 'Why, I can get the same kind of an ax from a mail-order house for 90 cents.' 'Very well,' said the hardware man, 'I'll give it to you for the same price provided that you will do with it.' 'All right,' replied the customer as he handed over a dollar bill, the merchant giving him ten cents in change. 'Now,' said the hardware man, 'I want 25 cents more to pay express charges,' which the customer gave him. 'How much did your ax cost you?' 'One dollar and fifteen cents,' the man answered. 'Very good. Now give me five cents more for money order fees and postage,' which the customer had to hand over. 'Now how much did your ax cost you?' 'One dollar and twenty cents,' said the purchaser. 'Not so cheap after all,' said the merchant, whereupon he picked up the ax, put it back on the shelf and told the customer to call for it in ten days as that would be as soon as he could get it if he had ordered it from the mail order house."

Would Make Their Own Iron.
A recent report issued by the department of mines, Canada, draws attention to the possibilities of establishing a local iron industry on the coast of British Columbia. At present the cost of transportation of manufactured iron from Great Britain and elsewhere is very heavy, and for some time past the question of local production has been often discussed. The report referred to states that although the quantity of ore in sight cannot be set down, good material, consisting largely of magnetites, is certainly available, while there is an abundant supply of fuel and fluxes at present in existence, and water transport is largely available, the estimated cost of producing a ton of iron is given as $16, and the approximate cost at present of Eglington No. 1 delivered at the works, Victoria, as $24 to $28 a ton.

Buy From Those Who Advertise.
When a store advertises it shows that it values your trade enough to ask for it; your convenience is considered to the extent of making it easy for you to know what is offered in needed goods; the store shows its willingness to go on record in its statements about its stock and service; the advertising of an article as being of a certain quality, and at a stated price is, in a sense, a contract between the seller and the prospective buyer; the prices of advertised goods must be so low that competition cannot meet them; advertising increases sales, enabling the store to accept smaller profits. These are some of the reasons why you should buy from stores that advertise. There are other reasons, and although not stated, you profit by them.

King of Lobsters Caught.
What is probably the largest lobster ever caught in Prince Edward Island was taken from Little Harbor, near Chepstow, Kings county the other day by a fisherman there. This mammoth lobster is now in the possession of J. J. Hornby of Charlottetown, and its dimensions are as follows: Circumference of body, 21 inches; length from tip of tail to eye, 21 1/2 inches; length over all, 37 1/2 inches; width of claw, 12 inches; gross weight, 17 pounds. Mr. Hornby is having it mounted and it will probably be placed on exhibition.

Don't Knock.
Nothing is gained by knocking your competitor. The blows return as boomerangs upon your own head.

A TERRIBLE CASE OF DROPSY.

Lebanon, Ind., Man Gives Vivid Description of His Suffering.

John T. Anderson, 613 W. Main St., Lebanon, Ind., says: "I was taken suddenly with agonizing pains through my kidneys, followed by a stoppage of the urine. I was soon in such agony I could not lie in bed and for weeks sat in a chair propped up by pillows. The urine was mostly blood and had to be drawn with a catheter. My limbs were swollen to twice their normal size. The doctor finally said he could do no more and my family gave up hope. It was at this time I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and gradually improved until well. I gained twenty-eight pounds and have had no trouble since."
Remember the name—Doan's.
For sale by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

IT WAS ONCE HIS.

"You don't remember me, do you?"
"No; but that umbrella has a familiar look."
SOFT, WHITE HANDS
May Be Obtained in One Night.
For preserving the hands as well as for preventing redness, roughness, and chapping, and imparting that velvety softness and whiteness much desired by women Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, is believed to be superior to all other skin soaps. For those who work in corrosive liquids, or at occupations which tend to injure the hands, it is invaluable.
Treatment—Bathe and soak the hands on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of Cuticura Soap. Dry and anoint freely with Cuticura Ointment, and in severe cases spread the Cuticura Ointment on thin pieces of old linen or cotton. Wear during the night old, loose gloves, or a light bandage of old cotton or linen to protect the clothing from stain. For red, rough, and chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, and shapeless nails with painful finger ends, this treatment is most effective. Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole proprietors, Boston, Mass.

The Stomach Hold.
Col. H. N. Renouf, at the "Old Guard" banquet at Delmonico's, emphasized the importance to an army of a good commissariat.
"You have perhaps heard," he said, "of the company of privates that a patriotic lady entertained one Memorial day to dinner."
"It was a good dinner, and at its end a pretty maid servant entered with a superb dessert."
"Dessert, sergeant?" she said to the stalwart young soldier at the head of the table.
"Desert!" the sergeant answered. "When I can get eats like this for rothir? Nixie! Not me!"

Confused Impressions.
"Of course, you know the story of William Tell," said the serious citizen.
"To tell you the truth," replied Mr. Cumrox, "I'm not clear about him. I can't exactly remember whether he was a great marksman or a famous opera singer."
DR. MARTEL'S FEMALE PILLS.
Seventeen Years the Standard.
Prescribed and recommended for Women's Ailments. A scientifically prepared remedy of proven worth. The result from their use is quick and permanent. For sale at all Drug Stores.
Women in Love.
"Women in love are generally troublesome and persecuting." Such is the reported opinion of M. Emile Faquet. And if a French critic does not understand the subject, of whom shall we seek understanding?
Small Job.
Him—I was confused for a bit, I confess, but it took me only a moment to collect my wits—
Her—Yes, it couldn't take any longer than that. Go on.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cures colic, soothes the stomach.
Many of us have cause to be thankful for what we don't get.

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.
"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.
It Makes Weak Women Strong. It Makes Sick Women Well. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this one—take ready, a it contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

She Lives in Bingville.
A south Missouri paper is carrying this ad: "Attractive woman, not a day over thirty, would be pleased to correspond with eligible man. Not absolutely necessary that he should be young. Would prefer one with property, but one with a good paying position would be satisfactory. The young lady is of medium height, has brown hair and gray eyes, not fat, although, most decidedly, she is not skinny. Her friends say she is a fine looking woman. Object matrimony. Reason for this advertisement, the young woman lives in a little dinky town, where the best catches are the boys behind the counters in the dry goods and clothing stores, and every one of them is spoken for by the time he is out of his short pants. Address Hazel Eyes, Box 23, Bingville, Mo."—Kansas City Star.

Casey at the Bat.
This famous poem is contained in the Coca-Cola Baseball Record Book for 1910, together with records, schedules for both leagues and other valuable baseball information compiled by authorities. This interesting book sent by the Coca-Cola Co., of Atlanta, Ga., on receipt of 2c stamp for postage. Also copy of their booklet "The Truth About Coca-Cola" which tells all about this delicious beverage and why it is so pure, wholesome and refreshing. Are you ever hot—tired—thirsty? Drink Coca-Cola—it is cooling, relieves fatigue and quenches the thirst. At soda fountains and carbonated in bottles—5c everywhere.
Incorruptible.
The lady of the house hesitated. "Are my answers all right?" she asked.
"Yes, madam," replied the census man.
"Didn't bother you a bit, did it?"
"No, madam."
"Feel under some obligations to me, don't you?"
"Yes, madam."
"Then, perhaps you won't mind telling me how old the woman next door claims to be?"
"Good day, madam," said the census man.
Old Advice.
Manager—You never get this case right. Your business with the sweet peas is all wrong and you forget when you are to speak—you get your lines all mixed up.
Actress—All right, sir, I'll be more attentive and fix the sweet peas and try to get my lines in the right place.
Manager—Your course is very simple. Just mind your peas and cues.—Baltimore American.

Awfully Busy.
Jim—A stitch in time saves nine.
Tom—Who said that?
Jim—Gee! Ain't you read your Bible?
Tom—Nope; I ain't even had time to read the sporting page this morning yet.—Cleveland Leader.
