IT WORKED. From the North Nebraska Eagle, July 23, 1909:

"Although the Eagle will probably receive o more favors this year from the Dakota County Pioneer and Old Settlers' association than has previously been handed it (which has been nothing), we will, nevertheless, continue to be the biggest booster or a successful picule the association has One or two peanut-headed individuals con nected with the Old Settlers' association are seeing to it that the Eagle does not re ceive any consideration at the hands of the society, presumably all because at different times the Engle has suggested that it thought it might be well for the society after each picule, to make a public financia. statement. Everyone that can be is touched for their yearly dues on Old Settlers' day and many other means are resort ed to to secure funds, which is right and coper. But the picule is a county affair and the people of the county who support it are entitled to know from what source money is received and to whom and for what it is paid out. The Eagle should think the officers themselves would want to show he society's members that they were conucting their business squarely and honorably. Last year the privilege of printing the official program was let to The Herald on payment of $15, it being the highest, and in fact the only sealed bid handed in as requested. This year the same privilege was given to the Eagle for $10, without even askfor bids on that particular privilege. Do you see the point?
