IS LAZIEST OF MEN

Lies in Bed for Days at a Time, His Wife Declares.

Makes No Protest When Spouse So Described Him In Tottenham Police Court Recently-Cannot Find Work and Is Healthy.

London.-Though Archibald Depau of Tottenham has never claimed on his own behalf to be "the laziest man in the world," he made no protest when his wife so described him at

Tottenham police court recently. The court was much amused by the recital of his misdeeds, or lack of deeds, and the magistrate advised Mrs. Depan to leave him and then summon him for maintenance,

"How can I leave him with the children?" asked Mrs. Depau. "For two years he hasn't worked and won't try to get work. Through the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children he was sent to prison for six months last summer for

"While he was away I was allowed youngest children, and with the help of my son Robert, who is twenty, and a liftman in the city, we got along all right. But five weeks ago Archibald came out again-they knocked off a month and gave him a few shillings wages when he left Pentonville, so he must have worked there.

"Since then he hasn't done a stroke, even in the house, and the five shillings a week has stopped. I can't feed him, and we are worse off than ever. He used to lie in bed for weeks, and once when I lifted him up, bed and all., and put him out of the house, he crawled in again through the window. He doesn't lie abed so much now, but he has only been out one afternoon these five weeks.

"We used to respect him once. He was brought up as a waiter, and his father kept a hotel. He hasn't any trade except waiting and bartending, but he could get something."

Archibald himself, the world's laziest, wearily sauntered into the room and gazed at the visitor with lack-luster eyes. "I don't sleep when I'm in bed," he said gently, very

Where Millions Are Entombed. The catacombs at Rome were the burial places of the early Christians. They are about 580 miles in extent and are said to have contained 6,000,000 bodies. During the persecutions of the Christians under Nero and other Roman emperors the catacombs were used for hiding places. Under Diocletian the catacombs were crowded with those for whom there was no safety in the face of the day. The art of the catacombs is unique and most interesting. Simple designs are etched in the slabs which seal the tombs. Now and then are small chapels whose paintings are to be found. All are Bible illustrations, so that the catacombs may be said to be a pictorial Bible in effect.-The Christian Herald.

Tuberculosis in the Prisons. The fact that 100,000 prisoners are discharged from the jails and prisons of the country annually, and that from 10 to 15 per cent, of them have tuberculosis, makes the problem of providing special places for their treatment while they are confined a serious one. So important is the problem that the Prison association of New York in cooperation with the State Charities Ald a special campaign for the prevention of tuberculosis in the penal institutions of the state, and will seek to enlist the co-operation of all prison physicians and anti-tuberculosis societies
