Execution of Professor Ferrer Belleved to Have Prompted Deed-Murderer Commits Suicide-King Alfonso Weeps When Death Is Told.

Madrid, Nov. 13.-Premier Canale les of Spain was assassinated by an anarchist in this city Tuesday. The premier was shot to death as he stood upon the steps of the home office.

The assassin who subsequently com mitted suicide was identified as Manual Pardias Zarrate, a dangerous radical who has been under police surveil-

News of assassination spread at once throughout the city and created intense excitement. When King Alfonso heard of it he is said to have wept with grief.

The anarchist, who had evidently been waiting for some time to get a chance to fire upon the premier, rushed forward as though to address a petition to the government official when he appeared on the steps of the home

Because of the dangerous state of political unrest in Spain, the premier had been warned repeatedly to retain a guard about his person, but Senor Canalejas paid no attention to this injunction and frequently went about unattended. He had received a number of death threats. The police believe that the assassination is a direct outcome of the execution of Professor Ferrer, the Republican who was condemned and put to death for his radical writings about a year and a half ago.

Zarrate shot himself with the same revolver that had taken the life of Senor Canalejas

The assassination was witnessed by a number of persons, but happened so quickly that they could give no aid.

As the anarchist sprang toward Premier Canalejas he pulled a handkera concealed revolver. At the instant Senor Canalejas slightly turned his head. Zarrate, taking quick aim, fired and the bullet struck the premier behind the right ear.

Before Senor Canalejas toppled a second shot was fired, which also struck him in the head. As several soldiers who stood beside the door of the home office sprang forward Zarrate turned the revolver against his heart and pulled the trigger. The two bodies fell within a few feet of each other. Medical aid was at once summoned and soldiers were brought from the barracks to prevent the escape of any accomplices of the assassin who might

Although the physicians arrived within a few moments Premier Conalejas was already dead. In his hand he clasped some papers which he had been carrying when shot. The first shot had apparently been fatal.

They of the victorious Bulgarian forces in trained their artillery on the gin, and knocked roof and rafters down upon us, but luckily the upright post stood, and it afforded us protection.

After the smoke had cleared away we peeped out and saw the rebels, with two officers riding up and down their lines, excitedly giving orders. They would stop occasionally and take their field glasses and look us over as if we were a whole army. I told my partner that the man on the white horse was Forrest, and that when they made the charge I would attend to him. He was to take the officer on the black horse. We were waiting and watching for them to come, and if they had I don't believe that Forrest would have lived to bother anyone after that. We were in that gin about two and a half hours before we could venture out. 'We were reprimanded for not reporting sooner, but it simply meant death to try to get back to our lines before

The next day our army fell back, and the Seventy-second Ohio brought. up the rear. The march was a pretty hot one for us, but we took care of Forrest all right after that.

Detail to Be Baptized.

At the beginning of the Civil war Colonel Brown and Colonel Smith were raising regiments in Wisconsin. One day Colonel Smith's chaplain paid a visit to Colonel Brown. On leaving he stated that the cause of religion was prospering in Colonel Smith's regiment; that no longer ago than the last Sabbath he had baptized ten of Colonel Smith's men.

"Sergeant," exclaimed Colonel Brown, "make up a detail of fifteen men to go and be baptized. I'll be blamed if I allow Colonel Smith's regiment to get ahead of mine in point of religion."
