Sioux City Journal, 29th: Died—In South Sioux City, Neb, March 28, 1913, Marie Morris, of pneumonia, aged 5 years. She is survived by her parents, Mr and Mrs John Morris, two brothers and two sisters. Funeral announcement later. Alfred W Snyder was given a decree of divorce from Harriet Snyder, to whom he was married in Homer, Neb, in 1892. In 1910, the husband testified, his wife left him and went to Draper, S. D. to live with her parents. Since that time she has written several letters declining to return to her husband.

Autolous Larsen and Eleanor Murphy returned on Sunday to Lincoln, where they will take up their studies at the university. Mrs E X Crowley returned to her home at Lincoln, Sunday, after a week's visit with her parents, Mr and Mrs Timothy Murphy. Garrett Mason informed us last week that in the near future he and his family will move to Doyle, Cal, to make their home. Mr Mason is interested in the mining business and will take charge of a mine. The many friends are sorry to see them leave after being such a long time residents of Homer. Success is the wish from their friends. On Saturday Grandma Priest was 95 years old. A number of her friends gathered at W M Lake's to wish her a happy birthday and have a social time. Refreshments were served and a good time enjoyed by all present. She is in fairly good health and quite active for a woman of her age. Mrs Priest is one of the oldest settlers in Dakota county and has a host of friends who will wish her many more happy birthdays.

Emerson Enterprise: Wilshire I Davis and Miss Rosa Linafelter were quietly married at Dakota City Tuesday. Miss Julia Davis and Ray Linafelter accompanied them. Particulars of the happy event are somewhat meager. The usual congratulations are extended. James Boles Eby, a veteran of the civil war, was born in Chambersburg, Penn, on September 21, 1837, and died March 20, 1913, aged 75 years, 5 months and 20 days. He was married August 27, 1866, to Margaret Ann Cavanaugh, at Andrew, Ia. They resided twelve years in Laurel, Neb, where his wife died September 2, 1909. Since then he has resided with his daughter, in Emerson, and died at her home. There were five children, of whom B W Eby, of Oregon, and Mrs M J Oosterling, of Emerson, Neb, survive him. Mr Eby was one of the first volunteers of the civil war, going from Iowa. He served until the close of the war. The remains were sent to Laurel, Friday, and the funeral was held from the Methodist church at that place at 10:30 Saturday morning. Interment was made in the Laurel cemetery.

Sioux City Journal, 28th: The infant child of Mr and Mrs John Morris, of South Sioux City, Neb, is dangerously ill with pneumonia, complicated with meningitis. Miss Helen Kearney was hostess yesterday at a 1 o'clock luncheon, entertaining the members of the O U Bridge club and a number of guests, including Miss Margaret Baum of Omaha; Miss Jessie Mantry, of Fairfield, Ia, and Miss Ethel Townes, of Des Moines. Baskets of pink tulips centered the tables, where appointments were carried out in pink and white. The after luncheon bridge game was played at eight tables. Awards at the game were won by Miss Louise Perkins, Mrs Martha Johnson and Mrs L C Hudson. As the aftermath of her marriage at the age of 14 years, Mrs Flossie Drago yesterday was given a decree of divorce from Charles Drago. Mrs Drago will not be 16 until July, her parents testified at the hearing before Judge George Jepson. The child wife recited on the stand yesterday that for most of her married life her father, David Taylor, has supplied the Drago family with provisions and fuel. During the past winter Drago bought coal costing $1.50, according to the testimony. Drago has been arrested and tried in police court for abusing his wife. The couple was married at Dakota City, Neb, on December 14, 1911, and lived together until February 6, 1913. The mother was given the custody of her daughter, Fay Vivian Drago, eight months old.

Winnabago Chieftain: Jesse Mansfield was a Sioux City passenger last evening. Geo McBeath, of Dakota City, was in Winnabago Saturday on business. Mrs Fred Brassfield and Mrs Drake were down from Homer Saturday. Johnnie Ashford returned to St Paul, Minn, Tuesday evening, after a short vacation at home, from his college studies. Mrs Thos Ashford and Mrs D B Stidworthy, of Homer, and Mrs C F Nichols were guests yesterday at the home of Mrs John Ashford. Mesdames John Ashford and Louis Herman went to the scene of the great disaster in Omaha and at Ralston the first of the week, the former to see the ruins of the home of her sister, Mrs Holly, who was a former resident of this place, and the latter to learn if her son, Bernard, was safe. Mr and Mrs Holly were uninjured, with the exception of slight bruises on the former, although their home was blown down. The depot at Ralston, where Bernard was working, was razed to the ground by the terrific storm of Sunday evening. Bernard saw the cloud coming and took the money from the depot and hurried to the house where he was boarding. When he reached the place he took hold of the door knob, but he could get no farther. He could not for some reason open the door, and he clung to the door knob, while the wind whipped him from one side of the door to the other. After the storm had spent its fury, he discovered that the wall wherein was the door to which he had been clinging, was all there was left of the building. He was uninjured. The depot agent was killed. Bernard accompanied his mother home, for his job had actually been blown away. Sioux City Journal, 31st: Mrs Nelson Deirup, 80 years old, of Homer, Neb, died yesterday at a hospital of injuries received from a fall several weeks ago, when her right hip was broken. Mrs Deirup was the foster mother of Mrs S J Krake, 623 Cecilia avenue, Morningside. The funeral will be held Tuesday morning from the Nelson undertaking parlors. The body will be taken to Homer, Neb, for burial. Mrs Amilda Irwin, one of the oldest residents of South Sioux City, and familiarly known to Sioux Cityans and residents of Dakota county as "Mother Irwin," died yesterday morning of appendicitis at her home. She was 78 years old. Despite her age, Mrs Irwin was a rugged woman and was in the best of health until this winter. She was taken ill Christmas day while visiting her nephew, Don Dilley and family, of Cedar Falls, Ia. She returned home and because of her feebleness she was forced to take to her bed a week ago. Mrs Irwin is survived by three brothers, Charles Dilley, Cornelious Dilley and Lorenz Dilley, of Transfer, Pa, and one sister, Miss Amanda Dilley, who lives in Pennsylvania. She was a cousin of E G Dilley, sheriff of Woodbury county. Mrs Irwin for many years resided alone in her home, about a block and one-half east of the combination bridge. She raised fruit, poultry and vegetables, selling the produce and products of her little farm. Many prominent families of Sioux City were her customers. Mrs Irwin always carried her wares to Sioux City, walking across the combination bridge. She hardly ever took a trolley car to come across the river. Weather never interfered with her in making regular trips to Sioux City. Mrs Irwin was born in Ohio. She was married in Ohio in 1863 to Chris Irwin, who had served in the civil war. They came west soon after the ceremony and located in South Sioux City, which then was known as Corvinton. Mrs Irwin had lived longer in South Sioux City than any other resident, with the exception of Nicholas Maher, who lived at her home. Mr Maher preceded her to the Nebraska town by a few months. Mrs Irwin's husband died in 1904. One son was born to the marriage—Wiley Irwin, who met an accidental death in 1878, when he was shot by a negro companion while playing Indian on the banks of Silverlake. The body was taken to the Westcott undertaking establishment. The funeral probably will be held in Sioux City. Arrangements will not be made until word is received from relatives in Pennsylvania.

The bride looked very attractive in a tailored suit of blue Bedford cord with hat and gloves to match.
