Almost Like a Face-to-Face Chat

Mr. Jones had gone to a distant city on business to be away for several days, and had left his wife on the farm with no companion, except a small child.

But she was not lonesome, for each day her husband called up for a few minutes' chat by Long Distance Bell Telephone.

The authorities of Sioux City are just getting next to the fact that residents of Sioux City owning autos are taking out their licenses in other states, thus avoiding excessive rates for tags and the tax which the Sioux City ordinance place on motor vehicles. It is pretty generally known that licenses have been issued in this county on this account.
The village board has decided to erect a building on the three lots purchased of Dr Maxwell just north of the Pizey law office. It will be built for use as a council chamber, with one room for storing the fire-fighting apparatus. It was also decided to put in two wells equipped with force pumps, one at the Van de Zedde corner and one at the fire house.
How would you like to go 235 miles for your daily water supply? That is what the city of Los Angeles, Cal, has done. While not making this trip daily, a gigantic aqueduct has just been completed, which will bring the water supply for the 400,000 inhabitants of Los Angeles across a desert and through a mountain range from the Sierra Nevada mountains. A story of this remarkable engineering feat may be found on another page of the Herald which you will find very interesting reading.
Considerable damage was done by the wind during the rain storm Monday night. A number of shade trees were broken off, and several barns and outbuildings near town suffered damage by the gale. At Crystal lake the wind played havoc with the bath house and other farm buildings. A barn at South Sioux City was blown to smithereens. The high board fence on the combination bridge suffered considerable damage, and the cable carrying the telephone lines across the bridge was broken.

Sioux City to Hear Orchestra.

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Wins Great Success in the East.

At Auditorium, Sioux City, May 29.
The eastern tour of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra in March, 1912, which included Chicago, Louisville, Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, New York and Buffalo, was a succession of artistic triumphs most gratifying to many admirers of Mr Oberholfer and the remarkable orchestra which he has brought to such a high degree of perfection.
It is most interesting to note the unanimity with which the New York critics and musicians commended the playing of the western orchestra, and the general feeling of surprise that Minneapolis should possess an orchestra rivaling the best in the country.
Mr Meltzer, considered by many the most able critic in New York, wrote as follows in The American: "It is safe to say that with the exception of the great Bostonian organization founded by Col Higginson, no body of musicians in this country which devotes itself to symphony has excelled the Minneapolis society. But for local pride I might be tempted to add—none has equaled it."
The following are some of the expressions elicited from other leading critics and musical authorities, and indicate that the enthusiasm of the great audience which listened to the concert was fully justified:
"The achievement of these musicians from Minneapolis has been simply astounding."—Alfred Hertz, Metropolitan Opera House Conductor.
"An orchestral performance of the first quality."—Irving Weil, Journal.
"A very able conductor and well trained musicians, worth hearing in a y place and at any time."—Sylvester Rawling, Evening World.
"Only the very best organizations afford as much pleasure, and they not always."—Henry E Krehbiel, Tribune.
"Many rubbed their eyes and ears and could scarcely believe that this northwestern city had so serious and spirited a symphony orchestra."—Edward Ziegler, Herald.
"The Minneapolis orchestra contains good material. Especially rich and solid were the lower strings."—Globe.
"A man capable of holding his own among the best conductors in America, and a body of players worthy of his talents."—Max Smith, Press.
"Mr Oberholfer is a conductor of ability and authority, a musician of sympathy and understanding."—Richard Aldrich, Times.
"Without doubt Emil Oberholfer, the conductor, deserves the highest encouragement for what he has accomplished."—The Sun.

Base Ball.

Dakota City won one and lost one game the past week. The high school team defeated the Homer high school on the local grounds last Friday afternoon by a score of 8 to 3. Heikes for the locals led the victors. Little on throughout the game, but errors in the last half of the ninth gave Homer three runs.
The Teddy Bears threw away a good game Sunday by presenting the Moore Clothing company team of Sioux City with five runs in the sixth and eighth innings, by banding errors. Reed, for Dakota City, struck out ten men, gave five bases on balls and batted two batters; while Corcoran struck out five Teddy Bears and gave six bases on balls. The visitors pulled off a triple play when they nailed McAllister's fly and caught the Lahr boys off first and third. Score by innings:
