THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE DELUGE

Jesus and the Apostles, History and Science, Support the Genesis Record.

The Deluge Philosophically Attested by History and Geology—Pastor Russell Defends Biblical Account—Higher Critics Held Responsible For Approaching Anarchy.

Brooklyn, February 2.—Pastor Russell today addressed the Brooklyn Congregation now generally known as "The Bible Students."

His text was, "As it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be in the days of the Son of Man."—Luke 17:26.

The address opened with a scathing arraignment of Higher Critics. Our richly endowed colleges, he declared, are undermining faith in the Bible, which means faith in a personal God, and substituting a scant recognition of the laws of Nature, devoid of sympathy or mercy.

Practically every minister graduated during the last twelve years has been a believer in human evolution. Disbelief in the Bible account of man's creation in God's image, means disbelief in a fall from that image, disbelief in the need of redemption and reconciliation, and disbelief in the necessity for the Restitution to be accomplished by Messiah's Kingdom.

Pastor Russell said that he does not question the sincerity of Higher Critics. His own experiences along the same line forty years ago give him great sympathy for them. He insisted, however, that it is not honorable for those who have abandoned the creeds to pose before the public as supporters of those creeds, able to draw his sermons, printed weekly in hundreds of newspapers, those desiring might continue with him the study of the subject.

Geology Confirms the Mosaic Deluge. The great difficulty heretofore has been to reconcile the theory of the Deluge with the shape of the earth. This has now been met. The Vallian theory respecting creation shows that when the earth was in a molten state, it threw off minerals in the form of gases, which on cooling, separated more or less, according to density, and must have constituted great rings or bands about the earth, similar to those of Saturn and Jupiter.

As the earth cooled, these rings acquired separate motions, because of their distance, but gravitated slowly toward the earth, the atmosphere preventing immediate precipitation. Gradually each would spread out, as a great canopy, gravitating toward the poles, because of centrifugal force. Finally the accumulation at the poles would overcome the resistance of the atmosphere, and cause precipitation.

Many such deluges occurred before man was created, and from the same mineral deposits. The last of these rings consisted of pure water, and spread out as a canopy when man was created.

Frozen in Solid Ice. Recently, in Siberia, a mammoth was found with grass between its teeth. A deer was found in polar regions with undigested grass in its stomach. Evidently the catastrophe which produced these results was sudden—such as would occur, according to the Vallian theory, said the Pastor.

The breaking of the canopy sent a great flood of water suddenly from the poles to the equator. Then came the glacial period, when icebergs floating down from polar regions cut deep valleys, etc.

As the cold at the poles was extreme, so was the heat at the equator. Ocean currents soon set in, which have gradually modified the arctic regions and brought the polar ice age to the equator toward the equator.

We naturally inquire, "Where was the ark? How was it kept? Faith answers that God undoubtedly protected it. And now Professor Wright tells us that the region about Assur contains passively deep, alluvial deposits, as if it had been a settling basin for the muddy waters of long ago."

A Good Investment. W D Magali, a well known merchant of Whittemound, Wis, bought a stock of Chamberlain's medicine so as to be able to supply them to his customers. After receiving them he was himself taken sick and says that one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was worth more to him than the cost of his entire stock of those medicines. Guard Your Children Against Bowel Trouble

Many children at an early age become constipated, and frequently serious consequences result. Not being able to realize his own condition, a child's bowels should be constantly watched, and a gentle laxative given when necessary. Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are especially well adapted to women and children. The Sisters of Christian Charity, 531 Charles St., Luzerne, Pa., who attend many cases of sickness say of them: "Some time ago we began using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and find that we like them very much. Their action is excellent and we are grateful for having been made acquainted with them. We have had good results in every case and the Sisters are very much pleased."

The form and flavor of any medicine is very important, no matter who is to take it. The taste and appearance are especially important when children are concerned. All parents know how hard it is to give the average child "medicine," even though the taste is partially disguised. In using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, however, this difficulty is overcome. The shape of the tablets, their appearance and candy-like taste at once appeal to any child, with the result that they are taken without objection.

The rich chocolate flavor and absence of other taste, make Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets the ideal remedy for children.

If the first box fails to benefit, the price is returned. Ask your druggist. A box of 25 doses costs only 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.
