INVENTION OF THE REVOLVER

Samuel Colt Invented First Wespon With Rotating Chamber Breech —His Career in Brief.

The first successful revolver, or pistol with a rotating chambered breech, was the invention of Samuel Colt, who was born at Hartford, Conn., ninetynine years ago. Colt was the son of a manufacturer, and his inventive ge-nus first found expression in his fa-ther's shop. He was sent to school at Amherst, Mass., but ran away to sea and made a voyage to India. On returning he was apprenticed to a chem-ist, but after which, under the name of "Dr. Coult," he visited all parts of the United States and Canada lecturing on chemistry. He was sitting in a deck chair when the end came. A deck steward had been with him but a few moments before his death and had taken his order for lunch. The mayor had marked the menu to indicate the dishes he desired. I was on the boat deck.

"I went below at lunch call to tell father that his lunch was ready. He had been taking his meals in one of the state rooms. He was seated in his chair, apparently asleep. I shook him gently, but he did not respond.

'His trained nurse, who had been with him ten minutes previously, was summoned, and the ship's surgeon, Doctor Hopper, was called. The mayor was given a hypodermic injection and artificial respiration was resorted to. But it was quickly apparent that he was beyond aid.

"The body was taken in charge by the ship's officers. It was embalmed and placed in a sealed casket.

"RUFUS W. GAYNOR." By the death of Mayor Gaynor, a Republican becomes chief executive of New York city. President Adolph L. Kline of the board of aldermen succeeds to the office.

When Tammany leader Charles F. Murphy, whom Mayor Gaynor two weeks ago denounced as a "political crook," heard of the city executive's death, he said :

"I am very much shocked. I know he went away from here very much run down in health. All I can say is I regret Mayor Gaynor's death."

Mrs. Gaynor was notified immediately of her husband's death. She was deeply grieved, but bore up bravely.
