"BOUND FOR WESTERN CANADA"

PRAIRIE SCHOONER SLOGAN, THAT STARTED FROM NEBRASKA.

Four horses abreast attached to a red painted prairie schooner, with windows and a protruding stovepipe, with the words, "Bound for Canada," on the schooner's side, was the object of considerable interest as it passed on the way northward from Nebraska a short time ago through the towns in Nebraska, South and North Dakota. After some weeks of strenuous traveling in this way, Mr. J. F. Jensen made the overland trip from Jameson, Nebraska, and with his little family made the regular customs entry at North Portal, in the province of Saskatchewan. Their destination was Willow Bunch, a district that Mr. Jensen had selected as one in which it was possible for him to work out his fortune. He located on a good half seeit some cattle that would fatten on the wild prairie grass that grows so luxuriously in that district. In addition to this his purpose was to cultivate a portion of it and raise wheat, oats, barley or flax. In short, a life devoted to mixed farming was what he had in view and it is easy to understand that he will make a success of it, and in a year or so will attach some more land holdings. Although his beginning may be small, it may safely be said that Mr. lonizing their work. It is probable Jensen, like thousands of others who that the excellent idea will spread have begun life in western Canada on from Paris all over the world," no more and with probably much less, will prosper. He will not be far from a line of railway. Schools will be close at hand and other social conditions so necessary in a new country are available.-Advertisement.

Letter From Brigadier-General Cutler to the Governor of Pennsylvania -Praise for Officer.

Apropos of the opening of the battle of Gettysburg, the National Tribune pablishes the following from Gen. Lysander Cutler: Headquarters, First Division, First Corps. Nov. 15, 1863.

To the Governor of Pennsylvania: In noticing in the papers today an account of the proposition for a national cemetery at Gettysburg for the men that fell there in July last, I am reminded that I have neglected a duty which I owe to one of your regiments, the Fifty-sixth, and its brave commander, Col. J. William Hofmann, That regiment is in the Second brigade of this division, and was at that time under my command. It was my fortune to be in the advance on the morning of July 1. When we came upon the ground in front of the enemy Colsecond in the column) got into a position a moment sooner than the others, the enemy advancing in line of battle within easy musket range. The atmosphere being a little thick, I took out my glass to examine the enemy, being a few paces in rear of Colonel Hofmann. He turned to me and inquired, "Is that the enemy?" My reply was, "Yes." Turning to his men commanded: "Ready! Right oblique! Aim-fire!" and the battle of Gettysburg was opened. The fire was followed by other regiments instantly. Still, that battle on the soll of Pennsylvania was opened by her own sons. and it is just that it should become a matter of history. When Colonel Hofmann gave the command "Aim!" I doubted whether the enemy was near enough to have the fire effective, and asked him if he was within range. Not hearing my question, he fired, and I received my reply in a shower of rebel bullets, by which many of the colonel's men were killed and wounded. My own horse and those of two of my staff were wounded at the same time. "I desire to say to your excellency that the Fifty-sixth is one of the very best regiments in the service, and that Colonel Hofmann is, without qualification, one of the best officers, brave, faithful and prompt, and a most excellent disciplinarian. I most earnestly hope that his faithful services may be suitably rewarded. I hope, also, that you will cause proper measures to be taken to give that regiment the credit, which is their due, of having opened that memorable battle. Very respectfully, your obediwith faking as the art business, espe- ent servant-L. Cutler, Brigadier Gen-

CAREFUL OF HIS OLD DRUM

Head of Instrument Was Made From the Skin of Sickly Lamb Given to Him by His Father.

A G. A. R. man who drummed through the Civil war made the drum he carried, and has it still. The head of the drum was made from the skin of a sheep which was given to him by his father when it was a sickly lamb. He cured the skin himself, stretching it on pegs, and while it was drying, he went into the woods, cut down a rock maple of the proper size, and from the trunk cut the hoops, which he carefully seasoned and adjusted. The drumsticks were made of hickory, polished to a satin smoothness by means of sandpaper and oil. No ancient violin maker ever fashioned his beloved instrument with greater care and pride than the backwoods boy did his drum

But before he was ready to go to the front he found that the deadly "borer" had attacked the hoops and honeycombed them, and his work had to be done all over again. This time he selected sound hickory with better luck, and the rattle of the home-made drum was heard in many of the big battles, and is still heard when the aged drummer boy turns out with his few remaining comrades.

The well-to-do suburban builder is getting rather particular about the kind of a house he puts up. It is not work in well with its surroundings and conform in size and style to what his friends and neighbors consider necessary for his home. Something of spaciousness, dignity and hospital-Ity has to be embodied in such a structure. The exact order of architecture to be used may not be pre scribed some of those details are left to the home builder himself and to his architect-but nevertheless, custom prescribes the quality and general character of the building.

One of the features that public opin ion is coming more and more to re quire is that suburban dwellings should be as nearly fireproof or fireresisting as possible. Fire protection in small towns and suburban localities is very seldom all that it should be. Common business sense directs that in such locations extra precautions should be taken, especially for residences, to make them as nearly fire convenient arrangement of dining proof as possible. This carries with room, pantry and kitchen it the obligation to build substantially and well, at the same time using as artistic a design as may be so that space attached. The bathroom is conthe building which is to last for three or four generations will throughout all that time be a source of pride to the for suburban and city use of any de owner and an improvement to the sign executed this year. The design illustrated on this page study of these plans. will be found to fulfill all these conditions and to recommend itself as being at once dignified and attractive in appearance, substantial in construction and, using permanent materials, is as near fireproof as a residence can be made with practical success.
