Farm Notes.

Issued by the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

RAISE FEEDERS AT HOME

Raise feeders at home, was the advice of Dean E. A. Burnett at the recent Beef Producers Day at the Nebraska College of Agriculture to the 450 cattle men in attendance. The statement was offered as the only solution for the scarcity of baby beef. Even the present day land values are high, it was argued that if the best use is made of all roughage and if other good business management is exercised, beef may be grown at a profit on high priced land.

COOL CREAM QUICKLY

"After separation, cream should be quickly cooled to as low a temperature as possible with freshly pumped well water," advises the dairy department of the Nebraska College of Agriculture. "Have a small tank thru which the water from the well flows. Set the cream in a deep can in this tank. Stir the cream until it is of the same temperature as the water. Do not mix warm cream and cold cream. The warm cream quickly soured the cream which has stood for a day or more."

AGRICULTURAL MOTORCYCLES

Two motorcycles have recently been purchased by the Agricultural Extension Service of the Nebraska College of Agriculture to reduce traveling expenses and to add to the efficiency of the work. Frequently much time has been lost by speakers and other assistants of the department when their destination happened to be in a rural community, an inland village, or a town not adequately supplied with passenger service. Sometimes men are required to spend several days visiting different parts of one county, and it has been necessary to spend large sums for local transportation. The new means of conveyance has already made it possible for the workers to cover more territory at moderate distances from Lincoln at a saving to the state.

$10,000 GIFT TO NEBRASKA

Several more specialists on different agricultural subjects will be added, temporarily at least, to the Agricultural Extension Service of the Nebraska College of Agriculture on account of the passage of the Lever bill by Congress. Nebraska will receive $5,000 next July 1 and an additional $5,000 next January 1. Additional contributions will be granted if the Nebraska legislature will appropriate an equal amount. The money is to be used for agricultural demonstrations and lectures only and is intended particularly for persons not having an opportunity to study agriculture in the schools and colleges. None of the money may be used for the purchase or upkeep of agricultural school buildings. If the Nebraska legislature makes it possible for the additional federal contributions to be received, a much more generous amount of agricultural information may be sent directly to the people than is afforded at present.

ALFALFA VS COTTONEED CAKE

The addition of cold pressed cottonseed cake to a ration for cattle of corn, corn silage, and alfalfa increased the gain and lowered the profits, according to an experiment just completed by the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station. This year's data corroborates the evidence of the experiments of other years that alfalfa is the cheapest source of protein to combine with the corn plant in beef production. The rank of the rations according to profit was as follows: (1) corn, alfalfa, and a light feed of silage; (2) corn and alfalfa; (3) corn, alfalfa, and straw; (4) corn, alfalfa, and a heavy feed of silage at the beginning, tapering off toward the close of the feeding period; (5) corn, alfalfa, and a heavy feed of silage; (6) corn, alfalfa, a medium feed of silage, and cold pressed cottonseed cake; (7) corn, corn silage, and cold pressed cottonseed cake.

Sioux City Tribune, 30: There will be no session at Crystal Lake this year. The petition for a license was withdrawn last night just before the special meeting of the city council was called to action on the question. Unexpected opposition is assigned by the petitioners as the cause of the withdrawal. The petition was placed before the South Sioux City council about three weeks ago. It was laid upon the table at the time to be considered at a special meeting called for last night. Remonstrators were on hand last night in full force. Each side were well supplied with legal advice. The action was no surprise to those who had kept in close touch with the situation. It was understood the petitioners lacked several names of having the required number.

Lyons Mirror: Mrs. M. M. Warner accompanied her aunt Mrs. L. Austin as far as Coburn Junction, on her way home at Ponca last Friday. Mrs. S. E. Loop and sister, Miss Basile Kryger, returned to South Sioux City Saturday, after visiting the family of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark. Messrs. Perry and Hughes, of Dakota City, were here Tuesday on business. Mr. Perry is a renter on Mrs. Wm. Wait's farm at that place, which he has rented for the past twenty years. We made a trip to Homer this week, and saw many land marks which brought back the past to us, and many scenes of the long ago. Over these once wild and uninhabited prairies we used to hunt deer, elk, wolves and prairie chickens, and farther over near the Missouri river, we hunted for bee trees one fall and got 2,300 pounds of honey. At Walthill we saw our old friend O. P. Mathewson on the depot platform. Nearly 50 years have rolled by since we first knew him. His father was an Indian agent many years ago and later he himself held the same position. As we passed through the Omaha and Winnebago reservations we saw the homes of many of the Indians we used to know; but another generation now lives there, as Henry Rice Hill, Abe Lincoln, John A. Logan, Asa White, Andrew Hunter, John Hill, David McClosky and a host of other intelligent have long since been gathered to their fathers, and are now "chasing buffalo in the happy hunting ground."

Chicago Special to Sioux City Journal: Miss Georgia W. Jay, a stenographer, told a love story in Judge Honore's court today. It was her own love story and that of Homer Roddeheaver, evangelistic singer. It was a dream that didn't come true, and that is why Miss Jay asks $50,000 for breach of promise. Roddeheaver sat with counsel behind a table and bowed his head during most of the recital. Miss Jay began with their first meeting in the fall of 1909 in Sioux City, Ia., during a revival meeting. "I met him every day from that time on during the six weeks meetings," she continued. "He called nearly every evening at my home. He said I was his ideal girl; that he wanted me to understand that his intentions were honorable." Later she told of a proposal in a taxi cab while they were on their way from a railway station to the home of her aunt in Chicago one evening in April, 1911. Then she told of the Christmas night at her home when he broke the news to her that he had changed his mind about getting married, as he was afraid it would spoil his career. "I told him no good wife ever spoiled a man's career," Miss Jay testified. "What have you to say about his kissing you," asked her attorney, Cyrus Heron. "He always kissed me. He always kissed me goodnight at the train." A letter written to a mutual friend of Miss Jay and Roddeheaver by the singer, in which he outlined his troubles, was read to the jury by Attorney Heron. It is Roddeheaver maintained that there never was anything definite regarding matrimony between himself and Miss Jay. He offered to furnish the mutual friend with sufficient funds to take Miss Jay on a trip so she might "pull herself together."

Sioux City Journal, 31: An Indian baby leaped from the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha passenger train No. 10, between Emerson and Nacora, Neb., yesterday while the train was speeding at thirty miles an hour. The baby crawled along the tracks and was picked up unhurt by anxious trainmen a few minutes later when the train was backed down in search of the child. Horrified parents and awestruck passengers hunted the child for fully five minutes before the backward search was made. The baby was traveling with its parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willingwolf, of the Winnebago reservation, who boarded the train in Sioux City yesterday morning. As the train pulled out the child was seen playing at the window edge. Its parents were asleep and the baby crawled over their laps, it is thought, and fell from the moving train. A minute later the baby was missed. Mr. and Mrs. Willingwolf were awakened. Then began a desperate and frantic search for the tot. The train was searched from tender to observation coach. No sign of the baby was found. The train was stopped and backed down with the expectancy of finding the baby's body along the tracks. Another passenger train had already passed the spot where the child was last seen, and downcast passengers had little hope of recovering the baby alive. As the cars backed slowly down the track, a tiny speck was seen fully a mile away. The train proceeded back and passengers and trainmen thought they saw the object moving along the ties. Speed was put on to reach the spot. The object became larger until the baby came fully into view. Crawling along the track with no manifest concern of its predicament, the child was playfully pulling at the steel spikes in the rails and chortling gleefully as the horrified trainmen watched it from the track and restored it to the arms of its anxious mother. An examination of its body disclosed a slight cut on the forehead and contusions about the limbs. The injuries were harmless. The train then proceeded, reaching Norfolk one hour late as the result of the delay.

"BLIND LEADERS OF THE BLIND"

These Words Apply to Pastor Russell and Others, He Says.

Ministers Have Deceived the People Respecting the Bible Teachings—But They Were Themselves Deceived, Hence Not Willfully Guilty—The Duty of the Hour is to Undeceive the Public and to Remove the Slander From God's Character—Courage Necessary—Otherwise Many Will Fall Into the Ditch of Unbelief—The Educated Are There Already.

PASTOR RUSSELL

London, August 10.—Pastor Russell addressed the London Tabernacle congregation twice today. We report his discourse from the text, "If the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch."—Matthew 15:14.

The Pastor said: How stupidly blind we have all been respecting our Father's words! We have believed human traditions, and neglected the Scriptures, until the Church as a whole has become thoroughly puzzled respecting everything religious. All are out of the way of Truth, lost in the fog of human superstition and error, misled, as St. Paul foretold, by "doctrines of demons."—1 Timothy 4:1.

The duty of the hour is to get back into harmony with God, and to obtain true light upon His Word. As the Master predicted, the whole world has been intoxicated with the false doctrines which Satan gradually introduced during the Dark Ages.—Rev. 17:2.

Like drunken people, said the Pastor, we confused good and bad. In one breath, we told of the Love of God. In another, we painted this God of Love as deliberately arranging, before creating humanity, that billions should be born in sin, misshapen in iniquity; and that after a few short years full of trouble the vast majority should be turned over to fire-proof demons, to be tortured throughout eternity.

Satan's Great Success.

Pastor Russell reminded his hearers that the Master styled Satan the father of lies. Satan's first great lie misled and murdered our first parents by inducing Mother Eve to disbelieve God's words, "In the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die."

Satan contradicted the Almighty, saying, "Ye shall not surely die"—cannot die, ye are immortal.

Satan has impressed this falsehood upon the whole world. While in fulfillment of God's word people die, Satan has brought in the deceptive theory that they have merely gone elsewhere to live.

Thus, contrary to all Scripture, mankind have come to believe that at death the saints go to Heaven, and all others go either to Hell or Purgatory. The plain, common-sense statement of the Bible is ignored—that all, good and bad, old and young, go to Sheol, Hades, the tomb. Thus the Bible teaching that Jesus' redemptive work assures all a resurrection from the dead is made void by Satan's lie.

Immortality in Christ.

The Pastor then demonstrated conclusively from Scripture that immortality is a hope, not a possession. Man was not created immortal; but the life given him was conditional upon his obedience to his Creator's commands.

This is indicated by God's threat that disobedience would bring death—cessation of life. St. Paul's argument is that positive assurance of everlasting life was not given until Christ "brought immortality and life to light through the Gospel."—2 Timothy 1:10.

Immortality is a quality of life thus far possessed by Jehovah God and by His Son, our Lord Jesus Christ. The hope of the Church is to attain the promised "glory, honor and immortality" in the First Resurrection. The hope for the non-elect world is that of everlasting life, the same as that given to the angels—to all of mankind who will, during the Millennium Age, come into harmony with the Messianic Kingdom. Those who, after fullest opportunity for recovery from sin and death conditions, will not render obedience to the Divine arrangement, will be everlastingly destroyed.

This Bible presentation of the matter—that God's proposition is life or death—we are beginning to see is most reasonable, most logical, said Pastor Russell. Furthermore, his proposition is that when His Plan shall have been completed, none shall have life who will not have it in perfection. He desires not mental, moral and physical degenerates in His Kingdom.

As a result of the permission of sin and death, God's Wisdom, Justice, Love and Power will be more clearly seen by both angels and men. Until we realized the Absolute Justice of God in allowing our race to go down into death and in sending His Son to die for us, giving the redemption-price of Adam's sin, we could not see the depths of Divine Wisdom and Love.

The resurrection will be a stupendous expression of Divine Power. Resurrection involves no absurdities, as Scripturally seen. The Bible proposes for both Church and world a resurrection of the soul, the being. But to each class, as St. Paul declares, "God gives a body as it hath pleased Him."
