Attempted Murder of Guy Hileman

From Westhope, N. D., Standard. While sitting quietly reading by the table at his home southwest this city last Friday evening, some Miss Mary Hurd, of Lawton, Iowa one with murder in his heart, crept stealthily up to the window of the house and fired a load from a shot gun at the head of Guy Hileman, Although badly wounded Hileman had the presence of mind to blow out the lamp, and then went to the door to look out. Just as he did so an-> tering the eye and it is feared he will lose his sight on that side. Hileman walked to the home of John Kerns where Dr. Durnin was notified and also the sheriff's office. He was brought to town and has > since been in the hospital.

> Sheriff McLean, Deputy McKinnon and Attorney Adams were out there the next morning to investigate things, and discovered where a horse had been tied to a post, but had evidently become frightened at the shooting and broke away, as part of a bridle was still hanging to the post, Tracks led from where the horse had been tied to the window of the house, then around in front, and from there the officers followed the tracks across the fields about a mile to the yard of J. C. Halsey. One of Halsey's horses was found ose in the yard with a broken bridle on.

The three Halsey boys were ed under arrested and taken to Bot-tineau, but later the two younger were let go. James, the older was kept in care of the sheriff's office to await his preliminary hearing which was held last night.

Whover the guilty party is, the deed was carefully planned, but poorly executed. Hileman is a quiet fellow, and thought he didn't have an enemy in the world. It is supposed the motive for the crime was robbery as Hileman was supposed to have drawn out a sum of money from one of the Maxbass and farm good corn lands on the banks that day, but had changed his

WHY FARM LABOR IS SCARCE

During at least six months of the difficulty in securing competent help at any price. In view of the fact that during the same period there were many unemployed in the cities, why is it so difficult to bring the waiting job and the jobless man together? According to the department of farm management of the Nebraska College of Agriculture, "The competent farm hand can no longer be classed as unskilled labor. The man who stands in the city bread line is not a man who can drive a four horse team, set cultivator shovels, run a binder, shock grain, or busk 80 bushels of corn a day. The farmer could hardly afford to board him in return for his labor. Long practice is required to acquire skill and detterity in handling horses and machinery which the successaul farmer must possess.

"Another factor which makes farm abor scarce is the fact that comparatively few farmers employ labor for
