Brasfield, and daughter, Ora Brasfield, were sick at their home near Owanka, S. D. She will leave for her home the last of the week. Miss Kathleen Neiswanger, who is teaching in the schools at Pilger, Neb., was home Saturday and Sunday. She had been to Norfolk attending the Northeast Nebraska Teachers' association, and took advantage of the opportunity to spend a couple of days at home. County Judge McKinley performed marriage ceremonies for the following couples since our last issue: Adolph Fehrmann and Lulu B. Weaver, both of Sioux City, on Thursday; Silas Welch and Jennie Rice, both of Sioux City, on Friday; Harry T. Hendlin and Elizabeth Rutter, both of Sioux City, on Monday; and Frank G. DeLong and Mary D. Harris, both of Homer, on Tuesday. Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, superintendent of scientific investigation of the National Christian Temperance Union, who came to Sioux City to speak before the Western Iowa Teachers' Association, will speak in the Methodist church in South Sioux City Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock under the auspices of the local W. C. T. U. of South Sioux City. Mrs. Davis is a noted lecturer and interesting speaker. An invitation is extended to everyone to attend. Attorney Mell C. Beck, of Dallas, S. D., a former Dakota City practitioner and later located at Sioux City, has been stricken with paresis, (softening of the brain) and was taken to the Yankton asylum last Wednesday for treatment. A Dallas special in the dailies gives the following account of his unfortunate condition: "He suddenly became in possession of the delusion that he had become a multi-millionaire and was offering to buy diamonds, farms and any other property, in large quantities. Mr. Beck is unmarried and about 55 years of age. On the way to Fairfax, in company with Deputy Sheriff Hueston, Mr. Beck became stubborn while going through Gregory, declaring that the town should be wiped out by fire and a soap factory built on the site. When the deputy sheriff used rather forcible tactics in subduing him, Mr. Beck expressed approval of his ability as an official and said that he would raise his salary $25,000, proceeding to write a check for that amount. At Bonesteel, Mr. Beck met Superintendent Reynolds, of the North-western, whom he knew, and told him he was discharged on account of faulty train service. While in Fairfax he wrote several checks for amounts represented by six figures.

The Dakota City Commercial club will hold its annual meeting Saturday evening of this week. A program of speaking has been announced, to be followed by a lunch and cigars. Mrs. Guy Cheney and two children arrived here Wednesday last week from Seattle, Wash., on a visit at the Walter Cheney home. Mr. Cheney is expected here the coming week on a business trip. March brought us the hare, the lion and the lamb, St. Patrick's day, and wild tales from the big league training camps. But we are strong for April despite its distractions. Do not forget us. Thank you! Dakota City Pharmacy. Patrick Jones, one of the extensive feeders and farmers of Hubbard precinct, was in town Tuesday on business. He remarked that this had been one of the hardest winters on stock men he had seen for a good many years. He stated that there was considerable snow in the bluffs yet, and that it would take several days of good warm weather before farm work would begin. Telephone communication between Dakota City and the outside world was established twenty years ago, March 29th, when a line was extended from Sioux City to this place. The first message transmitted was a greeting sent by the late Atlee Hart, then editor of the Eagle, to the Sioux City Journal. A few years later the Clark Automatic Telephone system established a local branch here and this was soon picked up by the Bell system. The first central office was located in the Van de Zedde's store, where the McKillip garage is now located. This was a toll station for several years, and until the Bell people bought the local exchange, when the system was consolidated with Sioux City and free service given the patrons here. Paul K. Schimmack, a brother of Fred Schimmack, a prominent farmer of Hubbard, who has been here for the past two months visiting his brother, departed Monday for his home in Washington, Pa. Mr. Schimmack is a baker by profession and has built up an extensive business in his home town. During his leisure hours he has invented a weather chart, that promises to make his name famous. With it he can predict weather conditions for years to come. He exhibited his home paper which contained predictions of the present European war, made a year in advance. The chart was perfected and patented only a year ago, yet a big demand has developed for them in his home town. Mr. Schimmack was here twenty-nine years ago, and he noted a wonderful development in Dakota county since that time.

Established 1856. The postoffice was moved Wednesday evening to the Schmed building in the east part of town. The change was not made as an accommodation to the patrons, but a political debt of our "illustrious" congressman, Dan V. Wm. Biermann, of Colome, S. D., arrived here Tuesday for a few days visit with relatives and old friends. He had been to South Omaha with a shipment of cattle of his own feeding, and through an error of the railroad company the cattle were shipped in cars that had not been disinfected, and the cattle were quarantined on their arrival at the stock yards. Mr. Biermann succeeded in getting his cattle out of the quarantine pens, but left before they were sold. In case of any loss on the shipment he will bring a suit against the railroad company for damages. Mr. Biermann states that the snow in his locality was simply fierce the past winter, the ground still being covered with huge drifts. His face shows the effects of sunburn caused by the reflection from the sun shining on the snow. The Ponca Journal, in reference to the Dave Marshall case tried in the district court there last week, says: "The case of the State vs. Dave Marshall, charged with obtaining money under false pretense, was the second case on the docket, and was set for trial Tuesday afternoon, and most of that afternoon was spent in empaneling a jury. The witnesses for the state were examined Tuesday. On Wednesday more witnesses were examined by the state until about 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon, when on motion of the attorney for the defense, Judge Welsh instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty, on the grounds that, although Marshall had obtained the money and disposed of the mortgaged property, the bank on the other hand had taken a new note and mortgage on the property yet in his possession, but no more money had been given to Marshall on the new note and mortgage, and the bank still held the first note and mortgage, $2,400. The court held that while Marshall might be guilty of a crime, he could not be held on this charge. County Attorney C. A. Kingsbury represented the state and J. J. McCarthy was attorney for the defense." Marshall was again arrested here by Sheriff Geo. Cain, on the strength of a telegram from Sheriff Maskell of Dixon county last Friday, on a charge of disposing of mortgaged property. He was returned to Ponca for trial and on Monday was again acquitted. HOMER. Henry Filmore, one of the best up-to-date farmers of Emerson precinct, was a business caller in Homer last week. B.
