LIST OF 70 BULLETINS PRINTED
Seventy different bulletins on various agricultural subjects are now offered by the Experiment Station and Extension Service of the College of Agriculture to residents of Nebraska, according to an available list just published.

WHAT TO WITH STICKY WINDOWS
In case a window frame has been painted so that it cannot be raised, it may be loosened by running the edge of a case or putty knife between the sash and the stop.

HOG CHOLERA DISINFECTANT
While it is never wise to visit hog lots known to be infected with hog cholera unless necessary, the spread of the disease thru this common means may be prevented by cleaning the shoes and then washing them with a good disinfectant.

HOW TO OIL A FLOOR
1. Remove all dust with turpentine or gasoline by rubbing with a cloth. Strong washing powders are likely to raise the grain.

EXTENSIVE SILAGE INVESTIGATION
The Department of Agricultural Chemistry of the Experiment Station and College of Agriculture of Nebraska has been carrying on an extensive investigation during the past year on the chemistry of the processes which take place during the ensiling of various green crops.

INTEREST—A JOKER IN FARMING
It is a common mistake to consider the difference between farm receipts and farm expenses as profit. The money tied up in the business is forgotten, but it has an earning power of 5 or 6 per cent.

Sioux City Journal 22: Fire yesterday destroyed bins containing forty tons of coal of the Edwards & Bradford Lumber company, of South Sioux City. The loss is estimated at $1,500.

were $3,216, the current expenses $1,075, and 5 per cent interest on the capital $2,024. Subtracting the expenses and the interest, the labor income (profit) is but $117.

This man had $2,141 available for his living but $1,724 should be credited to capital, which leaves only $117 for the returns for his own labor and management. He is really living off the interest of his investment.

Looking Backward.

Sioux City Journal, July 9, 1895: Capt. Dick Talbot and others interested in the pontoon bridge company were in the city yesterday seeing how business was going to be after their structure was put in. They confidently expect a revival of trade at Covington.

Sioux City Journal, July 12, 1895: Considerable real estate in South Sioux City has changed hands the past week and scarcely a day passes that there is not a respectable sale of Covington lots. Already some of the people across the river are beginning to complain against the manner in which it is said Crystal Lake park will be conducted after the electric street railway is built from there to the Nebraska terminus of the Pacific Short Line bridge. No one seems to know upon whose authority the statements are made, but the impression has become general that the resorts at the park will be on the wide open order, and that is the feature against which the good citizens of South Sioux City are protesting.

Sioux City Journal, July 13, 1895: John Moan's estate was offered for sale yesterday at Dakota City, but after five lots had been sold the administrator adjourned the sale to July 27. The administrator said the sale was adjourned for the reason the lots brought only $100 each, when he thought they were worth a great deal more. The requisite number of subscribers has been obtained in South Sioux City by the Home Telephone company, and the extension of the plant will be completed in about a month. The construction of the extension will be commenced within sixty days. There will be no tool rates, and connections will be made at the central exchange in Sioux City.

Sioux City Journal, July 22, 1895: A large number of Sioux City people went across the river yesterday to look at the big caissons which are about to be launched, and took advantage of the opportunity to visit Covington. The saloons were running wide open, and the old place was livelier than she has been for many a day.

Sioux City Journal, July 25, 1875: J. Skinner, father of E. W., who has just returned from a business trip in Nebraska, reports that the crops are looking magnificent in Dixon, Cedar and Dakota counties. In Dakota county there are some spots, especially in the bottom lands, which are a little short, but in Dixon and Cedar counties the crops are the finest he ever saw, the yield promising to be from thirty-five to forty or more bushels to the acre—in fact, Mr. Skinner believes that the average will not be short of forty bushels. He plucked quite a number of heads of wheat and found that the number of kernels ran from eighteen to forty-eight. Corn and oats are looking splendid and potatoes are a wonderful crop. The farmers in these localities are feeling hopeful and self reliant, and if the 'hoppers do not come all will be well.

Sioux City Journal, July 30, 1875: The Hon. Tom L. Griffey, of Dakota City, arrived in town yesterday with a challenge from the Fat Men's nine of that place to our corpulent ball tossers. He hunted all around town for the captain of our new organization, but did not succeed in finding him.

Ponca Journal, July 25, 1884: We hear that Father Martin and Gen. Holman, of Dakota City, are about to build on the very desirable lots owned by them in Emerson, and that in all probability the Dakota Argus will be removed to that place at an early day. It would not be surprising if Emerson would soon become one of the best towns in this part of the state.

Sioux City Journal, August 22, 1895: James P. Twohig, who, with the other two commissioners of Dakota county, has been making a trip through the various townships inspecting bridges, says the corn is being badly hurt. He believes there yet will be an enormous crop, but the continued hot weather has injured the flattering prospect.

Ponca Journal, August 15, 1884: Hon. Isaac Powers, M. O. Ayres and Henry Stott of Dakota City, came up Wednesday, prepared for a week's chicken hunt, with headquarters at this place.
