Sloan, Ia., Star: Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Thacker, of Homer, Neb., came over Monday, and from here went to Holly Springs, to attend the funeral of Roy Forney, who died Sunday in a Sioux City hospital.

Sioux City Journal, 14: Roy Fred, 32 years old, a laborer, of Hubbard, Neb., testified in police court that Saturday, while he was walking in Fourth street, he was attacked and knocked into a gutter by Harry Marvin, 27 years old, of Vermillion, S. D., without provocation. His face was battered. Police Judge Kellogg fined him $10. Marvin forfeited a $10 cash bond by failing to appear.

Pender Republic: Mrs. H. D. Rixen was a South Sioux City visitor the first of the week. Miss Hirsch, formerly of the clerical force at the court house, is over from Homer visiting at the Judge Graves home. W. W. Pounds and wife were called to near Ponca on Monday by a message announcing the sudden death of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Free Pounds. The remains were brought here yesterday and the funeral will occur this afternoon.

Ponca Journal: Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Harris went to South Sioux City this morning for a visit with the parents of Mrs. Harris. Dave Marshall has given up his job as city marshal and will move to the country. William Lennox has been appointed to take his place. Friday of last week T. T. Harris filed his voluntary petition in bankruptcy with the clerk of the United States court, voluntarily locking his doors Friday evening and turning the key over to Sheriff Maskell.

Hartington Herald: The newspaper announcement that W. P. Warner of Dakota City will probably run for congress on the republican ticket is being gladly received all over the state. The boom started by the Cedar county republicans at Laurel is growing and it is very likely Mr. Warner will file as a candidate for the office. Mr. Warner, who served for a number of years as United States Marshal, is generally conceded to be a very able man and a vote-getter, and, if he enters the race, his election is assured.

Allen News: Mrs. Don Kinkead is seriously ill. Frank Hale was in Homer on business Tuesday. Joe Wiseman, of Dakota City, visited relatives here Monday. Several of the young people took in the dance at Jackson Monday night. Miss Stella Baker left Tuesday for her home at Pender, after a three days visit here at the home of her cousin, Hiram, Baker, and family. Frank Hill returned to Sibley, Ia., Tuesday after a few days visit with the home folk here. His mother has been quite sick but is improving now. The Art Hale family moved on the Weitzenkamp place, 7 miles west of Martinsburg, last Wednesday. This is the place where Andrew Sorensen lived the past year.

Sioux City Journal, 8th: While skating on a pond in the northern part of South Sioux City, Alma Anderson, 7-year-old daughter of W. J. Anderson fell into a tangle of barbed wire and suffered severe gashes in neck under the chin. Her condition is not serious, Dr. L. DeVore stated. Ernest Collins, of South Sioux City, was arranged in police court yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily injury. The case was continued until March 29, so that the grand jury might investigate. Collins is accused of having stabbed James Elliott at the Angie Higby home, 1209 Grand avenue, early Monday morning. Elliott is at the St. Vincent's hospital. His condition is such that it is believed he will recover. L. Knutson, a prominent farmer and feeder of Hubbard, Neb., was on the market Wednesday looking after the sale of a consignment of well finished beaves that were good enough to establish a new top mark for the year to date, $9.05. There were twenty head in the shipment and they averaged 1,507 pounds. Mr. Knutson said that he purchased a string of feeders on the Sioux City market two years ago and that he had finished off the best of them last year and cashed them, while the allotment here for today's trade had been roughed along until five months ago and then fattened on a ration of corn and alfalfa. Satisfaction was expressed by Mr. Knutson for the manner in which the cattle sold.

Emerson Enterprise: Henry Krumwiede, of Dakota City, was in Emerson Tuesday morning between trains. Fred Brasfield, of Homer, made another business trip to this section the latter part of last week. Sheriff George Cain, of Dakota City, was in Emerson Monday putting up primary election notices. Judge Heffernan, the old democratic war horse of Dakota county, was down from Hubbard between trains Monday afternoon. Fred Miller who sold his farm near Naocra last fall, loaded a car with his personal effects at that place last week and moved to Minneola, Ia. Hans Kay accompanied the car as far as Council Bluffs, Ia. Mrs. Patrick Hogan, mother of M. William Kerwin, of this place, passed away last Saturday evening at the ripe old age of 82 years. She had been making her home with her daughter for the past two years. She became quite feeble the past few months and her demise was not unlooked for. The remains were taken to Hubbard Tuesday morning where Father English celebrated requiem high mass, and the remains were laid to rest beside those of her departed husband in the Catholic cemetery at that place. Mary Dougherty was born in Tipperary county, Ireland, in 1834. At the age of four years she emigrated with her parents to upper Canada. She was married to Patrick Hogan in 1854, of which union thirteen children were born, all but Mrs. William Kerwin, of Emerson, James Hogan, of Hubbard, and John Hogan, of Centerville, S. D., with her husband, having preceded her in death. In 1869, she moved with her husband to Sioux City and the following year located on a homestead near Hubbard, where she lived until joining her daughter here two years ago. Her husband died in 1903.

High Schools Are Hurt By Saloons

The following statement is compiled from the Nebraska Educational Directory of 1914-15, which is issued by the State Department of Education. It should convince every sane person that saloons keep at least one-half of our boys and girls from getting a high school education. This statement gives the school population, the enrollment and the average attendance of the high schools in every town of Nebraska having between 1,500 and 4,000 population. We, also, append a statement giving these same totals for all high schools of the state accredited to the university:

City	Sch. Pop.	En.	Av. Att.
Aurora (dry)	806	234	281
Allamore (wet)	1,462	146	140
Blair (dry)	954	189	191
Benson (wet)	1,150	106	88

Chadron (wet)	355	83	64

Dry towns, total	9,126	2,206	2,914
Wet towns, total	11,590	1,694	1,347
Dry towns, ave. per	1,000	253.7	282.7
Wet towns, ave. per	1,000	146.1	116.2

If further proof were needed to show that schools in wet towns are blighted instead of helped by saloons, it is found that in the dry towns listed above there is one high school graduate for every twenty-one of school population, while in the wet towns there is one graduate for every thirty-nine, an advantage for the dry towns of almost 100 per cent. These figures are taken from the official reports for last spring commencements, filed with the state university.

In the 205 accredited high schools of the state, those in the dry towns enroll an average of 262.6 per 1,000 of school population, and the average attendance is 228.8 per 1,000.

In the wet towns the enrollment is 122.3 per 1,000 school population, and the average attendance is only 102.6 per 1,000. Again, an advantage for the dry towns of more than 100 per cent.

No person can raise the cry of "picking" the towns, for these official figures include every one of the high schools in Nebraska. There is but one answer to it. Banish the saloon.
