The interstate commerce commission has notified the Sioux City Service company, the South Sioux City Traction company and the Combination Bridge company to grant the petition of South Sioux City residents for round trip commutation rates between South Sioux City and Sioux City, or file with the commissioners, in writing, their reasons for refusing to make the concessions. The petition of the South Sioux City people was filed by Councilman Fred Martin, who has received a communication from Washington informing him of the plans of the commission. The time limit fixed by the commission for the corporations to file an answer already has expired. In the petition the commission is asked to compel the street railway companies and the bridge company to place on sale commutation books, containing fifteen round trip tickets, to be good for thirty days from date of purchase. The commission "is asked to fix the round trip rate at 10 cents, the same as is in effect between Council Bluffs and Omaha. South Sioux City people who use the bridge books now are paying 15 cents for the round trip. Those who are without the bridge tickets are compelled to pay 20 cents.

Mr. Eggenberger, who is principal of the high school at Plattsmouth, will take his new position at the opening of the school next September. Prof. Rogers will enter the practice of law after a year at Chicago University.... The contest between the wets and the drys at South Sioux City over the submission of the saloon question and over the control of the next city council has taken a new angle with the refusal of City Clerk P. W. Martin to accept for filing the nomination papers of A. B. Cownie, liberal candidate for mayor. The city clerk, who is acting on the advice of City Attorney Ward Evans, has informed Mr. Cownie and his supporters that his petition was not placed in his hands within the time limit fixed by the new Nebraska primary law. According to the opinion of the city attorney, nomination papers for candidates seeking office in villages and cities with less than 10,000 inhabitants must be filed with the city clerk at least fifteen days before the date of the election. Mr. Cownie's papers did not reach the clerk until the latter part of last week. The wets assert that the city attorney's ruling is at fault, and that filing of papers ten days prior to the election is legal. The new primary law was passed by the last legislature and never has been tested. While no program has been decided upon by the liberals it is possible that the action of the city clerk will be taken to the district court on a mandamus action, similar to that followed in the case in regard to the saloon petition. With the exception of Mr. Cownie, the nominees of both factions have filed within the fifteen-day limit. The filings are as follows: For mayor, D. G. Evans, prohibition; for city clerk, P. W. Martin, prohibition, and Harvey Phillips, liberal; for city treasurer, J. H. Mullins, prohibition; for city engineer, W. H. Bradford, indorsed by both factions. Councilman, First ward, E. O. Meldold, prohibition; and Fred Gordon, liberal; Second ward, Nels Pilgrim, prohibition, and Carl Jedsen, liberal; Third ward, Ed Metz, prohibition, and John Jenkins, liberal. It is possible a special meeting of the council will be held to pass upon the legality of Mr. Cownie's filing.

COUNTY SCHOOL NOTES
WILFRED E. VOSS, SUPT.
The North Nebraska Teachers' Association will convene at Norfolk, March 31st and April 1st. However, the North Nebraska High School Declaratory contest will be held on the afternoon and evening of March 30th. Thursday evening's train will arrive in Norfolk in time so teachers may enroll with the association's secretary at the Pacific hotel, and arrange for all admissions connected in any way with the association.
The State Department of Public Instruction has been able thus far this year to get along without an extra examination. It has been found, however, that many teachers holding city state certificates will need an additional opportunity to renew their certificates or to secure advanced certificates. On Saturday April 15th will occur a special examination in all subjects,—one day only. The regular Friday's subjects will be given on Saturday forenoon, and the regular Saturday's subjects will be offered on Saturday afternoon. Teachers should not let this opportunity pass without at least writing on one required subject.

Here is an important change to note for all interested in the coming eighth grade examination. The examination dates have been changed from April 6 and 7 to April 13 and 14. The new dates were made necessary because the former ones conflicted with the dates of two district education associations. The State Superintendent has announced this change to better accommodate all concerned.
The State Superintendent and Governor are asking that emphasis be placed on the study of Nebraska food products during the week beginning April 3rd. This request has timely merit in it. Let us set ourselves in active accord with it. Even the teachers' examinations and the eighth grade examinations show the need of giving more time and earnest consideration to the study of our food products.
Superintendent Thomas says: "The production of food is the most elemental and most important occupation among men, and happy is the state whose basic occupation is food producing. We have a plain, open, agricultural country; a plain, honest and prosperous people; few indigent poor and few immensely rich; a state and a people of whom we may justly

McKELVIE FOR GOVERNOR.
Successful Business Man.
One of the things frequently referred to in connection with the candidacy of S. R. McKelvie for governor is the fact that he has been an unusually successful business man. Though a young man, he has shown a foresight and executive capacity in business which commands the attention of observing business critics wherever he is known. His knowledge of Nebraska conditions, together with his natural business ability, is one of the several reasons why McKelvie is usually referred to as 'The Popular Candidate.'

be proud. Let us magnify our occupations and emphasize our importance among the states of the Union."
He urges us as teachers to devote some time during the week set forth in Governor Morehead's proclamation to the study of the foods produced within our state, to foods manufactured within our state and to foods manufactured from food-stuffs produced within our state. I hope that our schools will find it possible to arrange exhibits and programs suitable to such a study.
