

Editorial—Union Advocate—June 1st, 1916

The publisher of the Union Advocate had occasion to visit the Mid-West Bank one day recently and had to wait in a line 18 pica long—

A noticeable feature of the crowd (which we are told is an everyday common occurrence at 'The Little Bank' round the Corner) was the number of working people touching elbows with business and professional men, plentifully interspersed with fine looking women.

The thought which occurred was that the Mid-West is, in truth, the working folks bank where the small depositor is as welcome as the one with a sackful of gold.

And there's a reason for all this. Mr. Kearney, the president and chief factotum of the Mid-West, is a loyal friend of the common folks and believes with Abe Lincoln that the lord must have especially loved them, because he made so many of them.

Work done on the Mid-West Bank or on any property belonging to its owner, is always unio made—that can be depended on.

The unflinching courtesy and accommodation of this bank account for its success in as large manner as does its reputation for absolute safety."

Dr. H. E. McKenzie and Miss Katherine McKenzie, of Morning-side, Ia., were visitors at the home of Rev. F. J. Aucock on Friday.

Rev. and Mrs. Budd and son, Wilfred, of Spencer, Neb., and Mrs. Clyde Post, of Sioux City, were dinner guests at the Aucock home on Friday.

James Rossiter, an early resident of Walthill, died at his home there Monday night. Deceased was a brother-in-law of Leonard Ross, of this county.

O. A. Kindig has sold his interest in the garage at South Sioux City to his partner, P. E. Nagle, and will go to southern Missouri where he has land interests.

A baby daughter, the first born, arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Larsen, of this place, Saturday. It is needless to say that the parents are proud of the little Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Andrews, of Emerson, came down last Friday to see their new granddaughter at the Geo. Coughtry home. Mrs. Andrews remained until Monday before returning.

Walter Olmstead, age 78 years, died last Wednesday, May 31st, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dell Caster, in South Sioux City, of ailments incident to old age. Deceased was a civil war veteran. A son, E. Olmstead, resides southwest of Dakota City.

J. B. Clendennen, of Canton, S. D., representing the Engle road drag, was looking after business here on Tuesday. Mr. Clendennen is a son-in-law of the late R. E. Eastcott, at one time a resident of Dakota City, and made frequent visits here in those days. He informed us that Tom Eastcott was now city auditor at Mitchell, S. D.

Judge R. E. Evans, Frank H. Forrest and Sidney T. Frum were passengers to Omaha Monday to attend the annual session of the Masonic grand lodge of Nebraska. Mr. Evans went as a member of the committee on jurisprudence, while Mr. Forrest represents the local lodge. Mr. Frum returned Tuesday to attend to matters in the district court.

Judge McKinley officiated at six weddings the past week. They were, Henry R. Thomas, of Sioux City, and Marion R. Schellens, of South Sioux City, on the 31st; Carl R. Graves and Laura Oakes, both of Leeds, Iowa, on the 1st; Charles E. Green and Dorothy Johnson, both of Sioux City, on the 1st; Geo. W. Baldwin of Creighton, Neb., and Elda May Buffington of Ewing, Neb., on the 5th; Max B. Zechanovich and Freda Puterbaugh, both of Sioux City, on the 6th; Edward Kuehler and Lulu Kobold, both of Sioux City, on the 7th.

There was considerable disturbance in town Monday morning. No, it wasn't a fire, or a riot, it wasn't a circus even. Just a bunch of khaki clad boys whistling, shouting, and carrying blankets, sacks of potatoes, fishing rods, tooth brushes, and almost every imaginable—and sometimes unimaginable thing. It was just the Boy Scouts leaving for camp. The Methodist preacher was in the thick of it, sweating and smiling. Questions to right of him, questions to left of him, volleyed and thundered. Somehow everything got straightened out and the boys marched through town. At the Ross store the boys stopped to interview Mayor W. L. Ross and some of the Town Board. They had with them a handsome enameled fountain which they handed over as a gift to the town from the Boy Scouts of Dakota City. Having relieved their minds of this little matter they resumed their trip to the lake with visions of big fish in their hearts. Good luck to them! We wish them a happy time and safe return. The two patrols are: Kangaroos—Johnson, Antrim, Anses, Frederick, Krumwiede, Stinson, VanHorn, Graham, Wolves—Leach, Johnson, Warner, Seymour, Hanson, Lahrs, Sanford, Kinkle. Scout Master F. J. Aucock, Assistant Keith Evans.
