Dakota City's Dan Stevens post-master-oil inspector is working his head off circulating petitions to have a constitutional amendment submitted to the voters at the general election to place the oil inspection and pure food departments under the civil service before the present office holders lose their goats. Letters with petitions enclosed, have been mailed by the local democratic boss to his "dear friends" urging them to rustle signers and boost for their game. The entire force of food and drug inspectors of the state have been put into this game at the expense of the taxpayers, in order to keep C. S. Harmon and his crowd of mugwumps in office another six years.

Lutheran Church Notes

DAKOTA CITY-SALEM
After all, there is nothing like being home with your own people over Sunday.
It is very enjoyable indeed to see the way our new corps of Sunday school workers are taking hold of the work under the difficulty of the lack of sufficient literature. When a person wants to do a thing he can put up with inconveniences for a time, and that is the Salem spirit. We still want more volunteers for the work. Will you say "Here am I, send me!"
There were 87 at Salem Sunday school last Sunday. Now that is pretty good. But it is not 100 yet by 13. Do not forget we are looking for you at Sunday school. There is a place for you, and until you are 95 years old you need the instruction unless you come to a full understanding of the scriptures. And when you have fathomed its depths, we will need you for a teacher, and you will have a mind to teach. We have set a class or two in the ante room. That is all the place we have to put it. You see we are crowded. How long since you have thought of the Salem church as being too small? How long since you have thought of the Salem Sunday school as being so large that it was all that could be handled. Well, it is that big right now. If you do not think so, just step in next Sunday morning and look over the ground. And still the outlook for more is growing. New faces are seen almost every Sunday. Enthusiasm is contagious. When you "run over" with it, the other fellow will catch some; try it. But until you do, he will not get much. Talk the Sunday school up; talk up the work, the spirit, the preaching services, everything, all our interests and all our work, get the habit, then see what happens. You've known people, perhaps, who were always finding fault, and knocking. That is like laying an axe on the hen's neck. Talk up, fall in line, help what you can that is what gets a Sunday school somewhere. You are going to do that. Talk it to the first one you meet. As an experimenter try it with some one who comes regularly. See how they warm up to the idea. Why it is a pleasure and you will soon learn there is more good to be got out of your christian activity than you had thought.
The pastor has been doing some work the past months for the degree of Bachelor of Divinity. The work culminated in a thesis on Luther the Preacher, and the "In testimony thereof" came to hand while at Omaha in the shape of a "Sheepskin" diploma. Thus we advance.
If you noticed last Sunday the congregation was half or more children. We ought to have the parents, too. If you get started you will like it. Of course when we get so crowded for room that we are like sardines in a box, almost anyone can tell what to do to remedy the case. We know Mr. Lake can for he has told it to us. It is a pleasure to contemplate at least.
A nice school of 27 was at Immanuel last Sunday. Some one would have enjoyed being the 28-50th. A bunch of jolly children is as interesting as anything we know. If you need a vision for service or a personal joy in life come see them. Don't be miserable. God don't want you to be. Be glad. It all lies with you. Joy is plentiful, just open up and let it in. You can have it, but no one will crowd it onto you.
Just a story. Once there was a great big, green, Ozark Mountain boy. A brother of my chum. He came out of the mountains to Midland college. A day or two after he arrived his brother was away for a day or two to visit a friend. Alex got very homesick and laid around our room a good deal. I said, "Woods, lets laugh," and in a short time we were laughing to split over nothing. Yes sir, just over nothing, our sides were aching over it. And when we were thru Alex drew out, "You fellers can laugh if you want to, but I don't want to." And he didn't. If a man just will not laugh you can't make him. Cheer up there is lots of pleasure about, get your share in your christian life.

Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employes, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employes for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:
"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion and that eventually the matter is controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railroads be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:
1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railroads, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved; or
2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employes are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:
No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence.
The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board.
Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employes as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public.
The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employes, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

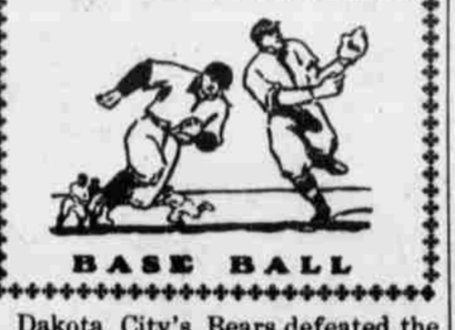

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employes, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employes, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.

children to be baptized may inform the pastor of the fact any time up to the morning service.
The quarterly conference last Saturday evening was well attended. A great deal of business was disposed of. The fact that this was the last conference before the annual conference was not forgotten. Some very kind things were said of the pastor and his work which were greatly appreciated by him. A very hearty invitation to return for a third year was given, coupled with an offer of an increased salary. As a Methodist minister is not his own master but, like a soldier, goes where he is sent, no definite promise of return was given. A committee to formulate a better system of finance was appointed, and much of next year's arrangements depends upon the work of this committee.
The True Blues are resting from their labors this week. Under Mrs. Aucock's care they are spending a few days at the lake in the R. E. Evans cottage.
