senger train due here at 6:45 o'clock was two hours late.

Wayne Democrat: T. T. Harris and wife, of South Sioux City, returned after a few days with Mrs. Harris' brother, O. D. Kilbourn and wife. Wakefield and community was greatly shocked on last Friday afternoon when a message came saying that the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Cornell had accidentally drowned at their home east of Emerson. The little one was brought to the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Long, and on Sunday afternoon was laid to rest in the Wakefield cemetery, Rev. King, of the Presbyterian church, conducting the services. Charles Elmer Cornell was born at Wakefield, Neb., Sunday, March 28, 1915, and died Friday, October 13, 1916, being 1 year, 6 months and 25 days of age. Friends and relatives from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cornell, Mr. and Mrs. E. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Hale, Ponca; Fred Berry, Newcastle; W. A. Heikes, L. L. Heikes, Fred Beermann, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Beerman, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller, Dakota City; Mr. and Mrs. W. Milliken and family, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Milliken, Charles Heikes, Wayne, and Mrs. Ed Bierendorf, Emerson.

ROY ARMOUR

Of Hubbard, Nebr., republican candidate for county commissioner from the 2nd district. Mr. Armour is a young man, full of vigor, exceptionally well fitted to handle the duties and questions arising in this office. As a matter of integrity, he would rather suffer defeat at your hands than to have you think that he would be partial or biased in any official transaction if elected. His aim will be to stand for the county's interests first, last and all of the time. He solicits your support on that platform.

Warner Will be Elected.

Neither the republican party or Dakota county has any apology to offer on presenting William P. Warner as a candidate for congress. We believe that Mr. Warner is one of the biggest men in Nebraska today. We know that he is a man of exceptional ability, straightforward and an unceasing worker. We have seen him grow from infancy to mature manhood; we have trusted him in many capacities, and he has always proven faithful and efficient. Mr. Warner is not given to bombast and bluster. He is a man of deeds, not words. Were it not for the insistence of his many friends throughout the district who know of his peculiar fitness for the office he would not now be a candidate for congress. The hundreds of men of the district who compelled him to enter the congressional race did so because they wanted the district's needs and interests looked after in Washington, and they know that Mr. Warner will be one of the big men in congress, as he is a big man at home. He is going to be elected. Party lines in Dakota county will be entirely wiped out when it comes to voting for congressman, and William P. Warner will receive practically all of the votes cast for that office. This is also true in many of the counties of the district, where it appears to be the prevailing sentiment that the present incumbent, Dan Stephens, is nine-tenths politician the other tenth a follower of party caucus rule. Warner may be depended upon to be on the job all the time and the fellow who tries to slip something through congress that will injure the people of the Third district will find in him an opponent who will cause grave anxiety and many sleepless nights.

FRANK F. HAASE
EMERSON, NEBRASKA.

Republican Candidate for State Senator, Sixth District.

John L. Kennedy
Republican Candidate for U. S. Senator

Experienced as a Congressman. Closely associated with State and National affairs. Knows the needs of Nebraska people. The logical candidate to elect.

Mr. Brewer was a son of Grandma Brewer and a brother of Mrs. Len Jeffrey, of Allen, and lived here a number of years ago. He was a doctor at Jackson a number of years and later practiced medicine in Sioux City. He was 68 years old and had been ill about eight months, suffering from a general breakdown. Mr. Brewer came to Dixon county as a young man in 1872 and will be remembered by many of the old timers.

Sioux City Journal, 20: Fire of unknown origin Wednesday night threatened the destruction of the Omaha railroad bridge one and a half miles north of Nacora, Neb. The crew of a south bound freight train discovered the blaze shortly after 11 o'clock and gave the alarm. Wrecking trains, which were hurried to the scene, after a fight that lasted the greater part of the night, saved the bridge and it was reported safe for travel at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Traffic on the road was held up for several hours. The Omaha-Sioux City pas-

Dear Sir:

Your favor just received. In reply will say that the methods employed in your office will compare favorably with any office in the state, and at this time I can think of no suggestion for its betterment. I had always considered your predecessor one of the most capable of officers and the office one of the best, and was well pleased indeed to find that it was just as well managed on my last visit to your county.

As I stated in my report, I considered that the high standard of this office was being fully maintained and that further comment was unnecessary. This was a statement of fact. We always endeavor to avoid anything that may be construed as political, for a man's capabilities are not measured that way. And as you have proven your ability in this office I trust that you are not thinking of serious opposition this fall. As intimated in your letter, I would be glad to take up with you at any time any new suggestion or idea you may have relative to your office.

Very truly yours,
JOHN W. TULLEYS.

I am anxious that the books in the Treasurer's office of Dakota County shall be as well kept, if not better, than in any other county in the State of Nebraska, and am working every day with that view. I wrote to Mr. Tulleys, expert accountant, who has made examination of my books for the County, asking him for suggestions and criticisms on my work, and the above is his reply. If I have met with your approval, don't forget me on election day.

Respectfully,
JUSTIN S. BACON
