At the time of the last school census, taken in June 1916, the girl was 12 years old, according to the school record. Her age was given at Dakota City as 16 years. The license was issued by County Judge Sherman W. McKinley and the wedding was performed by Justice D. M. Nieswanger with the written consent of the parents of the couple, and on the understanding that the girl was 16 years old. Her birthday is said to be in October. D., and South Sioux City.... Clyde Armour of Sioux City, who was murdered while en route overland by automobile from Denver to Fresno, Cal., and whose body was found near Glorieta, N. M. was shot in the back with his own gun, which he owned since boyhood, said Roy Armour, Hubbard, Neb. his brother, who returned from Santa Fe Tuesday night. Six shots were extracted from the backbone of Clyde's body. The charge had entered the body near the shoulders and had passed through the coat and shirt collars. The shotgun which the murderer had used was found lying near the body with one shell discharged. This gun was recognized by Roy Armour as the one Clyde had owned since he had first gone hunting on his father's farm in Nebraska. The preliminary hearing for E. W. Blancett, now being held in the state penitentiary at Santa Fe as the traveling companion of Clyde Armour and as his alleged murderer, will not be held for at least two weeks, according to physicians who are attending the wounded man. If Blancett pleads not guilty the trial probably will not be held until late in March, as the spring term of the district court at Santa Fe will not be held until that month. That Blancett recognized Roy Armour as the brother of Clyde when he was confronted by him is a certainty, according to Roy. "Five of us walked into Blancett's cell Friday morning," said Roy, "and we stood around the cot on which Blancett lay. When we got in range of his vision Blancett picked me out of the crowd and held me with his startled eyes for nearly a minute. After that he sank down into the bed and would not look at me again.

"When I asked him if he recognized Clyde's brother he asked: 'Clyde who? The attendant would not let me question him further.'" Tom Doran, proprietor of the Montezuma hotel, at Santa Fe; W. M. Higgleman, of Santa Fe; J. B. Kake, a brother-in-law of Clyde Armour, of Hubbard, Neb., and Melvin Dunlavey, the Armour's attorney at Santa Fe, accompanied Roy on this visit to the alleged murderer. Doran identified Blancett as the man who had posed as Clyde Armour while he stopped at the Montezuma hotel in Santa Fe, but Blancett would not admit that he had ever seen Doran before. To all questions put to him by men who claimed to know him while he had been in Santa Fe Blancett gave the same answer. "I don't know any of you guys I never have been here before and have never seen any of you." Edward Rich, an insurance man of Santa Fe, also has identified Blancett. Rich is the man to whom Armour's impostor became heavily indebted during his short stay in Santa Fe, as a result of several evenings spent in card games. Rich holds an I. O. U. which Armour's impersonator gave to him before leaving Albuquerque, covering the amount of his debt. This signature tallies with the handwriting of A. W. Blancett, who registered below Clyde Armour at the hotel in Las Vegas. The automobile in which Clyde Armour started his journey from Sioux City has been found. It was located several days ago in El Paso, Tex. It is known that Armour's traveling companion, supposedly Blancett, sold the car to Harry Hanlon, of Albuquerque, for $500. Hanlon then sold the car several days after his purchase to Orville Dyer, of Albuquerque, for $750. Because he was afraid that he would lose some money if the car were finally located, Hanlon refused to tell the name of the purchaser of the car. The car is now in Albuquerque and will be brought to Santa Fe as evidence in the murder trial. The body of Armour will be brought back to the Nebraska home for burial after the trial, but, according to Roy Armour, this probably will not be until spring. Blancett is suffering great pain from his self-inflicted wound and probably will not recover in the opinion of Roy Armour. Physicians who are attending the wounded man say that he will recover, but that it may be several weeks before he is out of danger. The charge from the shotgun which Blancett used in his attempted suicide entered the front part of his neck and came out back of his left ear. Blancett is not represented by attorneys as yet, but a wire has been sent to his home at Friday Harbor, Wash., asking that two lawyers come to Santa Fe to represent him in the trial. Blancett's mother, Mrs. W. Blake, of Friday Harbor, is scheduled to arrive in Santa Fe this week. She will remain with her son until the case is settled. That further evidence has been disclosed in the identification of the body of Clyde Armour became known yesterday when Dr. J. E. DeWalt, a Sioux City dentist, found several dental charts of work he had done on Clyde's teeth in 1908, 1910 and 1913. The charts were forwarded to Dr. E. O. Harrison, of Santa Fe, who requested the local doctor to send them. The charts will be used by the state as evidence in the trial of E. W. Blancett, who is being held on the charge of murder.

SCHOOL NOTES.

By Clarence Linton.

School was dismissed Monday in order that the teachers might attend the meeting of the Woodbury county teachers at Sioux City. The teachers in Sioux City were fortunate in getting to attend all the sessions. They also have some sympathizers now when they are unable to make connections to get to school, for the teachers in Dakota City depend upon the street car and consequently missed the Ponca train and had to wait until 9:38. Three very good lectures were given in the afternoon which should bring inspiration to any teacher and enlarge the vision of the teaching profession. Mr. Gilbert of Illinois spoke on "The Grades," dealing with the inspirational element in teaching boys and girls. Supt. Clark of Sioux City gave a brief review of "The Brown Mouse" and a very helpful talk on vocational interests of students. The state superintendent of schools of Illinois spoke last on "Reminders."

The boys' basket ball team went to Emerson Saturday evening returning Sunday morning. A very interesting and clean game was played with much speed. We are not surprised that our boys lost by a score of 34 to 49. They did very creditable work and with a little more development will give Emerson a hard game on our own floor March 2. Our boys need more speed and accuracy in throwing baskets.

A basket ball game is expected with a Sioux City team this Friday evening on our own floor if the lights are provided by that time.

Miss Fleming and Miss Follett took sixteen of their pupils through Armour's packing house Saturday. Language work was based upon the trip for Monday.

The juniors and seniors went with Mr. Linton to the public library at Sioux City Tuesday for special reference work on their theses and orations. A brief bibliography of books was made by each student and some good books were taken by the students for further study.

Geraldine Heikes has taken ill again and will be confined to her bed for two weeks. Her classmates miss her and wish her a speedy recovery.

Miss Lillian Orr of Sioux City visited the grades Wednesday afternoon.

The primary room has been studying "Eskimos" the past month. Sickness has caused many absences in the primary room the past week.

Your Last Chance.

Recently we published in these columns an offer of the Youth's Companion and McCall's Magazine, both for a full year, for only $2.10, including a McCall Dress Pattern. The high price of paper and ink has obliged McCall's Magazine to raise their subscription price February 1 to 10 cents a copy and 75 cents a year—so that the offer at the above price must be withdrawn.

Until March 31 our readers have the privilege of ordering both publications for a full year, including the choice of any 15-cent McCall Pattern, for only $2.10.

The amount of reading, information and entertainment contained in the fifty-two issues of the Youth's Companion and the value of twelve monthly fashion numbers of McCall's at $2.10 offer a real bargain to every reader of this paper.

This two-at-one-price offer includes:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues.
2. The Companion Home Calendar for 1917.
