Lutheran Church Notes

DAKOTA CITY—SALEM
 REV. C. R. LOWE.
 A congregational meeting is called for next Sunday at Salem to consider an amendment to the constitution to the effect that the church year and the synodical year close at the same time. At present the church year closes at Easter and the synodical year closes September 30. All can, no doubt, see the advantage of the proposed arrangement.

The Salem Ladies' Aid will meet on June 28, 2 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Jacob Leamer, 3824, Orleans avenue, Sioux City. Take a Morningside car, off at Orleans avenue, go down the hill about two blocks, on left side of street, or drive out the Morningside boulevard to the bank and turn down the hill. The serving committee is Mrs. Ray Hoch, Mrs. Hugh Graham, Mrs. W. A. Heikes, Mrs. J. F. Leamer. We are hoping for a fine day and a good crowd, and the first will insure the second from what we have heard. Some of the men, even, have said they were going to try to go.

The change in the hour of Emmanuel Sunday school makes it possible for the pastor to go to Homer to preach at that time. We enjoy the vacant Sunday afternoon as well as anyone, and it is some work to preach in the afternoon, but many other preachers do it and we have done a good deal of it, too. And while it is possible, and the church at Homer is vacant and wants the service we do not like to have them without it with only our own ease as a reason.

The Bible pronounces a woe on those who are at ease in Zion, and that has as much to do with preachers as it does with laymen. Personally we are not trying to escape the woe but we want to serve the people who want the gospel. The world is calling for it and why should we not preach if we can, tho it is extra labor. The good pastor of St. John's church often does not get home for three weeks at a time, I'm told. He is driving over his parish. Salem's pastor is not called to do that, and we are glad we can go to Homer. There will be no permanent arrangements made yet, however.

Independent and Bell Telephone Companies Form a National System

Independent telephone companies operate exclusively in three-fourths of the towns and cities in the United States having telephone exchanges.

The other one-fourth of the towns in this country having telephone exchanges are served by telephone companies comprising the Bell System.

There is competition between Independent and Bell telephone companies in a small percentage of the towns in the United States.

The long distance lines of the Bell System connect with the exchanges and long distance lines of most of the Independent Companies, thus forming a universal telephone service throughout the nation.
