God said: "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy, it is low at her home west of Homer, the Sabbath of the Lord thy God." And if a man thinks he can break the specific command of God and steal the day and get away with it he is ignorant of history and thinks God put a joker in His law. But we shall be held strictly accountable for our observance of it. The thing a man should do in all cases is to honor God, even to giving Him the benefit of the doubt. Israel thought it could steal the Sabbatical year from God, and He let them think so for 490 years, then they were removed from the land long enough to make She came Monday. up for what they had not observed. God doesn't act in a hurry, but He always is in at the settlement. "He that honoreth Me I will honor." Because we do not recognize God's visitations for good or ill we doubt if there is any visitation, but He has a thousand ways to prosper a man, or to bring him to grief. Some Sunday workers' troubles are proverbial. A Christian man told me only recently: "Our work on the farm is always caught up; we are not behind with it as some men are." Don't steal God's day.
