FARM BUREAU NOTES

C. R. Young, County Agent

We are in receipt of a letter from the Blue Cross Serum company, Superior, Neb., stating that they can secure several car loads of stock hogs from 70 pounds up, at $16.50 per Cwt.

Hog cholera was found last week in the herd belonging to Clay Armbright, near Dakota City. The herd was vaccinated and losses will probably be light.

Numerous letters are still being received asking for grain of all kinds, together with alfalfa. This is an opportunity for farmers to cut out the middle man.

During this season of the year when chapped and cracked hands are so common, nothing about the house will be more popular than a lotion made of equal parts bayrum, arnica and glycerine. Apply to the hands just after drying, but when still damp.

Why not spend a few days at the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago, November 30th to December 7th? This is the biggest and best show in the world and promises to be better than any ever before.

Now is a good time to cull the laying flock. Old hens and those of poor laying conformation should be eliminated. If you are not familiar with the points to be had in a good laying type of fowls, desire a demonstration, notify the County Agent's office and we will render any assistance possible.

Didn't Have Well Day For 11 Years

TAKES TANLAC AND NOW FEELS FINE ALL THE TIME--HAS GAINED 16 POUNDS.

"Following an attack of nervous prostration eleven years ago I never knew what a well day was until Tanlac set me right," said C. A. Crawford, the well-known contracting painter and paper hanger, living at 2323 Q street, Lincoln, Neb., recently.

"There's bound to be something unusual about a medicine that will straighten a person up who has been completely knocked out for so long," continued Mr. Crawford. "I was a total nervous wreck, couldn't sleep good, and my stomach was so out of whack that it needed making over. Nothing I could eat agreed with me, and I lost weight until I was just a living skeleton. I was laid up every summer for three or four months at a time."

"I finally bought a bottle of Tanlac, thinking if it was doing so much for other people, it might help me, too. Well, when I first began taking it I just weighed one hundred pounds--had fallen off from one hundred and thirty-five--so this will give you some idea of my terrible condition. Tanlac woke up my appetite in short order, put me to eating hearty, and started me up hill. I have already gotten back sixteen pounds of my lost weight and am still gaining right along. My nerves are so much stronger, and I have improved so much in every way that I feel like a different man. I have been working hard all day long every day this summer, sleep good every night and feel fine all the time. I am now full of life and energy, and I don't hesitate to say Tanlac has done more for me than everything else I have tried put together."

Tanlac is sold in Dakota City by Neiswanger Pharmacy.--Adv.

How Does a Soldier Feel in a Life-and-Death Crisis?

He was caught--like a rat in a trap--with only one chance in a million of coming out alive. He thought of--

What does a soldier think of in a life-and-death crisis? How does he feel? What does he do? What is the millionth chance that he takes to escape? While trembling and hot from the experiences they have gone through, over two hundred men--airmen, trench raiders, submarine commanders, grenade throwers--have told what they saw, heard and felt. To read these stories of personal adventure is to get an entirely new viewpoint of the war.

A Close-Up of the War

Newspapers and magazines treat the war along broad, general lines--they speak of nations and armies. But these stories tell you about the most daring, audacious and heroic deeds of MEN--individuals. They tell of exploits which even now you think never could happen.

"True Adventures of the Great War" 6 Volumes Free!

The Review of Reviews has collected these two hundred and more stories in six handsome volumes, containing altogether 1800 pages, profusely illustrated. Every one of these stories is absolutely genuine as to the facts related; every one of them is told in the words of the person who is the hero or heroine of the exploit. And now for a limited time, you can secure these six volumes free, with a two-year subscription to the Review of Reviews.

Now, and during these next few years, as never before, every intelligent American will need the Review of Reviews. The world is on the verge, it is in the throes of social, industrial and political changes that are cataclysmic. One cannot form opinions on these revolutionary events, one cannot base his acts intelligently upon them--one cannot understand the real war situation, unless the facts, all the facts, are known. It is genuine patriotic duty in these coming days of trial for every citizen to know comprehensively what is happening in the world around him.

Send No Money. The subscription to Review of Reviews is offered at the regular price. The six volumes described above will be given in addition, absolutely free. So that no one may act in the dark, the books will be sent first for examination, all charges prepaid, and if they do not come up to expectation, they may be returned within five days, and the subscription cancelled. Only my name for a two-year subscription. Immediate acceptance of the first edition of this set will be offered free with a two-year subscription. In 5 days if I am not satisfied with them, or I will send you $20 in 5 days and $1 a month for the next 11 months thereafter, making a total of $20.00, which is the regular price of the magazine alone. Plus $10 to partially cover packing and shipping six volumes.
