

13 Dollars— 13 Cents

When Swift & Company paid, say,—13 dollars per hundredweight for live beef cattle last year, the profit was only 13 cents! In other words, if we had paid $13.13, we would have made no profit.

Or, if we had received a quarter of a cent per pound less for dressed beef we would have made no profit.

It is doubtful whether any other business is run on so close a margin of profit.

This is bringing the producer and the consumer pretty close together—which should be the object of any industry turning raw material into a useful form.

This remarkable showing is due to enormous volume, perfected facilities (packing plants strategically located, branch houses, refrigerator cars, etc.), and an army of men and women chosen and trained to do their special work.

This, and many other points of interest, are found in the Swift & Company Year Book for 1919, just published which is brought out for the public as well as for the 25,000 Swift & Company shareholders.

The Year Book also represents the packer's side of the Federal Trade Commission investigation, upon which Congress is asked to base action against the industry.

Many who have never heard the packer's side are sending for the Year Book.

Would you like one? Merely mail your name and address to the Chicago office and the book will come to you.

WHEN PEACE CAME

Oppressive Silence Followed the Great Crash.

Hard at First to Realize That the Carnage of Four Dreadful Years Had Ended—Huns Defeated but Unrepentant.

With a silence like that which follows the mighty crash of a great organ, the great war came suddenly to an end. No longer do the weary soldiers at listening posts strain their ears through long night watches; star shells have ceased to burst and flame over No Man's land; cannons have cooled; machine guns utter no sound; the exchange of all manner of deadly missiles has stopped. At last peace, which for four slow, dreadful years has seemed afar off like a mirage, has come. The thousand and one activities of battle, intense to the last ounce of possible human effort, are relaxed. Ships now cross the ocean in safety; smoke from thousands of ammunition plants no longer darkens the sky; tired workers return once more to their homes; armies are demobilizing; reconstruction of devastated homes and farms and factories is contemplated; the dreadful military debauch has consumed itself; the world draws a great sigh of exhaustion and relief; the conflict is ended.

In all history no message ever sped so gladly nor so fast as the few words flashed through the air, and under oceans, and over land wires, until around the whole world and to its uttermost accessible parts the news was carried. What wonder that all civilization gave vent to a frenzy of joy almost barbaric, that men shouted and women wept; and little children witnessed an event which threescore years and ten hence they will relate to other wide-eyed children. In our joy let us not forget those millions of fathers whose voices refused to cheer, and those mothers and wives and sweethearts whose eyes were dry, because their hearts were bowed down with a sorrow no victory can ever compensate.

The Huns ceased only when physically exhausted; when their ammunition was spent; when the war had reached their own borders; when they no longer possessed the ability to murder the defenseless, to gas the brave. Their regret is that they failed, but not one single word of penitence for the harm they have done, the sorrow they have caused. Instead they think only of their bellies and demand, not supplicate, the food they have so wantonly destroyed for years; they whine lest the very cars they stole from France and Belgium be returned to their rightful owners. They have been beaten in what was for nearly four years an unequal struggle, but for any world which has yet to come out of Germany they are the same unregenerate Huns who, casting aside all the obligations of a civilized nation, marched into Belgium in August, 1914. —Chicago Evening Post.

Believe It or Not!

Friends of S. F. Lockbridge, former state senator, and James I. Nelson, both of Greencastle, are telling a story regarding the strange actions of hogs on their farms last summer. Mr. Lockbridge went to his farm west of Greencastle and on arriving at a field in which were some fat hogs he saw the animals jumping into the air. He investigated and found them after big, yellow-striped grasshoppers.

The same story is told of Mr. Nelson, except that his hogs were so wild over the grasshoppers that he had to remove them to another field where the provender was not so plentiful. In order to prevent the hogs from running off the fat faster than he could put it on by heavy feeding.

The grasshoppers were as large as a man's thumb and were in such quantities that the hogs by exerting themselves could catch enough to make their efforts "worth while."—Indianapolis News.

Fine Pearl Necklaces.

Of 30 necklaces which have been made from the magnificent collection of pearls contributed to the Red Cross from all parts of the British empire, two are of considerable interest.

One of them is composed almost entirely of the fine collection of pearls sent from Egypt as a result of the Red Cross appeals, and the other is a specially beautiful necklace of pearls of the straw-colored tone which is so much sought after by buyers. The necklaces are not of uniform size; they vary in length, in color and, of course, in value. But all of them are of great beauty, for they consist of the best pearls from many famous necklaces, as well as from less well-known ones, matched by the chief experts in London.

The World Does Move.

The war has made many changes in world conditions. None perhaps is more picturesque than what has happened in Mesopotamia, the land over which Nebuchadnezzar once ruled. This year's harvest tells the story.

While not busy fighting the Turk and his Teutonic associates, the British found time to dig out a hundred ancient irrigation ditches and to bring into cultivation 320,000 acres. They have also given to Bagdad electric light, paved streets, waterworks, sewerage, a fire department and a police force.

HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES IF YOUR BACK ACHES

Do you feel tired and "worn-out"? Are you nervous and irritable? Don't sleep well at night? Have a "dragged out" unrested feeling when you get up in the morning? Dizzy spells? Bilious? Bad taste in the mouth, backache, pain or soreness in the loins, and abdomen? Severe distress when urinating, bloody, cloudy urine or sediment? All these indicate gravel or stone in the bladder, or that the poisonous microbes, which are always in your system, have attacked your kidneys.

You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The oil soaks gently into the walls and lining of the kidneys, and the little poisonous animal germs, which are causing the inflammation, are immediately attacked and chased out of your system without inconvenience or pain.

Don't ignore the "little pains and aches," especially backaches. They may be little now but there is no telling how soon a dangerous or fatal disease of which they are the forerunners may show itself. Go after the cause of that backache at once, or you may find yourself in the grip of an incurable disease.

Do not delay a minute. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In 24 hours you will feel renewed health and vigor. After you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two Capsules each day so as to keep in first-class condition, and ward off the danger of future attacks. Money refunded if they do not help you. Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand, and thus be sure of getting the genuine.—Adv.

Tired Nervous Mothers

Should Profit by the Experience of These Two Women

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am the mother of four children, and for nearly three years I suffered from a female trouble with pains in my back and side, and a general weakness. I had professional attendance most of that time but did not seem to get well. As a last resort I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do all my household work."—Mrs. B. B. ZIELINSKA, 202 Weiss Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it at times I could not be on my feet at all. I was all run down and so weak I could not do my housework, was nervous and could not lie down at night. I took treatments from a physician but they did not help me. My Aunt recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried it and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound the credit."—Mrs. JOSEPHINE KIMBLE, 935 West Race Street, Portland, Ind.
