The gasoline immediately caught fire from the Ford engine, setting the car afire. The blaze spread rapidly in the car and the fire extinguishers were of practically no benefit in checking the blaze. The car was completely destroyed.

In canning soft fruits, such as strawberries or sweet cherries, by the cold pack process, the fruit should not be blanched or cold-dipped. Stem or seed them as the case requires, and pack them immediately in the containers. Then fill with boiling thin syrup, and screw covers on tightly. Sterilize 15 minutes in hot water bath, tighten covers, invert containers to cool and test for leakage, wrap in paper and store in a cool place.

Rhubarb is one of the first fruits which we have access to in the spring. Rhubarb can be dried so that it can be used in the winter months. It can also be used to make jelly, preserves or marmalade. The extract of rhubarb does not make a perfect jelly when used alone but can be combined with the pectin secured from orange rind which will result in a very nice jelly.

Orange and Rhubarb Marmalade
Remove peel in quarters from 8 oranges. Cook peel until soft, in enough boiling water to cover; drain remove white part from peel by scraping it with a spoon. Cut thin yellow in strips. Divide oranges in sections, remove seeds and tough part of skin. Put in a preserving kettle, add five pounds of rhubarb, skinned and cut in one-half inch pieces. Heat to boiling point and boil one-half hour; then add four pounds of sugar and the cut orange rind. Cook slowly two hours. Turn into glasses.

Rhubarb Conserve
3 1/2 cups rhubarb (dried).
1 cup raisins.
5 cups sugar.
1/2 cup nut meats.
1 orange (grated rind and juice).
Soak rhubarb in 7 cups water 6 to 8 hours and cook in water in which soaked until tender. Add sugar, raisins and oranges. Put through a food chopper and cook slowly for 30 minutes. Add nuts, chopped, just before removing from fire. Put in glasses and cover with paraffin.

The juice can be extracted from the dried product and used in mince-meat, which gives it a delicious flavor. The extract also makes a delightful basis for fruit punches. The juice may be added to mulberries which will give them the flavor that is needed. Cherries may also be added to mulberries to add flavor.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

C. R. Youngs, County Agent

Seldom do we have potato bugs more destructive than they are this year. Don't allow them to strip the vines before poisoning, as such potatoes cannot produce well. Be sure to use enough poisoning material to kill them all at one application. Four or five pounds to fifty gallons of water will do the work if the solution is kept well agitated. Arsenate of lead has an advantage over Paris green, in that it does not wash off the vines so readily and has no burning effect.

Many of our boys and girls should be planning to attend the vocational school offered by the School of Agriculture of the State University. This is open to those over fifteen years of age, who have completed the eighth grade. Agriculture, automobile and tractor work are open to boys. Household management, sewing, millinery and home nursing are offered to girls. No tuition is charged and other expenses are light. School year is only for six and one-half months beginning October 10th. This office can secure you a catalog.

This season is bringing its usual number of spring pig ailments. Where pigs are rough haired, gaunt, or pot-bellied, scour, and have a general unthrifty condition, it is well to suspect worms. Pigs thus effected should be shut off feed for 24 hours and be given a dose of six grains of santonine and four grains calomel for each 100 pounds live weight of hogs. Have the druggist put this up in doses for 15 to 20 pigs as it is best to feed in small numbers to insure each pig is getting its share. The amount of medicine is too small to measure accurately if bought in quantity for large herds of pigs. Feed in heavy slop or it may be fed in soaked oats or ground corn. Be sure to mix thoroughly. Use only a small feed. Do not feed heavy for next twenty-four hours.

Poultry Problems Loom Up in Hot Weather.

Chickens do better through hot weather if provided with plenty of shade, say University extension poultrymen. It pays to provide artificial shade if there are no trees or bushes. Over-crowding often results in disaster in hot weather. A coop that is large enough to hold the baby chicks will not do when they are two or more months old. Growing chicks require plenty of room. Many people obtain room by culling the flock, marketing many of the cockerels and pullets, retaining only the vigorous birds as breeders, for these are the only ones which turn a profit.
