TO ALL SOLDIERS, SAILORS AND MARINES.

CONGRESSMAN R. E. EVANS URGES SOLDIERS AND SAILORS TO CARRY GOVERNMENT INSURANCE.

Many soldiers, sailors, and marines, who have been discharged from the service, are permitting their insurance to lapse. I write this letter to urge:

1. Hold to your government insurance.
2. Pay your premiums promptly.

If you have permitted your insurance to lapse or have cancelled it, immediately reinstate it under the provisions for so doing.

This insurance has already been a benefit to a great many people. The government is offering to carry your insurance for less than any company will do it.

If you do not have any person dependent on you, still keep your insurance because it is better than a bank account. The government is back of it and the little hardship of denial will be in a few years a profitable investment for you without any chance to lose.

The government offers six forms of insurance:

1. Ordinary life.
2. Twenty-payment life.
3. Thirty-payment life.
4. Twenty-year endowment.
5. Thirty-year endowment.
6. Endowment maturing at the age of 62.

All policies contain the total disability clause making them payable at any time you become disabled, no matter what age.

Now you do not need a physical or mental examination. Later you may not be able to pass an examination.

This insurance you cannot assign so it is bound to go to your benefit or that of your beneficiaries. It is a homestead in money.

You can pay your premiums either monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually. After your government policy will be one year old it will have a guaranteed cash value, also paid up insurance and extended term insurance values.

DO NOT PUT OFF REINSTATING YOUR POLICY.

It is not true that War Risk insurance is to be turned over to private companies.

The government retains control and gives you the benefit of the work and expense to carry on your insurance. No one can make a profit off of this insurance but you. If any person advises you to drop the insurance or states it is to be turned over to private companies, notify the writer or the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

Fargo, N. D., Forum, June 21: A very quiet wedding occurred at 8 o'clock this morning at St. Anthony of Padua's church when Miss Alma Haddorff, who has been a resident of Fargo for the past four years, became the bride of Guy Stinson of Huron, S. D. Rev. Vincent Ryan, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony, which was followed by the nuptial mass. The bride wore a tailored suit of navy blue with accessories to correspond, and carried a white prayer book. Her flowers were a corsage of white roses. Miss Olive Stinson, sister of the bride groom, of Dakota City, Neb., was the bride's attendant and she was also gowned in a blue suit and wore roses. Ben Schmalien of Fargo acted as best man. Only the family members and intimate friends of the couple witnessed the wedding. A four-course wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. O. D. Blair, Hogan apartments, with whom she has made her home, after the ceremony. The appointments were carried out in pink and white and sweet peas were the flowers used in the home decorations. Miss Clara Young, a friend of the bride, assisted in serving the breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Stinson left this afternoon over the Great Northern for a trip to the Twin Cities and Irene, S. D., where they are to be guests of Mrs. Stinson's mother, Mrs. T. Lundie, and her sister, Mrs. John Nelson. Before going to Huron, S. D., where they are to be at home after August 1, they will visit at the home of Mr. Stinson's parents at Dakota City, Neb. Mrs. Stinson has been employed as bookkeeper at the Alex Stern company during her residence in Fargo. Mr. Stinson is a traveling salesman for the clothing firm of Finch, Van Slyke and McConville of St. Paul, with headquarters at Huron, S. D. Out of town guests here for the wedding were Mr. Stinson's mother, Mrs. Mary J. Stinson and daughter, Misses Olive and Aileen Stinson of Dakota City, Neb.

ance of the person and his address. The reason the government is furnishing you insurance at less than cost is because you risked your life for the nation or were willing to risk your life.

Reinstatements of lapsed insurance is allowed up to nine months of the first day of lapse. The following are the rules for reinstatement:

1. Where the insured has paid no premiums since discharge.
- a. If not discharged more than three months, the policy may be reinstated by simply sending in past due premiums, provided the insured is still living. No application for reinstatement or proof of good health is required.
- b. If discharged more than three months and less than nine months, insured must be in as good health as at date of discharge and so state in his application for reinstatement when sending in premiums past due. No medical examination is required.
- c. If insured was discharged before January 1, 1919, the insured may be reinstated at any time before September 30, 1919, on the same conditions as in paragraph b above; namely, insured must be in as good health as at date of discharge and so state in his application for reinstatement when sending in past due premiums. No medical examination is required.
2. Where the insured has paid the first premium due after he was discharged but failed to pay some of the later ones.
- a. If less than three months behind in premium payments and insured is in as good health as when policy lapsed, and so states in his application, he may reinstate without medical examination by sending in premiums past due.
- b. If more than three months behind and less than nine months, insured may reinstate, if in as good health as at the date when the insurance lapsed and so state in his application and submit therewith a satisfactory report to that effect to the Director of War Risk Insurance from a reputable physician, together with premiums past due.
3. Where the insurance has been formerly cancelled it may be reinstated on condition similar to the above.

If the policy holder is unable to keep the full amount of War Risk insurance he carried while in the service, he may reinstate part of it from $1,000.00 up to $10,000.00 in multiples of $500.00. Reductions may be made in multiples of $500.00. Premiums are due on the first of the month although payment may be made at any time during the calendar month. Premiums should be paid by check, draft, or money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States, and sent to the Premium Receipt Section, Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C.

The Bureau of War Risk Insurance urges all discharged service men, whenever they write to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance to be sure to furnish the following information:

1. Full name (including first, middle, and last name) and complete address.
2. Rank at the time of applying for insurance.
3. Army or navy organization at time of applying for insurance.
4. Army serial number, if in the army.
5. The number of insurance certificate if known.

If this is done the handling of the matter will be greatly expedited.

Notwithstanding the reinstatement ruling, service men must bear in mind that while they have the opportunity to again put their policies in force, if the insurance becomes lapsed at the end of the calendar month death claims will not be paid if death should occur before reinstatement of the policy. Premiums should be kept up to insure safety of the policy, hence the slogan, "Don't fall behind."

If you wish to write me personally for advice or information about your government insurance, I shall esteem it a privilege to give your inquiries my personal attention.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT E. EVANS.

SHERIFF GEO. CAIN.

Dakota County Officer a Terror To Booze Runners.

Sunday's Lincoln State Journal published the following article from reports furnished by state officers who have been active in fighting the liquor importers since the state went into the dry column:

"While two steamboats and a staff of special agents have been watching the liquor traffic along the Missouri boundary, while a fleet of automobiles has been patrolling the Wyoming border, the task of watching illegal importations from northern territory has devolved largely upon one man—

Sheriff George Cain of Dakota City, Minnesota, with a county option system, had many wet counties prior to July 1. The favorite route of bootleggers was through a corner of Iowa, bringing the liquor into Nebraska by way of Sioux City. Once having evaded the police force of Sioux City and crossed the river, all that lay between the bootleggers and an immense profit was Sheriff Cain and his staff, with the occasional assistance of a state agent.

In the course of his patrol along the northern border Sheriff Cain has had some of the most exciting adventures that have fallen to the lot of any of Nebraska's prohibition law enforcers. One of the most thrilling runnings was with a man named James Davis, later convicted of bootlegging.

Davis had repeatedly asserted to his comrades, according to the story told by Sheriff Cain, that he would not hesitate to shoot the first officer that tried to stop him with a cargo of liquor. Later Cain met the man when he had the well-advertised gun and 480 quarts of whiskey in his possession. But the officer was quicker with his gun than the self-styled gun man, with the result that the man was later convicted of bootlegging and his cargo of liquor was taken into custody.

Later Sheriff Cain actually ran across a bootlegger who used his gun. The sheriff's automobile picked up the trail near the border, and chased the alleged offender for six miles before he was overhauled. A continuous running gun fight was maintained, and it was only after the severest kind of skirmishing that the car was captured, along with 125 quarts of liquor.

There have been numerous other exciting chases in and near Dakota City. In all the sheriff has had a hand in running down fourteen automobiles later proved to be operating in an illegal liquor business. Eight of those cars were taken while working with state agents, while three were taken single-handed by Sheriff Cain. The other three were taken by the sheriff and his assistants.

Sioux City, with seventy-five policemen, was powerless to stop the liquor traffic through its gates. Sheriff Cain, with one or two assistants, has almost succeeded in cutting off all liquor importations from that source, according to state officers."
