USE WHITEWASH.

(From Farm Bureau News). A coating of whitewash on the stable, both inside and out, on the corral fences and the outside buildings adds much to the appearance of the farm. It adds much to the health of the animals confined in the enclosures.

Whitewash is cheap, it is easily applied, and will contribute much to the pride and pleasure of the farm owner whose buildings have been preserved and their appearance enhanced by its use. Whitewash can not take the place of paint, and paint can not take the place of whitewash. There is a place for both on the average farm. They ought to have a more extensive use.

The following formula will be valuable to the man who wants to use whitewash:
 Half a bushel of unslaked lime; make with warm water, covering it during the process to keep in the steam; strain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer; add a peck of salt, previously dissolved in warm water, three pounds of thin rice boiled to a thin paste, and stir in boiling hot; half a pound of powdered Spanish whiting and a pound of glue which has been previously dissolved over a slow fire; add five gallons of hot water to the mixture; stir well and let it stand for a few days, covered from the dirt. It should be put on hot. One pint of the mixture, properly applied, will cover a square yard. Small brushes are best. There is nothing that can compare with it for either outside or inside work, and it holds its brilliancy for many years. Coloring matter of any shade may be put in—Spanish brown, yellow ochre or common clay.

This recipe is one used by the government in whitewashing its public buildings.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

THE ORIGIN OF THE TWINE BINDER.

(From Farm Bureau News). A soldier who fought all through the Civil War was a dreamer. He had been a farmer's hired man when the war broke out and he had spent many days gathering up the grain after a harvester and tying the bundles by hand. That was tiresome work and all through the war he dreamed of a machine that would save these backaches.

It was not many years after the war that his dream came true. First he made a machine that tied the bundles with wire. But that was not satisfactory. Then he perfected a small, simple machine which fitted onto a harvester and tied the grain with twine. To John F. Appleby is due the credit for the twine binder used on practically every grain binder today.

That simple device is one of the things that revolutionized farming and made possible our millions of acres of grain. With the scythe, farming was not a business because only a small area could be worked. With modern machinery and modern railroads and modern cities, farming is truly a business. Because of these things the modern farmer has many more chances to make money than in the olden days. American business farmers should feel grateful to John F. Appleby and men of his type who have revolutionized farming.

BREEDERS' ASSOCIATION GROWS.

(From Farm Bureau News). Seven new members were added to the Dakota County Breeders' association last month. We are anxious to enlist every breeder of pure-bred poultry and live stock. Many counties have been organized for several years and all are doing good work. Co-operative advertising and selling, and the introduction of pure-bred sires on every farm are the objects aimed at by the organization. If you have not joined, send your name to C. S. Buckley, President, or the County Agent, who is secretary.

Dewey Heikes spent last week in Boyd county on a land deal in which he and his brother Ray, and Ray Hoch purchased the Polly ranch of 800 acres near Butte. Ray Heikes and Ray Hoch will locate on their new ranch in the spring and will embark in the live stock and farming business.

Clyde Crego arrived here Monday from his claim near Gillette, Wyo. He says that they have had no rain there since he planted his crops until the day he left, and that potatoes, corn and other crops were completely dried out. He left Tuesday for Independence, Iowa, to see his mother, who is seriously ill. Mrs. Crego went from their home in Wyoming to Seattle, Wash., and will visit her sister, Mrs. Lillian Miller, for the remainder of the summer.

One of the dirtiest, un-American tricks that anybody ever heard of in their whole life, was the cutting off and stealing of the flag ropes from the poles at the court house and the Masonic hall in this place one night last week. It is a problem how to get a new rope through the pulleys at the top of the poles again, as "humna flies" are scarce here just at present; and if the party who did the job of stealing is apprehended he will probably get a chance to test the strength of a brand new rope.

The young gypsy maiden who was arrested and haled before the police court in Sioux City last week for displaying her charms in scanty attire to the public gaze on lower Fourth street, had nothing on a bunch of bathers from Crystal Lake who came to town Sunday evening dressed in scanty bathing attire and visited the ice cream parlor and other places that were open to the public, except in the latter case no arrests were made. Those who witnessed the show said it was sure some display of bare extremities, and had the gypsy damsel skinned a mile.

Mads Hansen was down from Emerson Friday transacting business.

Mrs. Eli Paquin of Sioux City, is assisting in the postoffice during the absence of Postmaster Schmid, who is absent on a two weeks' trip to Mason City, Iowa, attending a meeting of the M. B. A. order.

Don Forbes and family drove over to Spirit Lake, Iowa Saturday for a week's outing, where Don says they caught some real fish, and we can vouch for the truth of the statement for we sampled some of the catch.

Fred Edgar came down from Worthington, Minn., Friday, returning on Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Edgar and baby, who had been visiting here at the home of Mrs. Edgar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Niebuhr.

Eric Annes was down from South Sioux City Monday looking after his property interests in this place. He was carrying his hand in a sling, the result of an injury received by being struck on the back of the head by a piece of steel while at work at the Burlington roundhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lynch and two sons, of Smithland, Iowa, were callers on old acquaintances here Friday, being on an outing with a party of friends at Crystal Lake for the day.

Mr. Lynch a few years ago owned and operated the lumber yard in this place, which he traded off for a farm in Iowa, and is now a tiller of the soil. They made the trip here by auto.

Many people are using arsenate of lead this year for their first time. A few report that it does not do the work. Investigation shows that these people do not use a sufficient amount of the poison. Remember that arsenate of lead is not nearly so heavy as paris green. Use the same amount of each by weight. Arsenate of lead will not burn even the most delicate foliage, which gives it quite an advantage over paris green.—Farm Bureau News.

Dakota City defeated the Peters Park team of Sioux City Sunday in a rather listless game, owing to the extreme heat. The score was 4 to 3 in the visitors' half of the ninth. Ray and Dewey Heikes were in the points for the home team, and allowed the visitors 5 hits, striking out 13 batters, while Williams and Hunt for the visitors allowed 6 hits—two of them for extra bases, gave one base on balls and struck out 3 batters. Sam Keir and Emmett Hileman officiated as umpires.

SOIL BUILDERS AND SOIL ROBBERS.

(From Farm Bureau News). A few days ago one of our good citizens made the remark that he wanted to leave his land to the next generation better than he received it. This is a high ideal and one that all should adopt. Because a man has a deed to a piece of his old earth and can show that it is clear from incumbrance, does not give him license to rob it. A recent cartoon showed men in stripes going to the penitentiary for all kinds of crime from stealing chickens to robbing banks. But the farmer with his bags of loot, who was branded as the "Biggest Robber of All," was allowed to go free. There is far more ethric in this than most men will admit.

Farmers should think of this when they burn corn stalks and straw stacks and leave manure to leach away.

With our sharp advance in land values, must come increased rents. Land owners should use precaution in keeping up or even building up the fertility of the soil, for if profits are not coming through good methods of farming, tenants will surely mine the land for it. Many of them will do this any way so that better contracts and more rigid enforcement in things that will maintain the productiveness of the land should go with each lease.

Plant Lice Can Be Controlled.

Black Leaf Forty will control lice on cucumber and melon vines, according to University Extension Service bulletin No. 50, entitled "Home Vegetable Gardening." This poison is made from tobacco and is available in proprietary preparations only. Caterpillar worms can be controlled with arsenate of lead, mixed at the rate of about 6 level tablespoons to one and a half gallons of water. A little soap may be added to make the mixture stick to the leaves.

NEBRASKA EGG-LAYING CONTEST.

(From Farm Bureau News). For the purpose of promoting the breeding of high laying strains of standard-bred poultry, the Nebraska National Egg Laying and Breeding contest has been organized. This contest will be conducted under the direction of the Department of Poultry Husbandry of our State College of Agriculture.

All poultry raisers are invited to make entries. These will consist of ten pullets each, of some standard breed. The contest will continue for one year, beginning November 1. Birds intended for this purpose should reach the State Farm by October 20. The work will be conducted in such a way as to make it as nearly as possible like those of the farm. Only 100 entries will be accepted. This will be a splendid advertising for high laying pullets. Our poultry raisers should avail themselves of this opportunity.

Suggestions on Making Ice Cream.

The University Extension Service makes the following suggestions for making ice cream: Have the ice finely crushed, with pieces as nearly of a size as possible. Use coarse or rock salt in the proportion of three parts ice to one part salt. Mix only enough to fill can once. Scald can, place in proper position in pail, put in the dasher, pour in mixture to be frozen, cover and try handle to see if it turns freely. Pack ice and salt solidly to top of can. As liquids expand in freezing, the can of the freezer should not be more than three-fourths full. Turn the crank slowly and steadily. When freezing begins turn more rapidly and add ice and salt as needed. Never draw off water until mixture is frozen unless there is danger of its getting into the can. When frozen draw off water, remove the dasher and pack solidly with long handled spoon. Put cork in opening, put on cover, and re-pack, using 1 part salt and 4 parts ice. Cover with newspaper and heavy cloth. Let stand at least an hour to ripen.

A SHORTAGE OF MEN IN CHINA.

(From Farm Bureau News). China needs more men. Strange as it may seem, it is said by those who are well acquainted with China, that under their present methods of farming, there is an actual shortage of men. Three out of four men are farmers. There are more men in China than in any other country and labor is cheap.

How different in the Northwest where one man will farm more land than 100 men in China. A Chinaman raises little more than he eats. An American farmer eats little of what he raises but sells his crops and stock to those men in the South who raise his cotton, or to those men in the mines who dig iron or to those men in the city who shape that iron into plows and other things that he needs. In China a farmer gets little money because he doesn't buy much. In the Northwest the farmer gets money for his products and spends this money for the things he needs. Farming in the Northwest is a business and the American farmer is a business man.

Junior Work a Feature at Fairs.

Boys' and Girls' club work will be one of the big features at the State Fair and several county fairs this year. Six hundred dollars in prize money will be offered at the State Fair for excellence in canning and baking. Saline county will hold a junior county fair, at which $800 will be offered in prizes. Seward, Butler, Nuckolls and Buffalo counties will feature junior work at their regular county fairs. Omaha has appropriated $1,000 for boys' and girls' club canning work. About 30,000 boys and girls are working this summer in Nebraska under direction of the boys' and girls' club movement.

M. E. Church Notes

Rev. S. A. Draise, Pastor
 The expressions around the Ohio State Fair grounds are, "Wonderful," "Inscrutable." The biggest thing in Christendom. Music, pictures, pageants, parades, bands, concerts, addresses—men—women—exhibits. Education, spectacular, inspiring, uplifting, generating, dynamic. The world will feel the result of this great throb of human heart interest. The story will be told in the years to come "World for Christ," is the slogan.
 The pastor and wife will be home the last of this week and the work of the church and Sunday school will begin next Sunday.
