

Boy's Trouble Costs Mother Thousands

SUFFERED SINCE HE WAS TWO YEARS OLD—GAINS 16 POUNDS ON TANLAC—NOW WELL AND STRONG

"My nephew, James Hogan, who is fifteen years of age, has gained sixteen pounds on Tanlac and is now a robust, happy boy after thirteen years of awful suffering," said Miss Maggie Goldsmith, 280 Henry Ave., Memphis, Tenn. Miss Goldsmith has been connected with the Joe L. Ullathorne Seed Co., of that city for twenty-seven years and is a stockholder and director in the company.

"Ever since James was two years old," continued Miss Goldsmith, "he has been afflicted with stomach trouble. Two or three hours after eating, especially the evening meal, he would begin to complain of severe pains in his stomach which would increase until he would go into convulsions. These spells would come on five or six times a month and last about thirty minutes and he would be unconscious for an hour. Some said he had heart trouble and others said it was vertigo. His condition kept him down to almost a skeleton and it was pitiful to see how he suffered.

His mother took him to St. Louis, and many other places for treatment, and we spent thousands of dollars trying to find some relief for him but it was all to no avail.

"But all that awful load of anxiety and worry has been lifted. James is now a well and happy boy and is going to school, and a few bottles of Tanlac did it. He always complained of having to take other medicines, but he seemed to like Tanlac and since taking five bottles he is sixteen pounds heavier and doesn't look like the same boy. He wants to eat all the time and can eat anything without hurting him. It makes us rejoice to see James well!

CAPONS AND CAPONIZING.

(From Farm Bureau News).

Caponizing is an operation which has been performed scores of centuries ago among the Chinese, Greeks and Romans. The operation was finally introduced into America and the last few years the business of producing capons has advanced rapidly.

The operation is performed to increase the quality and quantity of meat. A capon is docile and has a peaceful disposition. All food energy is turned to the building of tender flesh and long soft feathers since he does not develop a large head, no comb, wattles, earlobes or spurs.

A capon will perform the mother duties. His accommodations are more ample than "Madam Hen." He can take complete charge of twenty or thirty little chicks and will never wean them as the mother will do.

Capons are ready to sell along in February or March. At this time of a year all poultry is very scarce and comparatively no hens are sold at this time as they are then producing the most profitable and necessary part of the egg crop. They bring fancy prices because people know their deliciousness and are willing to pay more than for cocks.

Caponizing is not a difficult operation but requires attention and care. The right stage of development and conditions are very essential. No set rules can be given for the age of a bird for caponizing as the sizes vary with breeds. Generally speaking, when birds reach one and one-half to two pounds weight they are ready for the operation.

Before operating be sure that the birds are off food and water for two nights and one day. If they are confined in a cool dark place this will be no hardship to the birds.

There are always some losses due to caponizing—even experts are sure to kill some birds, but the loss is small. Any fowls killed in this operation are perfectly good to eat and are therefore not wasted.

After the operation the birds are ready for their feed. They should be watered first and then fed lightly of whatever they are accustomed to. The capons should be put in a closed yard for a few days and no roosts provided, as the less flying and jumping they do, the sooner the wound will heal.

A week or ten days after the operation some of the capons may develop "wind puffs." This is not at all serious and the remedy is simple. It is caused by the wound healing too rapidly. This can be relieved by cutting a "button-hole" in the skin with a pair of small scissors, then allowing the air to escape.

One poultry suggestion which has received so much emphasis is to produce infertile eggs. A sensible way to do this is to caponize the young males and confine the few old ones used as breeders.

Try having a few capons this season and see for yourself that it will pay.

Mr. H. M. Wells, Extension Poultryman, who was here in March will be here again this month. His time is so occupied in various places over the state that he will not be able to be here more than three days. He will discuss "Summer care of poultry for egg production," and will give demonstrations on caponizing. Those wishing to have Mr. Wells caponize the cockerels in your flock should notify us at once as his time is being scheduled.

Food preservation in canning and drying should be in full swing now. In as much as jars, rubbers and jar tops have advanced so in price, one can avoid a part of this expense by drying a part of the vegetables. Any vegetable can be dried and when prepared for a meal will be as delicious as canned products.

Greens and peas are somewhat difficult to keep when canned but these may be dried and kept without any trouble. They retain their color and flavor fully as well, if not better, than when canned.

Bulletins available on food preservation are as follows:

Drying of Vegetables, Cir. No. 6.
Home Made Drier, Cir. No. 8.
Use of Dried Fruits and Vegetables.
Home Canning and Drying.
Time Table for Canning Fruits and Vegetables.

"GIVE ME A COOL DRINK IN THE SHADE."

(From Farm Bureau News).

The above caption appeared over an article in a farm paper and was said to be on a shipping tag used by a shipper of calves during the hot summer months.

A very high per cent of our farmers have good hog-waterers; and the colts, unless confined to the barn, can generally get to the trough. But how about the hand-fed calf back in the orchard or in some back lot? Perhaps the members of the poultry flock would show their appreciation if the above title was made the farm slogan.

Water is an essential. No animal likes hot water and none will do their best where they must drink it.
