Good Layers Are Profit Makers: Poultry profits are based on the number of hens that lay. Where traps have been used it was found that some hens lay 200 eggs to others 40 or 50 a year. Culling out the poor layers should begin early in June and continue through the summer and fall, says poultry bulletin No. 8 of the Extension Service, College of Agriculture, Lincoln. Careful directions are given for selecting the good layers of the flock. The others should go to the poultry buyer. It is recommended that only the following kinds of hens should be kept: Hens that have vigor and vitality; active hens with capacity and thin pelvic bones; late moulting; all vigorous pullets raised this year.

Emerson Enterprise: Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McAllister, July 22, a girl. Milton Rockwell was run over by the hand car early last week, near Naocra, and dragged on the cinders for a distance. He was severely but not dangerously hurt and is still unable to go to work, although recovering nicely. Last evening when Mr. and Mrs. Nels Feauto went over to M. McEntaffer's for a little visit Mr. Feauto was much surprised to discover the house full of friends and relatives who had gathered to help him celebrate his 77th birthday. They brought him a fine rocking chair as a token of their best wishes. A big cake decorated with his name and age was a happy feature of the evening's entertainment. While Mrs. McEntaffer was planning and giving this evening's pleasure for Mr. Feauto she had not time to remember that it was also her birthday, but her children did not forget it, for they surprised her very much by presenting her a lovely birthday cake decorated with candles. The cake cutting was a happy occasion. Friends who were present were, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Shearer and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shearer, Mrs. J. F. Brustkern, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rockwell and children, Mr. and Mrs. Myers and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Will Shearer and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Levi McEntaffer and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. McEntaffer, daughter and husband of Homer, Mr. and Mrs. Joy Feauto and baby of Wakefield, Mesdames Holecamp, King and Stallbaum, of Carroll. It was an affair that will be long remembered by those participating.

Sioux City Journal, 24: Mrs. Dan Jefferson, of Hubbard, Neb., is ill at St. Vincent's hospital. Miss Madeline Davy has returned from a month's camping with school friends at Saugatuck, Mich., and will spend the remainder of the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davy. Thomas McNish, of South Sioux City, sustained a fractured ankle early last night near his home when struck by an automobile. McNish, ranking his car, stepped back a couple of paces just as another machine passed by. His foot was caught by a wheel on the other car and broken. He is under treatment at St. Joseph's hospital, being taken there in Westcott's ambulance. Because he refused to obey an order of Judge John W. Anderson to surrender a red, a dresser and three chairs to his wife, Everitta Holbrook, Arthur Holbrook has been summoned to appear in the district court tomorrow to show reason why the bottom in the area where he disappeared, but without reaching his body. With the arrival of Commissioner Mann, Capt. Fallon and Motorcycle Policemen Green, Brown and Bert Luke further attempts at diving were made. The rescue party was greatly hampered by the soft, muddy bottom of the lake and finally resorted to the use of grappling hooks. The body was brought to the surface by Policeman Bert Luke with the hooks. From its condition it was evident that Marks, who went down in twelve feet of water, was buried head first in the mud, his head, shoulders and upper part of the body being completely covered with a sticky, plastic mass. Rigor mortis had already set in and no attempt was made to use the pulmotor. The lake victim was 34 years old, and was formerly employed at King's lunch. As far as could be learned last night no immediate members of his family now reside in the city. A sister, Mrs. Louis Wester, resides in South Sioux City.

Making of a good jelly does not necessarily need to depend upon luck. The essential part of fruit juice that makes jelly set is a commercial substance called pectin. Since this is essential, one should determine whether the fruit juice to be used contains this substance. This may be determined by adding 2T. of grain alcohol to 2T. of hot fruit juice. Cool, and if pectin is present a lump of jelly will be formed. The size of the lump will indicate the amount of pectin present.

Some of the cucumber vines which seemed so promising are now being troubled with the striped cucumber beetle. Dusting the plant with air slacked lime will give some relief. For plant lice spray the plant with Black Leaf 40.

Keep in mind the caponizing and culling demonstrations which are being held this week. This work needs your careful consideration at this time. Every poultry raiser should know how to rid the flock of unprofitable hens. The fact that capons bring such high prices from the Christmas season until the end of March, should create a desire to have some capons in your flock.

ADMIRATION NOT CALLED FOR

Aviator Would Very Willingly Have Foregone Gushing Tribute Paid Him by Fair Admirer.

The hardest part of flying is landing, and it is in landing that most would-be aviators come to grief. An experienced pilot who makes a bad landing and goes bouncing across a field is disgraced and usually feels the humiliation to the utmost.

Early in the war a "ladies' day" was held at an airfield in England. Among the guests who thronged the field were many ladies in gala attire. Late in the afternoon a pilot who was a captain gave an exhibition performance. He left the ground in perfect style, did a succession of vertical turns and a few "acrobatics," then shut off his motor to land and receive the applause that he knew was awaiting him from the fair sex.

As the machine neared the ground the captain misjudged his distance, with the result that he hit the ground hard, made a series of high jumps all the way across the field and came at last to rest just in time to avoid crashing into a fence. He turned his machine, "taxied" to the hangar and somewhat sheepishly rejoined the guests. His fellow pilots were having a hard time to restrain themselves from laughter, and just as it appeared that they had succeeded a very fat, gushing sort of woman approached the captain and said in accents loud and clear:

"My dear captain, on behalf of the ladies present I wish to thank you for the wonderful exhibition of flying you have given us. It was truly marvelous. It was positively a beautiful thing to see; and that landing of yours—it was superb! Just like a dear little bird—hop, hop, hop, hop!"—Youth's Companion.

PLACE CHILDREN ABOVE ALL

Little Ones Have Been Aply Described as Monarchs in Homes of Serbian Parents.

The tragedy of the little children of Serbia reduced to starvation, disease and raggedness is really understood only when one comprehends the intense love of home and children that fills all the Serbian hearts.

"The Serbian home is the sanctuary of Serbian life," writes Miss Wagner, "the shrine before which the Serbian heart worships, the altar upon which the products of hand and heart are placed in simple tribute. And the guiding spirit of the home is, of course, the woman, the wife and mother. We must go farther, though, and say that while the mother may be the guiding spirit, the monarch of the home is the child. What we are preaching with renewed intensity today regarding the importance of the child, the education of the child, Serbia has long preached and endeavored to practice. Almost Spartan in its creed is the valuation placed upon a child life. The child is more than a companion to his mother, more than an heir to his father's business, lands or wealth; he is the property of the state. He is part of Serbia! Everything is sacrificed to the welfare and advancement of the child."

Western Stock Coming Into the State

Farmers or ranchers who wish to buy cattle or sheep from western states affected by drought may obtain information from their county agricultural agent relative to the quality of the stock and where it can be purchased. Thousands of head of cattle and sheep will be shipped into the state from Montana, Wyoming, Idaho and other western states. In some counties buyers are co-operating and sending one representative west to get the stock.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

There are more than 3,000,000 Ford cars in daily operation in the United States. This is a little better than one-half of all the motor cars used in America. The Ford car is every man's necessity. No matter what his business may be, it solves the problem of cheapest transportation. We solicit your order now, because production is limited, and we must make it the rule to supply first orders first.
