Lutheran Church Notes

By Rev C. R. Lowe.

All arrangements have been made for the Christmas program and tree at Salem. The time is set for Christmas Eve. The full program will be published next week. Now all await the time and an auspicious night. The committee met at the home of Mrs. Geo. Bates last Tuesday and completed their work so far as it could be completed up to that time. The goodly number of young folks met at the home of Mr. C. C. Beermann last Saturday evening and did some good practicing for the program, and what do you think, right in the midst of the practice, Mrs. Beermann suggested that they needed a rest, and asked them all to the dining room, and O Boy, and oyster stew prepared by Mrs. Beermann, Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Bobier. Who wouldn't rest? It was all appreciated very much indeed. Later the singers returned to the piano and went through their program. The young folks will meet at the home of Mr. Herman Ebel next Friday evening. They will remember the night, Friday.

It is our intention to get the men's class of the Sunday school organized at as early a date as possible now. It is encouraging indeed the way the men are taking hold of the work in the class, and the opportunities they already see for definite work thru the class for the betterment of the whole church work. This is a mighty good sign among us, and when all the men see the things going on, they will be interested. There is a place for every man in the community. When every one is interested, there will be some thing doing, indeed. If you want to know what is going on and what is the mind of the men, come to the class next Sunday. We think it would be a good idea to take a little time Sunday morning to do a little of the organization. Let's do that. If we cannot do it all in one day we will finish another time. Of course it will be impossible to set forth all we want to do at once, and it would not be desirable. We want to grow into the work. We want to be allied with the other men of the United Lutheran church, and feel that we are a part of the whole organization, and not just an individual congregation set here all by our selves. That increases interest in itself.

Our communion services were very well attended last Sunday for a cold winter day. There was a good spirit in the congregation. We rejoice in that. If we would make an effort to meet some business engagements on a cold day, and most of us would, we ought also to make the same effort to be at the house of God, for that is as much our business as any thing else, and is as necessary for the spiritual life as the other is for our life among men. God honors the man who is punctual to meet his obligations. His first command is to love God and the second is to love our fellow men. Let us not get them reversed.

SALEM

It is a good community. Have faith in it. It will be what you make it. Come to church.

PROCLAMATION!

Conditions surrounding the inadequate supply of coal, as a result of strikes, are rapidly becoming unbearable. Unless relief is obtained at the earliest possible moment, there is no telling the extent to which disaster may be visited upon the people of our commonwealth. It is no longer a matter of ascribing causes—results alone will suffice.

Therefore, in this great emergency, and in sympathy with movements that have already been started in this state, I have the following to suggest:

Five hundred students of the University of Nebraska have volunteered for service in the mines in territory from which Nebraska obtains its supply of coal. This volunteer force may be greatly augmented by enlistments from all parts of the state.

I have wired governors of adjoining coal producing states to the effect that these forces are available for emergency service, with the understanding that "they are to be given adequate police protection and the necessary comforts of living." I am expecting prompt advice from the governors of these states as to what the possibilities are of producing relief through these channels, and I am in hopes that by the time their answers are received, the movement for voluntary service in this state will have been sufficiently well organized to go at once to any field in which the opportunity is afforded for service.

In order that organization may be effected most expeditiously, it is requested that all those who desire to enlist for volunteer service shall make the fact known to the county clerk, who in turn will report to the office. The more prompt and liberal the response, the greater the hope for relief.

(Signed) SAMUEL R. McKELVIE, Governor of Nebraska.
